Stop Now or Never, Says Vandenberg.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—Four more years of the New Deal would qualify President Roosevelt for charter membership in the dictators' union, asserted Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, a leading candidate for the Republican nomination for President, in a radio speech tonight.

A. H. Vandenberg.

During those four years, said Vandenberg, the Supreme court would be packed with a Roosevelt majority that would control the highest judicial tribunal for the next 30 years, state socialism would increase its grip upon the national economy, state and local governments would pass into their twilight, and with all the gold and silver in the world the American people would starve as did Midas.

Speech Addressed to Nebraska.

On the eve of the Wisconsin primary tomorrow which will furnish the first test of strength between Vandenberg and District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York in the contest for the Republican presidential nomination, the Michigan senator addressed his speech tonight to several hundred Republican rallies in Nebraska where the same two candidates again will try conclusions on April 9. Senator Vandenberg was introduced by Kenneth Wherry, chairman of the Nebraska Republican state committee, who came here for that purpose.

To end unemployment and restore prosperity, according to Senator Vandenberg, it is necessary to banish the fear for the safety of savings and for the future of the American way of life that has been engendered by New Deal regimentation and experimentation. Unless such fear be dispelled, he asserted, little business will be doomed and only big business will survive.

America at Cross Roads.

"America," said Senator Vandenberg, "is at the cross roads. One way leads to more debts, more deficits, more taxes, more regimentation, more government in business, more state socialism, more centralized control over life and livelihood in the city and on the farm, more trouble, more hazards to free institutions and free men. The other way leads to more jobs, more business, more opportunities for commerce and agriculture, more home rule, more freedom, and more hope for our whole people.

"We Republicans choose the latter way—the American way. And others choose it with us. This is far more than a Republican partisan battle. Millions of independent thinkers—yes, and millions of consistent Jeffersonian Democrats—will join us if we assert the principles and pick the leadership which will justify this crusading challenge."

Pledged to One Term.

Then adverting to his proposal that the next President pledge himself to serve but one term, the senator said:

"I personally think we can best serve this obligation with a one term President who is free of all incentive or suspicion to do aught but dedicate himself to the one and single task of saving America."

Vandenberg said it would be silly to deny that the New Deal has done some good things. The country has become social minded and the party of Abraham Lincoln will not turn its back on social mindedness. The good things must be preserved and bettered, the senator argued, but four more years of the bad things with "their cumulative threat to our economic system and to our institutions and to the very character of America itself would be a "colossal fatality."

Says It's Now or Never.

"Furthermore," he continued, "unless we stop these trends this year we shall be mired in them for keeps. It is now or never. Particularly is this

BARRETT TELLS $150,000 GOUGE FROM WORKERS

Slush Scandal Raked by Insurgents.

BY LLOYD WENDT.

State Auditor Edward J. Barrett, who is seeking reëlection on the insurgent Democratic ticket, charged last night that Samuel L. Nudelman has made a new $150,000 slush fund levy on the salaries of state employés.

Edward J. Barrett.

He said the new levy and $200,000 in additional slush funds which Nudelman has banked in his own name will be used in a desperate effort to nominate the Democratic "harmony" candidates in the April 9 primary. Nudelman is state finance director and a member of Gov. Horner's bedside cabinet.

While Barrett was making this charge his running mate, Lieut. Gov. John Stelle, who is a candidate for governor, issued what was considered an ultimatum to the Springfield regular Democrats that a special session of the legislature will be called soon after the primary, regardless of the action the Springfield group may take.

May Issue Own Call.

On Saturday, after it was revealed that Stelle was planning to call the legislature, press representatives of Gov. Horner issued a statement saying that the governor was considering such a call.

Stelle, in a radio speech last night, said flatly that the session will be called. This was interpreted to mean that Stelle will issue his own call if the Springfield group does not act quickly, or that Stelle might issue his own call anyway and thereby force a court decision on whether Horner is unable to discharge the duties of governor, as the insurgent Democrats have charged.

"For more than six months even the bedroom regents in Springfield have conceded the need for a special session of the legislature," Stelle said in his radio speech. "Only Saturday a voice from the bedside said there 'may' be a special session. I say there 'will' be a special session."

Report Horner Parley.

Meanwhile it was reported in Springfield that Horner had conferred with Dewitt C. Billman, secretary of the legislative reference bureau, presumably about drafting a call for a special session.

Gov. Horner's press representatives said the call probably would be issued this week. They said old age pension legislation was the only subject certain to be included in the call.

The three insurgent candidates Stelle, Barrett, and Benjamin S. Adamowski, who is a candidate for Democratic nomination for United States senator, turned their fire on Nudelman as they discussed slush fund scandals in the state. They appeared in two radio broadcasts and at ward meetings at 4504 State street and in the Myrtle Masonic temple, 4240 Irving Park road.

Barrett Rakes Nudelman.

"Today is April Fool's day," Barrett said. "It is so with a vengeance for state employés. They thought it was pay day, but they had to hand over part of the money to Sammy Nudelman's collectors.

"Whether the workers in the low pay brackets have enough left for their own needs doesn't worry the collectors. They kick in or get kicked out."

"Nudelman is desperate," Stelle said. "The revolt of the people against his dictatorial methods and their revulsion against the slush fund scandal have only driven him to greater lengths. Nudelman thinks he can buy this election, and he has put a slush fund price on the Democratic party."

Adamowski attacked his primary opponent, Senator James M. Slattery, as a man who had held appointive political jobs most of his life.

"Let him talk about his record and explain the source of funds in his strong box," challenged Adamowski.

GOT ANOTHER DATE WITH UNCLE

Census Begins Today; Tobey Charges Fraud

2,500 Chicago Quizzers

Enumerators taking the 16th decennial population census for the federal government will begin a two weeks' job in Chicago at 9 a. m. today. The 2,500 enumerators in this area will be part of 120,000 canvassing the nation.

One hundred and eighty-four men and women were sworn in en masse as census takers yesterday in the Hawthorne Community house at 29th place and 52d avenue in Cicero.

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—With 120,000 canvassers ready to begin the 1940 census tomorrow, Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.] continued his fight today against the income question, accusing Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins of resorting to a "subtle trick" in his plan to permit answers to this question to be mailed in sealed envelopes.

In instructions to the census bureau, Hopkins ruled that if a citizen objected to answering the income query directly to an enumerator, he could write his answer on a blank card—for which no signature is necessary—seal the card in a franked envelope, and give it to the enumerator to be mailed to the census bureau in Washington. The envelope, Hopkins said, would be identified with the number of the enumeration district.

Calls Plan Hypocrisy.

Senator Tobey's attack on Hopkins was made in a broadcast tonight, in which he reiterated his previous stand that any person would be justified in refusing to answer any of the questions which he felt violated his constitutional right of privacy.

He criticized the plan for mailing in answers to the income query as not actually providing anonymity since, he said, key letters on the blank containing the answers to this query correspond to letters on the regular census report, which gives the questioned citizen's name.

"What hypocrisy!" Tobey said. "What deceit! What a fraud upon the American people, telling you in a press statement that you do not need to sign your name on the income blank and then, thru a subtle system of earmarking your identity, learning the amount of your income by deception."

Hopkins' plan for mailing in the income information was announced after Tobey had objected that persons questioned verbally might in some cases have to reveal private information to census enumerators who were neighbors.

Earlier in the day Tobey introduced in the senate a bill to repeal the possible 60 day jail penalty for persons refusing to answer census questions. He had objected that inquiries about wage and salary income were improper and that the answers might be misused for political purposes.

Zero Hour Already Passed.

The census began technically at 12:01 this morning. Altho the enumerators won't ring door bells until tomorrow, they will base their count exclusively on who was alive at the official zero hour. Thus, babies born today won't count, while adults who died today still will be listed.

The 120,000 canvassers were ready thruout the United States and its possessions to start the actual door to door work tomorrow morning. Every name they get will get them 4 cents in pay.

In Washington, where a new building had to be constructed to house the tabulating staff of several thousand, intricate counting machines were oiled for the task.

Los Angeles, April 1 (AP).—Why sing in the bathtub? Herman S. Smith believes it "helps the ego." Smith is director of music in Milwaukee public schools and past president of the music educators' national conference, meeting here. Says he: "The reverberations within the small enclosure [the bathroom] give the singer a small scale similarity to the voice volume of an opera star. This unrestrained expression of self increases the ego by achieving a perfect escapist outlet."

25 MEN TAKE 194 HRS. TO FIX 2 CHAIRS; FOR WHOM DO THEY WORK?

San Francisco, Cal., April 1 (AP).—Harold T. Lantheaume, WPA timekeeper, testified it took 194 hours of work by relief workers to repair two high chairs. Lantheaume was a witness at a hearing on relief administration conducted by a legislative subcommittee. He said:

"It took 13 cabinet makers' helpers, 5 cabinet makers, 2 carpenters and 5 painters to do the job. They put in 194 hours of work. At the prevailing wage rate that would cost about $190."

Dewey J. Lee, former accountant for the state relief administration, estimated the repair cost at $90 instead of $190, but said in his opinion it should have been approximately $10.

The 3d Term Gets Its First Big Test Today

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., April 1.—Wisconsin voters will go to the polls tomorrow to provide the first state-wide gauge of strength of the nation's leading presidential candidates. It is the first state to select delegates to the two national conventions by vote of the people, and the results of the election will be considered something of an indication of popular thinking in the middle west.

In the Republican primary there will be a clear cut test between Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan and Thomas E. Dewey, New York racket buster, both of whom have full slates of 24 candidates.

Effect of Individual Rivalries.

The Vandenberg-Dewey competition will be little affected, it is generally believed, by the rivalry of candidates for uninstructed delegates who are running as individuals in some of the 10 districts. The advocates of uninstructed delegates have no candidates for delegates at large and have had no organization for unified campaigning. If they should show unexpected strength it will not mean that Republican sentiment is adverse either to Vandenberg or to Dewey, but only that some of the Wisconsin voters feel their delegates should go to the convention unhampered by instructions, and free to respond at once to the voice of the convention.

Edward R. Bacon, vice chairman of the state central committee and head of the Dewey campaign in Wisconsin, was hopeful tonight that there would be a big vote. "If everybody in Wisconsin who likes Tom Dewey will vote, he is sure of a victory," Bacon said. "Our only danger is that they will let overconfidence keep them from the polls."

Foes Are Confident, Too.

Laurence U. Hall of Madison, chairman of the Vandenberg committee, also claimed confidence and predicted that Vandenberg would win 17 or 18 of the 24 delegates.

In the Democratic primary, the result will be a test of public sentiment on the third term issue. Roosevelt strength is divided into two rival camps and opposed by a slate of delegates pledged to Vice President John N. Garner. The combined total vote of both Roosevelt tickets will be measured against the vote for Garner as a gauge of the strength of the anti-third term tradition and the popularity of the President.

BONUS PAYMENTS FOR NEW BABIES BEGIN IN FRANCE

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Diagrams on page 2.)

PARIS, April 1.—France today moved to tighten her domestic front against wartime inroads by launching a three-point security program. The measures seek to increase the birthrate, double tre 500,000 women at work in war industries, and prepare for the issuance of fuel and food ration cards.

Most interesting is the new family code, originally designed as a peacetime measure; it is a veritable Magna Carta for the mothers and babies of France. It summarizes their rights and privileges and is the most far-reaching bit of social legislation adopted by the third republic.

Its aim to bolster the failing birth rate means more peasants for French farms, more workers for French factories and more soldiers for the French army, in the future.

Annual Births Drop 400,000.

The family code represents an earnest effort by France to combat the dangers of a declining population. Half a century ago there were 1,000,000 births every year. Since then the figure has fallen to 600,000.

The code contains many far-reaching reforms, the most significant being state aid to families. Beginning today every married couple will be entitled to a premium of 2,000 to 3,000 francs (from about $40 to $60) for their first born child. Monthly allowances to mothers or guardians also are provided, depending on their financial condition and the number of children.

The code also contains provisions for fighting alcoholism, narcotics, immorality, abortion, illegal operations, and other evils held responsible for the decline in births.

$180,000,000 to Be Spent.

Despite the fact that the code was drawn up as a peacetime measure, its reforms were considered so imperative that the government decided to put it into effect now, altho France is at war and the citizens are heavily taxed. Part of the estimated $180,000,000 required for the plan will be raised by increased taxes on bachelors and childless couples.

A nation-wide census was begun today as the first step toward issuance of fuel and food ration cards similar to those being used by England and Germany. Every person, except troops eating food provided by army messes, will be listed for a ration card.

In its drive to increase the number of women in arms industries, the labor ministry may make female labor compulsory in some industries if the goal of 1,000,000 women in munitions plants cannot be reached otherwise. Employers will be requested to hire first those women who have lost their jobs because of the war or whose husbands are in the army.

APRIL FOOL'S DAY PURSE OF $1,580 IS FORCED ON COPS

All day long Jefferson Park police had been getting telephone calls from April Fool's day pranksters, and so last night when a man called up excitedly and said he had found lots of money in his garage behind his home, they said, "O, yeah?"

Ten minutes later the man telephoned again, and begged the police to hurry over and get the money. The police were still skeptical.

Fifteen minutes later John Novak, a machinist living at 5751 North Menard avenue, dashed into the station. "Here's the money I was calling up about," he said. And he tossed over a dirty sweater, tied with rope, which he said he found in his garage.

Police opened the sweater. Inside they counted eleven $100 bills, two $50 bills, and thirty-eight $10 bills—all for a total of $1,580.

CLAIM A FIFTH OF GERMANS ARE LIVING ABROAD

BERLIN, April 1.—The Association of Germans Living Abroad today claimed that "every fifth German lives abroad" and urged the German citizens to see to it that every German abroad remembers his allegiance to Germany. The association said: "Our nation numbers 100,000,000 and of these 8,000,000 are in the United States, 3,000,000 live in Switzerland, and 1,700,0000 live in France."

IMPEACHMENT TALK HEARD ON FLOOR OF HOUSE

Members Insist Nazi Charges Be Sifted.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1.—Demands for a congressional investigation of war mongering statements attributed to American ambassadors by the German white book, published last Friday, were made in both the senate and the house today.

Senator Reynolds.

There were signs of a gathering storm as members, on and off the senate and house floors, compiled their own "white books" of official public statements by President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, and other administration officials in support of their contention that there is no reason to doubt the authenticity of the German documents.

Charge War Aid Pledges.

The German white book, based upon purported Polish records seized after the fall of Warsaw, quoted William C. Bullitt, ambassador to France, and Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain, as telling Polish diplomats in 1939 that the United States would participate with its financial and material resources on the side of the British and French empires in the event of war in Europe.

Senator Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.], a member of the foreign relations committee, demanded in a senate speech that the committee investigate the conversations and activities of Bullitt and Kennedy, and that Bullitt, who is in this country, be summoned for questioning before he catches an airplane for Europe.

Plans Formal Subpena.

Senator Reynolds plans to introduce a resolution tomorrow calling for Bullitt's appearance before the foreign relations committee, and on Wednesday, the committee's next meeting date, he will demand a vote on the resolution. He said he hoped that Bullitt, in the meantime, will not fly away.

In the house, Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], ranking minority member of the foreign affairs committee, introduced a resolution calling for the appointment of a special committee to inquire into the authenticity of the German white book.

"I cannot conceive that the German foreign office would fabricate or forge documents, as it certainly is in the interest of the German government to maintain peaceful relations with us," Fish said.

Talks of Impeachment.

Fish pointed out that congress has no power to recall ambassadors, but added: "If the facts warrant impeachment of any American ambassador or minister, or even the President, for making secret commitments that might jeopardize our neutrality and involve us in war, then it is the duty of the house of representatives to initiate impeachment proceedings."

Senator Reynolds, as a member of the military affairs committee, was present at the famous White House conference during the investigation of the French airplane scandal in January, 1939, when President Roosevelt was quoted as telling the senators that the United States would give all possible assistance "short of war" to England and France in the event of a conflict between the allied empires and Germany.

The President told the senators at that conference that "our first line of defense is in France."

Deplores Public Reaction.

"The most deplorable fact about this matter," said Senator Reynolds in his speech today, "is that even if the documents published in the German white paper are branded as forgeries, or possibly proved to be forgeries, any man can say—and many already are saying—that these interviews or alleged interviews sound mighty like a lot of things we have heard over the radio from many people in high office from time to time. That cannot be denied."

Reynolds then quoted from President Roosevelt's Chicago bridge speech of Oct. 5, 1937—in which he proposed concerted international action to "quarantine" aggressor nations—the following:

"The peace loving nations must make a concerted effort in opposition to those violations of treaties and those ignorings of humane instincts which today are creating a state of international anarchy and instability from which there is no escape thru mere isolation or neutrality."

Threat of War Involvement.

"That statement," said Senator Reynolds, "was a clear and precise expression of opinion that the United States cannot escape involvement in a European controversy thru isolation or neutrality."

Reynolds quoted the President's statement, in the same speech, that the nations wanting to live in peace "can and must find some way to make their will prevail."

Noting that Secretary Hull has repudiated any association with the policies attributed to Bullitt and Kennedy by the German white book, Senator Reynolds said that Hull could not "escape the logical conclusions which must be drawn from a paragraph in his letter of Sept. 2, 1938, to the foreign minister of Peru."

Reynolds quoted Hull's statement, in that letter, that no nation can "avoid participation, willing or not, in the responsibility of determining" whether international relations shall be characterized by anarchy or justice and order under law.

Demands Welles Be Quizzed.

While the foreign relations committee is inquiring into the utterances attributed to Bullitt and Kennedy, Reynolds told the senate it would be well to call Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, who returned last week from a survey of the European war situation at President Roosevelt's request.

"The American people are extremely desirous of ascertaining from Mr. Welles personally where he went, with whom he talked, what he said, and what was said to him," Reynolds declared. "If we must have a House in Europe, I insist that we have a glass house in order that all may see and all may know what is going on. We want no secret diplomacy now."

[Reynolds was alluding to the activities of Col. E. M. House, President Wilson's roving ambassador, in the days before America's entry into the world war.]

Demands Statement of Policy.

Reynolds introduced a resolution calling upon congress to declare that the United States "disclaims any desire or intention to interfere in the international controversies or domestic concerns of any European, Asiatic, or African power, and will recognize the de facto government in control of any area therein located as the legitimate government of that area."

As a precedent for this declaration of policy, Reynolds quoted from the message of President James Monroe on Dec. 2, 1823: "Our policy in regard to Europe . . . remains the same, which is, not to interfere in the internal concerns of any of its powers; to consider the government de facto as the legitimate government for us; to cultivate friendly relations with it, and to preserve those relations by a frank, firm, and manly policy; meeting, in all instances, the just claims of every power and submitting to injuries from none."

Holt Supplements Record.

Senator Reynolds' quotations from President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull were supplemented later by Senator Rush D. Holt [D., W. Va.], who is compiling his own white book for presentation to the senate in a day or so.

Senator Holt recalled that President Roosevelt, on April 11, 1939, adopted as his own statement and incorporated as a part of his official press conference record an editorial in the Washington Post which spoke of "the virtual certainty of American involvement" in the event of another European war. The editorial called for a "preponderant show of force" by "democratic nations" to halt the dictators and prevent war.

Senator Holt also referred to the New York Times report of a speech by Ambassador Bullitt at Bordeaux, France, on Sept. 3, 1938, which quoted him as saying that France and the United States were "indefectively united in war as in peace."

FIGHTING SHIPS PUT TO SEA FOR 1940 MANEUVERS

San Pedro, Cal., April 1 (AP). — The United States has a seven week practice war on its hands today. The grand maneuvers of 1940 got under way at midnight in the Pacific. At dawn some of the 100 fighting ships that will take part in the first phase already were at sea. All will be on their way by tomorrow.

Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison was aboard the dreadnaught Pennsylvania, a flagship of the fleet, tonight. He will observe the nation's fighting ships in action under the most realistic war conditions the fleet has faced in peacetime. Whether the battleships go out under cover of darkness tonight or await the dawn was a naval secret.

The three naval bases involved in the departure of fighting units are San Pedro, San Diego and Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

BOMBING OF TVA LINE CLOSES TENNESSEE MINE; 1,300 MADE IDLE

Knoxville, Tenn., April 1 [Special]. —Three TVA transmission lines carrying electric power to mines of the Tennessee Copper company, near Copperhill, in Polk county, were dynamited some time before daybreak today, causing the mines to shut down until emergency lines could be erected. Thirteen hundred miners were made idle for half a day.

A C. I. O. strike against the company has been in progress since July, 1939, after the company refused to grant the C. I. O. a closed shop and the union dues check-off system.

Labor trouble in the mines developed late in 1938 after the C. I. O. Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers union demanded exclusive bargaining rights for all employés of the company. A National Labor Relations board election showed that an A. F. of L. mine union had a majority. Then the labor board ordered a second election, which was won by the C. I. O.

The NLRB notified the company today that it had refused for the second time to enter a complaint on C. I. O. charges of unfair labor practices. Altho an open shop mine, the company has been operating on a union basis since 1919, granting vacations with pay, providing insurance and other benefits.

U-BOAT BELIEVED SUNK IN BATTLE WITH A TANKER

HALIFAX, N. S., April 1 (AP).—Crewmen of the British tanker El Ciervo today expressed the belief that their ship had sunk a German submarine in a running fight off Trinidad. After the tanker had fired 16 shots the U-boat disappeared, they said, and there were no further reports of a raiding submarine in that area. On March 4 Mackay radio in New York picked up an S O S from the 5,841 ton El Ciervo saying she was being "chased by a submarine" about 900 miles east of the Virgin Islands.

FEAR 2 PLUNGE FROM 1,500 FOOT MOUNTAIN PEAK

Mount Hood, Ore., April 1 (AP).—Hope for two mountain climbers who yesterday dared 11,000 foot Mount Hood in a storm all but vanished tonight when searchers traced footprints to the edge of a sheer 1,500 foot precipice at the summit.

The tracks were identified as those of Gerald Herrmann, 28 years old, Oregon City, and James Lorentz, 19, Milwaukee, Ore. The searching patrol, under Forest Ranger Harold Engels, reached the summit at 6 p. m. and found the two men had scaled the top and scrawled these words in a register book in the summit cabin:

"March 31 too cold to write."

Engels radioed he had little doubt the two, blinded by the snowstorm, had stumbled over the cliff or been swept over by the wind. Herrmann and Lorentz were to have reported at a ranger station on their return. When they failed to do so the search was started.

Order Fire Fighting Only for Those Who Pay for It

The Des Plaines city council instructed the fire department last night to cease going outside the city limits to fight fires for householders who have declined to pay for fire protection. Kenneth Meyer, city attorney, explained that the order had been authorized two months ago. Residents of the unincorporated neighborhoods were then given opportunity to post a deposit and guarantee payment for protection.

Mail Taken from Clipper by British Arrives in N. Y.

New York, April 1 (AP).—The American Clipper arrived here late today from Bermuda with 1,544 pounds of mail which had been seized last week by British censors from the Atlantic Clipper. The Atlantic Clipper had halted in Bermuda only because of shortening fuel supplies.

SPENDERS SWEEP AWAY SAVINGS OF ECONOMY BLOC

Senate Group Restores 44 Million Budget Cut.

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—April Fool's day produced increasing indications that congress was only fooling earlier this year when it showed signs of hitting the economy trail to avoid additional taxes or an increase in the public debt limit.

Almost the last vestige of reductions in President Roosevelt's budget estimates, voted previously by the house or senate was offset when a senate appropriations subcommittee added $44,150,000 to a house approved appropriation for civil functions of the war department. Of this increase $30,000,000 was for general flood control work and $14,150,000 to start construction of a third set of giant locks at the Panama canal.

At one time the reductions which had been voted by either the house or the senate totaled about $300,000,000. Then came a senate increase over budget recommendations of $200,000,000 for the farmer, and by last week-end the net reduction in the 13 supply bills already acted on by one or both houses stood at $57,774,349.

Demand More Relief Cash.

Possibly heralding even further setbacks for the economy forces, appeals for increased relief funds were heard on the house side of the capitol today.

Representative John J. Cochran [D., Mo.], saying that the WPA had cut its rolls to 2,100,000 for April by lopping off 200,000 persons employed in March, proposed a supplemental relief appropriation of $38,000,000 for the current fiscal year.

Cochran said Col. F. C. Harrington, WPA commissioner, had advised him that this amoun would be needed, in addition to the $1,477,000,000 already voted the work relief administration for the current year, if the rolls were to be kept at the present level until the year-end—June 30.

Local Communities Balk.

"The cities and states say they will be unable to carry any additional load," Cochran declared.

[To stay within appropriations, WPA has been cutting its rolls. The aim has been to bring the rolls down to about 1,500,000 by June 30—a cut of about 700,000 as compared with the total of project workers on March 20. Harrington has set the April quota of jobs at 2,130,000. He said today that he has made no final decisions on exact figures for May and June.]

From Representative Jerry Voorhis [D., Cal.] came a proposal that a supplemental relief appropriation of $68,800,000 be provided. This, he said, would keep 2,300,000 on the rolls from now until June 30.

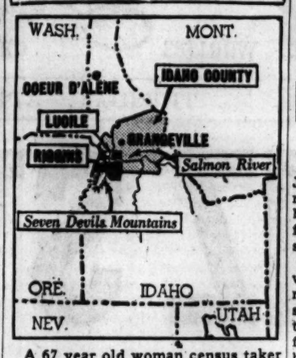
Up jumped Rep. Robert F. Rich [R., Pa.] to shout that, if congress would show as much concern about getting people jobs "as we do to get them on the dole," the country would be better off.

Tentative Figure of One Billion.

Harrington is scheduled to testify before a house appropriations subcommittee tomorrow regarding the relief funds to be provided for the next fiscal year. In his budget, President Roosevelt mentioned a tentative figure for this purpose of $1,000,000,000—a reduction of $477,000,000 below the current appropriation.

Already there have been demands in and out of congress that this figure be raised, but Senator Kenneth McKellar [D., Tenn.], an administration supporter and a prominent member of the senate appropriations committee, expressed the opinion today that the appropriation could be held to $1,000,000,000 for the full fiscal year. Good business, war orders, and payments under social security programs will make this possible, he predicted.

Woman's Field



A 67 year old woman census taker will cover 1,000 square miles in the southwest corner (in black) of Idaho county, Idaho, for the federal census. She will make the long and hazardous journey on horseback.

Grangeville, Idaho, April 1 (AP)—Tomorrow, for the third time in 20 years, Mrs. Elva Canfield, 67 years old, a retired school teacher, will venture into Idaho's wilderness on one of Uncle Sam's toughest census taking jobs.

Her 1,000 square mile territory is that which is shown as nearly blank in the southwest corner of the map of Idaho county. It runs south from Ruggins and Lucile into the Seven Devils mountains and east along the treacherous Salmon river, dubbed the River of No Return, because many have gone down its turbulent waters not to come back.

With roads practically unknown, she will travel the mountain trails on horseback, her personal belongings and census books in saddle bags. The rugged country encompasses just two voting precincts.

Mrs. Canfield, who, booted and spurred, stands only 5 feet 4 inches, first took the wilderness census in 1920. She took it again in 1935, when after a month of futile search Census Supervisor Jesse Vetter could find no man for the job. She was not heard from for six weeks that time. When the census office opened this year in Coeur D'Alene her application was waiting.

CROMWELL SEES NOTHING TO BAR RACE FOR SENATE

TORONTO, Ont., April 1 (AP).—James H. R. Cromwell, United States minister to Canada, said tonight that he thought "it would be possible" for him to run for the United States senate and retain his present post.

Questioned regarding reports he would seek the Democratic senatorial nomination in New Jersey, Cromwell said, "I haven't given much thought to it, but I think it would be possible for me to run for the senate without having to resign as minister to Canada.

Hopes to Keep Post.

"I see nothing in the law to prevent it. If I should find myself in that position, I certainly hope I will be able to retain my present post."

[Unofficial sources in Washington said Cromwell would be prohibited by the Hatch act of 1939 from running for senator without resigning as minister to Canada. They said the law forbids all federal employés and officials below the rank of assistant cabinet officers—that is, all nonpolicy makers—to take an active part in politics.]

"You cannot be too emphatic when you say I have every hope of carrying on in the Ottawa post," he declared. "I find myself fully at home among Canadians. I would not like to think that I would have to give up that position now, because the last three months have done so much to prepare me for the task."

In a speech two weeks ago Cromwell expressed sympathy for the Franco-British cause in the European war. The speech brought a reminder from Secretary of State Cordell Hull that it was undiplomatic, and warning him to be more careful.

Warns Against Propaganda.

Cromwell discussed the possibility of his running for the senate tonight after addressing the Old Boys' club of the University of Toronto. He warned his audience of the dangers of propaganda against democracy and urged education in democratic ideals to circumvent "those who would divest men of every human freedom, diverting their fears and suspicions with words of false security."

Education for democracy, he said, is "perhaps as necessary as any utilitarian or cultural course which our schools now offer."

BRITAIN'S POOR FACE NEW TAXES TO PAY FOR WAR

Expenses Takes 45 Pct. of Nation's Income.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 1.—While the nation is awaiting results expected from the new blockade policy, demands are accumulating that Britain take every possible step to guard against becoming a victim herself of the economic stranglehold with which she hopes to choke Germany.

It is estimated Britain is spending on the war 45 per cent of the total national income, and France 50 per cent. It is indicated Britain will need about $8,538,000,000 yearly to cover the costs of the war and the ordinary civil budget, and that France will require $4,269,000,000. For America, with a $60,000,000,000 national income, this would mean $27,000,000,000 on the British basis and $30,000,000,000 if compared with the French national income.

Small Incomes to Be Hit.

It was announced officially tonight that further taxation is contemplated on incomes between 5 pounds and 12 pounds weekly, believed to be the likeliest source of new revenue.

[The British pound sterling was quoted on the New York foreign exchange yesterday at $3.5575.]

Even persons receiving as little as 5 pounds are paying approximately 5 per cent in income taxes alone.

For those who receive 12 pounds weekly, one-sixth is taken in income taxes, while those earning the equivalent of $4,000 a year pay nearly 25 per cent.

The full story of the burden of taxation is not clear without knowing the purchasing power of money. In France, the franc goes a long way. In England, prices are even higher than in New York.

Revenue Is Biggest Problem.

The question of how to pay for the war is given possibly more concern than military strategy itself. John M. Keynes, British economist, has pointed out that even if all incomes in the higher brackets were confiscated the revenue would be inadequate. Keynes has proposed that part of every person's income over 150 pounds annually be contributed on a graduating scale, one portion to be applied as income tax payment and the other as a loan to the state to be paid back after the war with interest at 2½ per cent.

Laborites oppose the Keynes plan and demand an immediate capital levy which Keynes proposes as a postwar measure. They also demand higher wages, higher benefits for dependents, and pensions and other safeguards for the poor.

Swing to Keynes Plan.

Influential circles tonight reported that the government is considering adopting the Keynes plan in full. This would mean compulsory savings from all pay rolls, to be repaid ultimately by the capital levy.

Continually upsetting government plans to keep wages fixed to prevent inflation are recurring demands of miners, shopworkers, and even civil servants for higher pay.

AIR FIGHTS RAGE FOR SECOND DAY ON WEST FRONT

PARIS, April 1 (AP).—Heavy cannonading reverberated today in the wooded valleys of the Saar river sector on the western front. Sharp fighting took place in the air for the second consecutive day.

The British-French high command tonight said results of the air battles were not known. It was admitted two single seater planes were shot down yesterday by the Germans. One flyer landed by parachute.

British Fly over Germany.

LONDON, April 1 (AP).—The air ministry today reported that British warplanes flew over Germany last night. All returned safely, it added.

The 170-ton British steam trawler Walsingham was sunk today in a collision while helping a steamer that had run aground off the east coast. The crew was rescued.

Confirms Seven Air Victims.

BERLIN, April 1 (AP).—Germany's high command today confirmed a report issued by DNB, news agency, that German flyers downed seven French planes yesterday on the western front.

GREAT BRITAIN TO SEND NORWAY 'LAST WARNING'

Seeks to End Flow of Ore to Germany.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 1.—Britain and France are preparing to send a last warning to neutrals alleged to be serving as gaps in the economic blockade against Germany, it was reported in government circles tonight. The penalty for ignoring the warning will be airtight rationing of all exports and imports passed thru the British-French patrols for these countries.

Among the nations to be warned, first on the list is expected to be Norway. She has claimed a six mile limit on territorial waters, instead of the usual three miles, because of shallows near the shore. Thru this six mile zone Swedish iron ore is reaching Germany from the Norwegian port of Narvik.

Transit Ban Hits Snag.

A suggestion that Norway refuse transit to the ore presents difficulties, Norway having pointed out that England is obtaining several times as much as Germany.

The British-French note of warning is expected to stress that the empires are impatient with some neutrals' interpretation of neutral rights where they work only for the benefit of Germany. The purpose of the note, before the blockade is extended to the coasts of these countries, is to seek coöperation of all the neutrals toward achieving the blockade's aims.

Premier to Outline Aims.

Parliament will convene tomorrow and Premier Neville Chamberlain is expected to outline the measures the empires intend to adopt.

Britain's ambassador to Turkey and its ministers to Balkan countries are expected here this week to confer with Lord Halifax, foreign secretary.

Dr. Ivo Belin of Jugo-Slavia and Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, Britain's chief economic adviser, today opened Jugo-Slavian-British trade negotiations.

JAPS BOMB U. S. MISSION HOSPITAL IN SOUTH CHINA

PEKING, China, April 1 (AP).—Belated reports from Kwangtung province in South China today said that the gatehouse of the American United Brethren Missions hospital at Siulam, near Chungshan, had been destroyed by a Japanese bomb on March 7. A nearby house also was destroyed, but there were no casualties.

Arrows indicate cities mentioned in China war developments.

Japs Continue Drive.

HONGKONG, April 1 (AP).—Japanese today reported rapid progress in an offensive in southern Kwangsi province toward the French Indo-China border, apparently aimed at closing Chinese overland supply routes. They said they had captured Szelo, 37 miles from the frontier.

Japanese gendarmes, with the acquiescence or coöperation of police in the Portuguese colony of Macao, today were reported to have searched schools and colleges there for "anti-Japanese elements."

The Japanese also were said to have asked for the surrender of a Chinese official, believed to be among the thousands who fled to Macao during the recent Japanese occupation of the Chungshan district.

CHINA ASKS U. S. TO HELP RESTORE FAR EAST PEACE

CHUNGKING, China, April 1 (AP).—Coöperation of the United States, Britain, and Russia to help restore peace in the far east was urged by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek today in an address before the final meeting of the people's political council here.

The Chinese leader declared that Japan's growing weakness was manifested in the formation of the Wang Ching-wei régime at Nanking, which he asserted is being used to fool the Japanese people and outside world.

Italy, Spain May O. K. Régime.

TOKIO, April 2, Tuesday (AP).—The Japanese foreign office said in a statement today that there was "reason to expect" that Italy and Spain would be the first two nations formally to recognize the Nanking régime of Wang Ching-wei, Japanese-supported government in Central China. Earlier, Yakichiro Suma, foreign office spokesman, said that America's refusal to recognize the new Wang régime would damage efforts to improve relations between the two countries.

Arizona High Court Kills Mortgage Moratorium Act

Phoenix, Ariz., April 1 (AP).—Arizona's depression-inspired mortgage moratorium law was declared unconstitutional today by the state Supreme court because the legislature failed to justify the statute on the basis of social or financial emergency.

An Achievement

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Americanism was rated as an achievement yesterday by 600 boys and girls of the Cook county schools. It was the theme of the annual convention held by the Cook County Achievement Officers' group in the Morrison hotel. Nobel J. Puffer, superintendent of the Cook county schools, presided.

Fifty pupils of the Mapleside school, a little, two room rural school near Bryn Mawr avenue and La Grange road, highlighted the program with a two hour pageant on "Racial Contributions to American Democracy." Tableaux depicting the days of the Indians and the influx of the Spaniards, English, and French were staged.

Other features of the convention were a presentation of a typical Achievement club meeting by the Oak Lawn school, District No. 122; a travelogue on "Finland," by Miss Imogene Warder, lecturer, and a reading of a prize essay on "Rediscovering America," by Harriet L. Grieger, a pupil of the Proviso Township High school.

Social Credit Party Wins Its 35th Seat in Alberta

EDMONTON, Alberta, April 1 (AP).—Social credit representation in the Alberta legislature was raised to 35 out of 57 today with the election of C. E. Gerhart in Acadia-Coronation on the second count. Gerhart defeated G. N. Johnston, former United Farmers of Alberta speaker in the legislature, 2,292 to 1,964.

FRANCE BELIEVED SEEKING WAY TO WIDEN BLOCKADE

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 1.—Premier Paul Reynaud conferred with his cabinet at Elysée palace today apparently to discuss intensification of the blockade of Germany.

He also continued his consultations with France's European diplomats, indicating that both Paris and London are more concerned with tightening the blockade, particularly in keeping Germany from getting iron thru Norwegian waters and oil from across Siberia and the Black sea, than they are about intensifying the war in a military sense.

Confers with Three Envoys.

Reynaud had talks this afternoon with Andre Francois-Poncet, Charles Corbin, and Paul Bargeton, ambassadors to Italy, Britain, and Belgium, respectively, and announced he would confer later with his envoys to Turkey, Rumania, Jugo-Slavia, and the Netherlands. It generally is supposed these consultations will deal with the plan to intensify trade with those countries and restrict their exports to Germany.

At today's cabinet meeting Reynaud discussed the situation as it affects foreign affairs generally and explained the decisions taken at the supreme war council meeting last Friday in London when France and Britain pledged they would make no separate peace and to continue their economic coöperation after the war.

Hint Balkan, Northern Action.

Informed sources believe the council may have determined on a stronger hand with the Scandinavian and Balkan nations to plug gaps in the blockade. However, official French spokesmen, questioned as to whether Turkey had agreed to let French and British warships enter the Black sea thru the Dardanelles to halt the flow of Russian oil to Germany, merely said, "There is nothing new in existing arrangements."

The French press tonight demanded a stricter blockade of Germany and strong measures to bring the neutrals around.

A communique issued after the cabinet meeting also indicated drastic measures against communists in France may be expected shortly.

Because of unfavorable weather conditions Reynaud tonight again postponed a broadcast to the United States.

Halt It Now or Never, Says Vandenberg.

true if a third term President seeks to perpetuate himself in White House power, contrary to every tradition America holds dear. If a third term, why not a fourth or a fifth? Why bother with any further elections?

"I repeat that four more years of the New Deal—to say nothing of what might happen after—is more than America can take. It has settled none of our fundamental problems. On the contrary, it often has created more problems than it has solved. We still probably have as many unemployed as when the New Deal started.

"Obviously it does not know how to put American business in gear. Successful, progressive, ambitious private enterprise is our sole means of producing real jobs at real wages. But the New Deal has been at war with private enterprise and often in direct competition with it. Business does not trust the New Deal and it never will.

What Business Needs.

"Business needs a few specific antidotes. For example, it needs constructive changes in the national labor relations act so that needless interruptions to the continuity of profitable production can be minimized—and this, by the way, is also vital to labor itself because continuity of profitable production must precede continuity of profitable employment.

"It needs constructive changes in the security and exchange commission law so that new capital may flow into venture investments instead of being sterile and stagnant in the banks. It needs release from the floating presidential powers which permit the executive to change the value of our money overnight; there can be no stability of commerce when its medium of exchange is thus at the mercy of one man's whim.

"It needs release from all the standardizing efforts to pour our whole business life into one pattern dictated from Washington and policed by countless burocrats who plague the marketplace and the countryside scarcely less than the grasshoppers.

End of Fear Most Important.

"But most of all it needs release from fear. Given this release, and we shall be on our way to real prosperity and real employment within six months. Otherwise we shall persist in a disintegration which little business cannot hope to face and which only big, rich, powerful business—tho crippled—can survive.

"Where is tomorrow's hope if this keeps on? But that's precisely what you get when you try to substitute the public treasury for private enterprise as the support of the nation. That's what you get when you try to prime a cistern. Of course, some of the spending must continue, because we shall not turn our backs upon legitimate relief needs, for example, until private enterprise takes up the slack.

"If four more years of the New Deal should run true to form—and why not, because it never admits its own mistakes—the President would have accumulated executive powers to an extent that would qualify him for charter membership in the dictator's union. The Supreme court would be packed—and I mean packed—for 30 years to come. New bureaus and departments would add new leeches to the public pay roll.

"State socialism would have found new conquests to put our lives and livelihoods in goose step. The vice of faction—too often deliberately cultivated since 1932—would drive class warfare to its very zero hour. State and local self-government would have suffered all but the final knockout punch. And with all the gold and silver in the world—purchased at swollen prices for no better purpose than to bury it back in the ground again—we should starve, like Midas, in the midst of our futile hoards."

From lack of time the senator was compelled to summarize in a paragraph his complete disagreement with President Roosevelt on foreign policy.

"I am personally opposed," he said, "to all foreign entanglements—whether it be a league of nations such as Mr. Roosevelt unreservedly embraced in 1920 or whether it be a system of quarantines under which we might help police the world, as the President intimated in his famous Chicago speech three years ago. We want to keep out of other peoples' troubles and other peoples' wars."

People Demand Answers.

In response to Chairman Wherry's request Senator Vandenberg dealt specifically with agriculture and the reciprocal tariff treaties.

"The people," he said, "are entitled this year to ask plain questions and to have plain answers. The New Deal fooled them outrageously in 1932—as for example when Candidate Roosevelt promised to reduce federal expenditures 25 per cent and then, when President, Roosevelt proceeded instead to increase them 300 per cent—or when Candidate Roosevelt said he didn't know of a single agricultural tariff rate that was too high, and then, when the President proceeded instead to reduce 200 of them.

"The New Deal has been fooling the people ever since. Republicanism in 1940 must set a different pattern. It must say what it means and mean what it says. So must all its leaders.

Opposed to Trade Treaties.

"I am opposed to the reciprocal trade treaty law. In the first place, it is an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power to the executive—the most sinister of all the delegations of power which have put us virtually under government by executive decree.

"In the second place, this delegation of power puts every protected industry, every protected job, and every protected agricultural product at the unchecked mercy of the President and his secretary of state and the little group of state department burocrats who can make these life and death decisions in despotic secrecy.

"In the third place, this power is being used to drive us—without congressional sanction—to a general basis of low tariffs which always have wrecked us and always will.

"It is a useful thing to encourage exports, but it must be done without destroying our internal economy. It is a useful thing to adjust improper tariffs without the need to open up the whole revenue law for a general, log-rolling revision. But it must always be done—as under the 'elastic tariff'—with American cost of production as the protective deadline.

Western Producers Know.

"How well your western cattle industry and your western wool industry know this to be true! How well your Nebraska sugar beet industry knows this to be true! Ah, there's an example of upside down statesmanship for you! We raise less than a third of the sugar we consume. It is a great cash crop. It could be infinitely greater. But no: we are not allowed to grow and process more sugar. Instead, the sugar tariff is reduced far below the difference in cost of production at home and abroad.

"Thus we look out for Cuba [with its Wall street owned cane sugar investments] instead of Nebraska and Colorado and Idaho and Utah, and the other great beet farming sections of America. I have always fought this sort of thing and I always shall."

The farm problem, Mr. Vandenberg opined, will never be settled until the American farmer achieves his "rightful monopoly" of the American market. He must achieve parity of purchasing power with industry, not by subsidies to certain crops from the government but by an economic system that produces parity for all farm products.

Farmer Wants Fair Price.

"He wants his cost of production and a fair profit," said the senator. "In my view he will never get it until he is protected in an American price for that portion of a crop which is domestically consumed while the export surplus is taken off the domestic market and diverted to the world market at the best price that can be procured thru negotiation or otherwise. In other words, he must have the benefit of the two price system—precisely as industry has it—and he will get it when the McNary-Haugen principle is brought down to date. But he will never get it so long as democratic administrations rob him of his domestic market—whether thru tariffs that undermine his American cost of production or thru trade treaties which ignore his fundamental necessity."

NANCY KELLY.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 1 (AP).—Nancy Kelly, 19, a film actress, and Irving Cummings Jr., son of a movie director, turned a near-elopement into an April's Fool's day joke today on some of their friends.

All of a sudden while in a Hollywood night club Cummings and Miss Kelly decided to run away to Las Vegas, Nev., and get married, and before long half the film colony was buzzing.

By the time the couple reached Barstow, however, they decided that perhaps an elopement wasn't such a good idea after all, so they turned around and drove back home to obtain parental consent.

Mrs. Kelly was kept so busy denying reports that her daughter was married that she finally decided to announce the actress' engagement.

BATTLE TO CONTROL KANSAS CITY SHIFTS TO THE POLLS TODAY

Kansas City, Mo., April 1 (AP).—The battle for control of Kansas City's government, long dominated by Boss Tom Pendergast before his imprisonment, shifts to the polls tomorrow.

Leaders of both the cleanup movement, which demands an end to machine rule, and the Democratic organization, on which Pendergast rode to power, predicted victory. A heavy turnout of the 200,000 voters is expected. Girls carrying brooms paraded downtown streets to boost the cleanup campaign. Floats depicting machine exposures also toured the city.

Regardless of the outcome, every elective city position will change hands. Organized Democrats denounced the rule of Pendergast and ignored all office holders in their slate of candidates.

Finish Razing Old Century of Progress Headquarters

Razing of the Century of Progress administration building at 14th street and the Outer drive was completed yesterday. After the closing of the 1933-'34 exposition, the structure was used as the park district administration building until the park offices were moved to the new building at the north end of Soldiers' field last Oct. 18.

NEBRASKA VOTE APRIL 9 WATCHED FOR FALL TREND

New Deal Issue Enters Both Senate Races.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Omaha, Neb., April 1.—Nebraska's primary election on April 9 is a close race on three fronts.

First in popular interest comes the fight for Democratic nomination for United States senator between Senator Edward R. Burke and Gov. R. L. Cochran and his powerful state machine.

In this struggle, in which Senator Burke seems to be gaining ground daily, there is a question of whether a Democratic senator in these days has the right to be captain of his own soul, to vote independently on occasion against New Deal dictation. Much of the campaign against Senator Burke is based on criticism of this sort, and so Nebraska Democrats are to decide whether they favor courageous and independent judgment in a senator, or New Deal subserviency.

Cochran Raises Issue.

While Gov. Cochran has never been tested in this regard and has in fact been regarded as critical of many New Deal measures, his campaign, nevertheless is an implication that Senator Burke has been anti-Roosevelt, and that, therefore, Cochran would be for Roosevelt on all major issues. The campaign thus becomes a sort of test of the extent of New Deal sentiment in the state.

The second race of wide interest is that for the Republican nomination for the United States senate, between Arthur J. Weaver, former governor, and Hugh A. Butler, former national committeeman.

The Vandenberg-Dewey contest for the Republican presidential preference adds the third touch to the broad political picture. What happens on these three fronts will give strong indication of how Nebraska will vote in November.

Trend Favors Republicans.

Nebraska has been fairly well balanced in the past between Democrats and Republicans, but a definite Republican trend has been noted during the last two years. It has continued since the 1938 elections, according to political observers, even the Democrats admitting this trend.

In this situation the figure of the senior senator, George W. Norris, former Republican, now listed as an independent, shadows both party results. He came out a few days ago for Weaver, stating that Weaver's ideas on national issues met with his approval.

The Norris blessing upon Weaver, the Republican, has been taken by the Burke campaign managers as a blow to Cochran. The Cochran campaigners, however, continue to blast Burke because he did not vote at all times with Roosevelt and Norris.

Burke Meets Challenge.

Senator Burke, in a radio address yesterday, discussed this situation as follows:

"My opponent and the chiefs of his fault-finding crew make the charge that I have not supported the President, that my colleague, Senator Norris, has, and that, therefore, unless in every instance I vote exactly as does my colleague, they have proved that I am anti-Roosevelt.

"In the first place, let me say that I gladly accord Senator Norris position of first rank among our national leaders in the accomplishment of the objectives which he seeks. I quite often disagree with him and reject his philosophy as unsound. Nothing is gained by supinely yielding one's convictions and principles because some one else has a different philosophy.

"Senator Norris yesterday announced his active support of a candidate for the senatorial nomination. Certainly every one recognized that his views and mine conflict so frequently that he could not be expected to espouse my cause. But what a death blow it must have been to my opponent to be completely ignored. Nobody knows what my opponent's political philosophy may be."

Farm Vote Important.

Nebraska is a farming state and the agricultural vote is the important vote. While the federal government has not taken any part in the campaign against Burke, the AAA groups have been critical of his farm votes. About sixteen central counties of this state have had crop failures since 1933 and the farmers have subsisted largely on government payments. This effects the political situation today. Burke explained his farm votes as follows:

"I have before me a list of 42 of the most important laws directly affecting agriculture that have been passed during the seven years I have been in Washington. Thirty-seven of these major farm laws had my active support.

"Of the remaining five, I objected to one that was unconstitutional. And the Supreme court sustained my position. Another of the five the President vetoed and I sustained the President. A third was an appropriation to which the President objected unless congress would impose an additional tax to raise the millions which it was proposed to spend. I thought this position sound and voted accordingly.

Protested Permanent Setup.

"The other two had real merit as emergency measures. I was willing to support them as such, but not as a permanent program. It was a foregone conclusion that both would pass by large majorities. My vote in opposition preserved my right to object to their permanency and to work with better effect in seeking a real solution.

"Many of the best friends the farmer has have come to share my view, that there is no real solution of the farm problem, the relief question or the problem of unemployment except a spreading of purchasing power by a great forward movement in business and industry from one end of the country to the other."

GREEN SPEAKS TO 100 AT TEA IN DRAKE HOTEL

A hundred or so residents of the 42d ward gathered at the Drake hotel yesterday for a cup of tea and a glance at Dwight H. Green, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

The tea was given by Frank G. Loesch, honorary president of the 42d ward Republican club, and Mrs. Loesch. Several other Republican candidates were present.

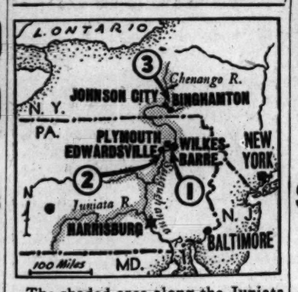
Roosevelt's Illness Called Intestinal Flu; Trip Put Off

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—The White House revealed today that the illness which has bothered President Roosevelt for three weeks is intestinal influenza and said he would defer a trip to Warm Springs, Ga., at least until April 18. Aids previously had said Mr. Roosevelt had a cold. Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said Mr. Roosevelt's temperature has been normal for several days, but the flu still is slightly in evidence. He said the President would go to his home at Hyde Park, N. Y., next week-end.

Floods in East



The shaded area along the Juniata and Susquehanna rivers marks extent of flood in New York and Pennsylvania. At Wilkes-Barre (1) 5,000 were made homeless by rising water. Gasoline exploded at Edwardsville (2), adding fire to hazard, and a state of emergency was declared at Binghamton (3), where flood threatened city.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Spring floods drove many families from their homes in eastern Pennsylvania and southeastern New York yesterday. At least 10 persons—6 in Pennsylvania and 4 in New York—were dead.

An estimated 12,000 persons fled before the advance of the rapidly rising Susquehanna and Juniata rivers in eastern Pennsylvania.

It was expected that the Susquehanna at Wilkes-Barre, where 5,000 were homeless, today would pass the 33.3 foot crest of the disastrous St. Patrick's day flood of 1936.

Three flood damaged gasoline tanks of 100,000 gallons each exploded at Edwardsville across the river from Wilkes-Barre, temporarily adding fire to flood hazards. Gov. Arthur H. James, whose own home in Plymouth was surrounded by four feet of water, left the state capital in Harrisburg to get a first hand view of the flood damage. Floods that menace western Pennsylvania Sunday rolled on down the Ohio river valley.

In southeastern New York the Susquehanna and Chenango rivers threatened Binghamton, where Mayor Charles W. Kress declared a state of emergency. Seven hundred families were evacuated from towns near Johnson City.

LYONS LAYS HIGH STATE COSTS TO HORNER FAILING

Says Lack of Experience Cost Taxpayers Lot.

If governmental costs are to be reduced, Illinois must elect a governor next November who has legislative or executive experience, Richard J. Lyons declared last night in a radio address and at seven west and south side meetings to which he took his campaign for the Republican nomination for governor.

Soaring costs in the state government during the last seven and a half years have been due in part to Gov. Horner's lack of legislative experience, Lyons asserted.

"I believe we can all agree that in public affairs, experience is of great importance," the candidate continued. "Ten years of service in our legislature has brought me a rather intimate knowledge of the problem of state government and administration which must be faced by Illinois' next chief executive.

Expects Coöperation.

"Having served with two-thirds of the men and women who will constitute the next Illinois senate and house of representatives, I am sure that their coöperation with me to reduce the tax burdens that have been foisted upon the people of Illinois will be prompt and wholehearted.

"Let me call your attention to ample proof we have here in Illinois as to what inexperience costs the people. Henry Horner, before he was elected governor, was a lawyer and a probate judge, but he had no adequate legislative or executive ability in state affairs. Consequently the cost of government has nearly doubled under his administration.

Cites 10 Years of Service.

"I make no claim to perfection, but I do feel that my 10 years of active service in our state government has given me the necessary experience. This will be of great help to me in fulfilling my promise to give the people of Illinois an honest, economical administration that will be fair and just to the taxpayer, the worker, and the employer."

During the afternoon the candidate addressed a group of pastors of the Church of God in Christ at the Hotel Sherman. His two largest meetings last night were in the Trianon ballroom, 62d street and Cottage Grove avenue, where a combined rally of the 5th, 6th, and 7th wards was held, and in the Kenwood theater, 1225 East 47th street, in the 4th ward.

At the Trianon Lyons remarked that the state Democratic slush fund of 2 per cent "was nothing when it is known that many contractors on state contracts have to make a 20 per cent kick back." He described the state sales tax as "the little man who wasn't there, but is sitting at the dinner table and eating part of your food."

The night ended with an appearance at a style show at DuSable High school, 49th and Wabash avenue, where Lyons was introduced by Mrs. Joe Louis, wife of the heavyweight boxing champion.

NEW DEAL CAN'T FIND SUBSTITUTE FOR JOBS: BROOKS

Fails Despite Spending, He Says.

Despite all its tinkering and spending, the New Deal has been unable to invent a substitute for a good job in private enterprise, Wayland Brooks told five west and south side rallies last night in his campaign for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

New Dealers, Brooks asserted, are working night and day to keep the people of America dependent upon relief so that the Roosevelt tax deal can perpetuate itself in power.

"But the people of America have caught up with them," he continued. "The people will turn them out in November.

"We must and will provide relief for our needy citizens until they can again find gainful employment. Business and private enterprise will get back to work, expand, and rehire our 9 million unemployed when the crushing burden of taxation is lifted and the government's Cossack rule of business by indictment is stopped."

Commenting further upon the unemployment situation, the candidate asserted that the New Dealers have only been pretending to solve the twin problems of relief and idleness. They have succeeded only in adding to the confusion of the nation's economic plight and have increased the public debt.

"There are 22 million persons receiving some form of public assistance, the highest total on record," Brooks went on.

"It has been proved that the theory of taxation for the solution of unemployment and relief only adds to the problem. Having people on relief gave the New Dealers a feeling of power over their unfortunate fellow Americans."

Brooks' travels last night took him into the 29th ward, the 17th ward, to a combined rally of the 5th, 6th, and 7th wards at the Trianon ballroom at 62d street and Cottage Grove avenue, and a 4th ward rally at the Kenwood theater, 1225 East 47th street.

At the Trianon meeting Brooks referred to the recent charges by Germany that William C. Bullitt, American ambassador to France, and Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain, have been fomenting war on Germany.

"The head of our government and his ambassadors," Brooks asserted, "apparently have been giving secret information to foreign governments and promising them they'll finish the war. We'll finish them [the Democrats] when the votes are counted in November."

Arctic Mail Route

MONTREAL, Que., April 1.—Mail routed over the famed northwest passage from the eastern to the western arctic reached Montreal today. Bearing the postmark Craig Harbor, Canada's northernmost postoffice, on Ellesmere Island, 400 miles from the north pole, the letters were mailed in August, 1939, by passengers aboard the Hudson Bay company's trading ship Nascopie. From Craig Harbor the mail went by water thru the northwest passage to the western arctic, then by dogsled to Coppermine in the Northwest Territories, thence by air to Edmonton, Alta., and by rail to Montreal.

PRESERVE HOME RULE! GREEN'S PLEA TO VOTERS

Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for nomination for governor, urged the preservation of community home rule and the sovereign rights of states in a series of south side ward meetings and a radio address over a state-wide hookup yesterday. He also attacked election frauds, intimidation of voters and the spoils system in politics.

"I am unalterably opposed to a centralized government which seizes control of the affairs of communities thruout the state," Green said. "I will oppose the federal government's effort to dictate the laws to be written by our general assembly at Springfield.

"If elected I will drive spoils politics and political corruption out of every public school, welfare institution, the state police, and other departments of state government. No state employé will be forced to contribute to any campaign or slush fund. The purchase of state supplies must be placed on the same basis as private business.

Charges Sale of Paroles.

"The entire system of parole must be rescued from political control. Paroles have been put on the auction block by political favorites who intercede for those able to pay the price."

The candidate also pledged relief administration without waste or political interference, adequate old age assistance, a program of reforestation and conservation, and conferences with "the ablest leaders in industry, labor, and agriculture" to coördinate their efforts.

Green then turned to an attack on vote thievery and election day terrorism, saying:

"It is foolish to boast that we have a democracy when elections are a mockery and gangsters ride Chicago streets on election day intimidating our voters.

Tells Wholesale Thievery.

"The Chicago papers daily tell the story of wholesale vote thievery in last spring's election. In the district attorney's office I fought the gangsters that supported the city hall machine. I am its sworn, uncompromising enemy and I will not stop until that machine has been driven from power."

Recalling his early pledge against name calling or personal attacks, Green continued:

"Men allied with the Kelly-Nash machine have joined my opponent in personal attacks. They have circulated every manner of rumor and absurd charge. The voice of slander and hatred probably will be heard again during this week. I shall take no part in this, but shall keep my promises and carry on a clean, serious campaign."

WOMEN ADD TO CHARGE THAT GREEN IS GETTING AID FROM DEMOCRATS

The Women's Regular Republican organization of Oak Park, which last week charged that Dwight H. Green's campaign for the Republican nomination for governor is financed and directed by the Kelly-Nash Democratic machine, made new charges against the candidate yesterday. Green's campaign in Kankakee county was managed by Arthur Collins, a Democrat, until the Cook county accusations were made, it was said by Mrs. John K. Russell, chairman of the Oak Park group. She produced in corroboration an affidavit to this effect signed by Mrs. Bertha Clark, chairman of the Independent Republican Voters of Kankakee county, and four other women. Their statement said Collins is the son of a former Democratic member of the board of review and that he voted Democratic in the 1936 and 1938 primaries.

IF A single name were to be selected as "Its greatest beautifier," from among the thousands who have contributed to Chicago's stature—there could be but one answer! The man who merits that distinction was born in Henderson, N. Y., on Sept. 4, 1846. Daniel Hudson Burnham traced his ancestry not only to sturdy Vermont parents but still farther back to generations of distinguished clergymen, as well as an officer in the Revolutionary Army.

When he was nine years old, his parents moved to Chicago, where the senior Burnham was a wholesale merchant and president of the old Merchants' Exchange until his death in 1874. The son's education comprised a private school of Prof. Snow's, where The Fair now stands; the Jones School; Chicago High School; and three years of private study in the East.

Apprenticing himself, in 1867, to the firm of Loring and Jenny, architects, after a year and a half he set out for the mining fields of Nevada on a venture that proved unsuccessful; and next associated himself in Chicago with the architect W. G. L. Laurean. Following the great fire of 1871, he next joined the firm of Carter, Wright and Drake—and there made his momentous friendship with John W. Root, forming a partnership with the latter in 1873. Eighteen years of prosperous activities followed, and on Root's death in 1891, the business continued as D. H. Burnham & Company.

With the erection of the 14-story Tacoma Building in 1889, came Chicago's "Skyscraper Era"; and Burnham was one of its foremost protagonists. The roster of famous structures embodying his flair for impressive line and classic strength includes the Rookery building, the Masonic Temple, the Railway Exchange, the Women's Temple, the Great Northern hotel, the old Illinois Trust building, the Continental & Commercial Bank building, the Marshall Field retail store, the Field Museum—and, in other cities, New York's notable Flatiron building, the Wanamaker stores in Philadelphia, and bank buildings in Cincinnati and Cleveland.

It is as directing architect of the World's Columbian Exposition, however, and designer and originator behind the Chicago Plan Commission, that Daniel Burnham's fame shines brightest today. His, more than any other one man's, was the impress of beauty and civic splendor which are modern Chicago's boast; and it was in the logic of heritage that his son should have directed the architectural development of the Century of Progress Exposition, as a worthy father had done in Columbian days. One of the city's greatest promoters died on June 1, 1912; but in Burnham Park and in scores of scenic Chicago landmarks his memory is permanently perpetuated.

BACK DITCHBURNE FOR PROSECUTOR IN BAR PRIMARY

Courtney Is Indorsed on Democratic Side.

Two candidates for nomination for state's attorney—Harry S. Ditchburne, Republican, and Thomas J. Courtney, Democratic incumbent—received indorsement in the Chicago Bar association primary, conducted during the last week.

Ballots counted last night revealed Ditchburne winning 1,446 of 1,810 ballots for Republican candidates for state's attorney. Judge Oscar F. Nelson received 310 votes, and Erwin E. Cowen, 54.

Courtney won 1,054 of 1,779 Democratic votes and Judge John J. Gutknecht 725. To win indorsement under the association's rules, a candidate must receive one-third of the votes cast for a given office. Where only one candidate is to be nominated, the one receiving the highest number of votes [provided he gets at least one-third] is regarded as indorsed.

7 of 55 Candidates Indorsed.

Of the 55 candidates for Republican nomination as judges of the Municipal court, the bar association indorsed seven. These included six former judges and Harry N. Pritzker.

Of the 22 Democratic candidates, 10 were indorsed. These included nine sitting judges and John J. Griffin.

Judge McGarry was relieved of bench assignments last December after he had been indicted in connection with the bail bond scandal in his court. The indictment was quashed on a technicality, but the state's attorney's office has carried the case to the Illinois Appellate court. McGarry was passed up by the Democratic slate makers and Griffin's name was entered.

2,151 Ballots Counted.

Ballots counted totaled 2,151; thus 717 votes were necessary for indorsement in the judicial race. The balloting followed issuance on March 25 of a preliminary report by the bar association's committee on candidates. Its findings, printed in booklet form after weeks of investigating the candidates, were distributed to 4,100 members of the association to serve as a guide for their balloting.

While 12 full six-year terms on the Municipal court, and one two-year term will be at stake in the November election, the ballot instructions did not call for a vote on a full slate of candidates.

In the following table, names of candidates for the court who won indorsement are printed in capital letters, and asterisks indicate incumment judges.

It is to be noted that Judge Frank M. Padden, leading Democrat, polled exactly the same number of votes [1,766] as Former Judge Edgar A. Jonas, who led the Republicans. Other former Republican judges who received the bar indorsement are Theodore F. Ehler, Edward B. Casey, Charles F. McKinley, Samuel Heller, and William E. Helander.

The committee's March 25 report had termed Ditchburne and Courtney exceptionally well qualified for office. Of the 55 G. O. P. judicial candidates, 35 were considered qualified; of the 22 Democrats, 14 were listed as qualified.

CICERO EXPECTS RECORD VOTE IN ELECTION TODAY

One of the largest turnouts of voters in Cicero's history is expected in the town election today to pick a president and five other officials. Some political leaders predicted that the total vote will reach 33,000, which would be a new record. There are 39,000 eligible voters in the suburb.

There are three complete tickets in the field:

DEMOCRATIC: President, George Stedronsky; clerk, Anton J. Krupicka; collector, Jerry J. Viterna; supervisor, Leo Kaspierski; assessor, Harry L. Schwarzel, and trustee, Edward Grisco.

REPUBLICAN: President, Frank E. Svoboda; clerk, John C. Stoffel; collector, Jerry Dolezay; supervisor, Frank A. Marek; assessor, Frank J. Christenson, and trustee, Jerry A. Holecek.

BETTER GOVERNMENT: President, James J. Pellkan; clerk, Ben Boerman; collector, Joseph F. Kafkt; supervisor, James Sorna; assessor, Walter Bobitz, and trustee, Walter J. Smith.

The big fight is between the Democrats, who have been in office for eight years, and the Republicans, who charge that the third party Better Government slate was picked by Congressman Anton Maclejewski, Democratic boss. The G. O. P. partisans charge that taxes and water rates in Cicero more than doubled during the Democratic régime.

POLITICS? WELL, STELLE ENJOYS HIS FARM, TOO!

Battles Democratic Slate in Governor Race.

BY PERCY WOOD.

John Stelle of McLeansboro, Hamilton county, who is fighting the Nash-Kelly and Horner leadership for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, is a farmer, a lawyer, a world war machine gun officer, and a self-described "small time" oil speculator. He is 47 years old.

John Stelle.

Down in his native Egypt, where his family settled early in the last century and which he left to enlist in the army in 1917, Stelle also is known as happier when in some sort of political action than when engaged in his commercial pursuits.

Stelle entered politics thru membership on the McLeansboro city council and the school board—both nonpaying offices. He ran for state's attorney of Hamilton county in 1928 and was nominated, only to "go down with Al Smith," as he tells it.

Manages Barrett Campaign.

Two years later Stelle, as a well known Legionnaire, managed the downstate campaign for Edward J. Barrett, another ex-service man with a good war record who was setting out to break the Democratic organization slate for state treasurer. Barrett was nominated, elected, and installed, and John Stelle entered the statehouse with him as assistant treasurer. Now, 10 years later, they still are together and engaged in the same job—breaking the organization slate. For Barrett is running for the third term as auditor which the Kelly-Horner-Nash slatemakers denied him.

Meanwhile Stelle has been twice elected to state office himself. In 1934—in the only state primary in the last five in which the Democrats haven't been fighting each other—he was nominated for state treasurer, and elected that fall.

And in 1936, when the Chicago organization tried to dispose of Gov. Horner, Stelle and Barrett cast their lot with the Nash-Kelly Democrats—Stelle seeking the nomination for lieutenant governor and Barrett a second term as auditor, which he had held since 1933. Both were nominated and elected.

Supporter of Igoe.

The affiliation with the Chicago machine continued in 1938, when Stelle and Barrett supported Judge Michael L. Igoe against Scott W. Lucas in the senatorial primary. Had Barrett been reslated this year the union probably would still have been in effect today, despite Stelle's ambitions to run for governor. But when Barrett was dumped and he himself was denied support for governor, Stelle relinquished his slate position as lieutenant governor and, with Barrett, persuaded Representative Benjamin S. Adamowski of Chicago to join their revolt and oppose Senator James M. Slattery. Thus the 1940 rebellion was born.

Stelle's ancestors had German, Scotch, and Irish blood. The Stelles are Methodists, and two services the lieutenant governor always attends are Easter Sunday and Mother's day. The name Stelle is pronounced to rhyme with bell.

Stelle's great-grandfathers, Thompson Stelle and Samuel Lockwood, came to Illinois from the east in the early 1800s, Stelle as a farmer and Lockwood as a surveyor. Thompson Stelle took up farming near McLeansboro and his descendants never have left the land, altho John's father, Thompson B. Stelle, combined farming and the law and became county judge.

A Grandfather at 47.

When he was 20, John Stelle married Wilma Wisehart of Shawneetown. They have two sons. John Albert, 22, is married and lives on the farm. Russell, 19, is a freshman at the University of Illinois and currently installed at the Sigma Nu house. Then there is John Paul Stelle, the 5 month old grandson, offspring of John Albert.

At the time he was married Stelle was a professional ball player and known as a first class short stop in the small leagues thruout Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana, and Tennessee. Stelle remembers having a little trouble with the late Michael Sexton of Rock Island, president of one of the leagues in 1912, but he felt pretty good about it when, as state treasurer in 1935, he gave Sexton a job in his office.

Not long after his marriage Stelle quit baseball and studied law at Washington university in St. Louis. He was admitted to the bar in 1916 and started out on two unrelated ventures—practicing law in McLeansboro and raising pigs on a piece of land outside the town. Things went along pretty well in both fields until hog cholera killed 300 of the Stelle hogs, so that venture was closed out almost overnight.

Becomes Sergeant Quickly.

John Albert Stelle was nine days old when, in 1917, his father enlisted in the 9th Illinois infantry as a private. He knew the rudiments of infantry drill from having attended Western Military academy in Alton—where he later sent both his sons—and quickly rose to a sergeantcy. Before long he was sent to the second officer's training camp at Fort Sheridan, emerging a first lieutenant.

Mrs. Stelle recalls having her husband with her on the farm from Thanksgiving to Christmas in 1917 and how she felt when he sailed for France in January, 1918, as a casual or unattached officer. In France Lieut. Stelle was sent to a machine gun school and eventually became attached to the 77th division, composed mostly of southern boys.

The 77th had it hot and heavy on the Ypres, Cambrai, and St. Quentin fronts and during the fighting Stelle got a strong dose of gas, which laid him up for a month but left no permanent injury.

Given Command of Company.

One night shortly after he had returned to the front both the captain and senior first lieutenant of Stelle's company were seriously wounded. Stelle was given command. He led the company during the remainder of the war and after the armistice was commissioned a captain. He returned home in March, 1919, just before his mother's death. Judge Stelle, his father, died in 1906.

Back in McLeansboro, Stelle took over a creamery company which his son, John, now operates, and also ran a brick factory from 1926 to 1929. He was in and out of county politics, but didn't enter state politics until he engineered Barrett's 1930 downstate primary campaign and also helped the late Senator James Hamilton Lewis the same year.

Golf? Just Mediocre.

In summer he acquires a deep tan walking about his 500 acre farm where he grows grain and feeds white-faced cattle.

Stelle reads newspapers thoroly and occasionally a political biography. He doesn't think he'll ever quit politics, and he knows he'll never quit the farm.

CHARGES THAT STATE 2% SLUSH FUND IS PART OF NEW DEAL SCHEME

"The 2 per cent Democratic slush fund in Illinois is the offspring and brain child of the New Deal," George F. Barrett, candidate for the Republican nomination for attorney general, told a massmeeting in the Trianon ballroom, 62d street and Cottage Grove avenue last night. "It is part of a national New Deal scheme to enslave all the civil service employés in the country.

"The idea of assessing civil service employés 2 to 5 per cent of their salaries to build campaign war chests was created by New Dealer Paul V. McNutt when he was governor of Indiana. Postmaster General James A. Farley has adopted McNutt's idea. He will put it into effect in every state where the New Deal has control and where the attorney general will allow it."

$200,000 SLUSH? IT'S JUST $25,000, SAYS NUDELMAN

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 1 [Special].—April Fool's day today brought the following developments in and about the Sangamon county Circuit court here:

1. State Finance Director Samuel L. Nudelman announced there is less than $25,000, rather than an amount alleged to be in excess of $200,000, in the Horner slush fund enjoined by a temporary injunction.

[When Circuit Judge L. E. Stone issued the temporary injunction on Feb. 24 he said: "It appears that more than $200,000 is in the hands of these defendants with no responsibility to the contributors. The directors of the association are the trustees, and as such are responsible to the contributors as stockholders."]

In No Hurry for Funds.

2. Edmund Burke, attorney for Nudelman and eight other defendants in the slush fund suit, said he was in no hurry, that it might be several days before he prepared an order for the court to sign in accordance with Judge Stone's ruling of Saturday that all except $5,000 of the deposited slush funds should be released from the injunction.

3. Attorney General John E. Cassidy appeared in court with two assistants and delivered an argument in tune with the current political campaign. He opposed a petition brought by Arnold L. Lund, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, asking permission to file a suit to enjoin lump sum highway department appropriations of $71,818,000.

Urges Need for Safeguards.

4. Lund, acting as his own attorney, argued that the failure of the highway department to itemize its appropriations thwarts constitutional safeguards around public funds, abetting extravagances. As the appropriation bill was put thru legislature, according to Lund, $46,000,000 might be spent for "those small buildings of convenience to construction crews."

5. Judge Stone, a Democrat, denied Lund permission to file the suit, saying he was highly entertained by arguments not pertinent to the issue and citing Illinois Supreme court opinions in support of his decision that Lund had no right in a court of equity to bring such action.

6. Lund issued a statement to the press saying Judge Stone's view "doesn't make common sense" and that the petition to bring an injunction suit will be appealed immediately to the state Supreme court.

Denies Depletion of Account.

In regard to the 2 per cent slush fund suit, Finance Director Nudelman denied rumors that the bank account had been depleted on the eve of the litigation, which is a suit for an accounting of the political assessments against the salaries of state employés.

"We don't need this money to win the primary," said the finance director, the "we" referring to the Horner-Nash-Kelly ticket. "Furthermore, we are not afraid of an accounting any time one is ordered by the court. We have a report of a certified public accountant covering all collections and all disurbements in detail."

The suit for an accounting remains in the pleadings regardless of a modification of the temporary writ of injunction. There have been rumors that a court audit of expenditures from the campaign fund would disclose scandals. Such scandals were indicated by the discovery of a $20,000 loan from the Democratic party on the books of the Pontiac Lumber company, owned by F. Lynden Smith, director of public works and former Horner campaign manager, who died under mysterious circumstances on March 9.

Rips Attack on Extravagance.

In the hearing on the Lund petition Attorney General Cassidy denounced the young Republican's public utterances against extravagance and corruption in the present statehouse administration. The court overruled Lund's objections to this line of argument.

"Your good faith in bringing this lawsuit is being attacked," said Judge Stone.

"By his irresponsible statements in the press," Cassidy continued, "preaching as an apostle of economy, Lund has barred himself from entering a court of equity, especially with such a pleading contrary to public interest. The state's attorney and the Bar association can save these statements for what action as they care to take."

"I'm not going to indulge in the attorney general's tactics of playing politics before the bench," Lund retorted. "I'm in this litigation regardless of my candidacy, and I'm not impressed by his intimated threats."

RAPE SLAYING SUSPECT CLEARED.

Chester Vaughn, 10154 Wentworth avenue, who had been questioned in connection with the rape and murder of a woman near 115th street and Michigan avenue on Easter Sunday, was released by Kensington police yesterday. They said they were convinced he knew nothing of the crime.

Becomes Citizen

Tala Birell, stage star who played in Chicago for many months and is now appearing in New York with John Barrymore's "My Dear Children" company became a citizen of the United States here yesterday without missing a performance of the Broadway show.

Mink coated and with a floral nest for a hat, the blonde actress arrived from New York at the La Salle street station in the morning. She dashed to the new postoffice building where she repeated her naturalization oath with just the slightest trace of an accent before Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan. She returned immediately by plane to New York.

The actress had to come to Chicago because her application for citizenship had been filed in this district while she was playing here. Born in Bucharest, Rumania, Miss Birell said she was 32 years old.

LYNDEN SMITH'S ESTATE VALUED AT OVER $90,000

Pontiac, Ill., April 1 (AP).—The estate of F. Lynden Smith was valued at more than $90,000 in papers filed in Livingston county Probate court before Judge Homer Hall as probation proceedings started today.

No will was left by the former state director of public works, whose death in a Springfield, Ill., hospital bathtub on March 9 was termed a suicide by a coroner's jury. Smith's personal estate was estimated at $65,000 and his real esate was valued at $26,447.

Judge Hall named Roy L. Davis of Evanston and W. E. Hughes of Pontiac as administrators and approved bond of $97,500. He set next June 3 as the final date for filing of claims against the estate. Beneficiaries include the widow, Marian E. Smith, and the son, Francis Newton Smith.

MAYOR DROPS IN ON ORGANIZATION WARD MEETINGS

Makes Sure That Machine Runs Smoothly.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Without warning that he was coming, Mayor Kelly last night popped into several north side ward meetings of his Democratic organization, said a few words, and looked over the attendance and the attitude of the workers.

He didn't tell anybody so, but the general conclusion was that he was keeping the boys up on their toes. County Chairman P. A. Nash, veteran of decades of ward meetings, now limits his activities to day work. Therefore Kelly, the younger man of the two in command of the Chicago machine, took on the job of seeing that the regulars are regular in every ward.

Just Wants to Make Sure.

That didn't mean, it was explained, that any gross irregularities were suspected, but the mayor wanted to see with his own eyes and hear with his own ears that everybody in the organization was for everybody on the ticket. His night travels were taken as proof of his own interest in the slate he helped put together.

Mayor Kelly returned on Sunday from a short stay with his family in Florida. He was scarcely recovered from the cold that laid him up down south. He took part in a headquarters conference yesterday afternoon and said he wouldn't "make" any night meetings.

Just how many meetings he did "make" was not ascertained. First he startled Ald. Mathias [Paddy] Bauler's 43d ward meeting at 624 North avenue. Then he stirred the crowd of Committeeman Ray Moore's 44th ward gathering at 2348 North Clark street. Thence he went almost to the northern city limits—surprising the audience at 6443 Sheridan road where the organization of Ald. Frank Keenan [49th] was in session.

There were five other north side meetings addressed by Harry B. Hershey, organization candidate for governor, Senator James M. Slattery, and other candidates, and it was said the audiences all perked up when the word arrived that Kelly was moving around.

In the three meetings in which he spoke, the mayor did not select any special candidate for his praise. Everywhere he went he said he was fighting for Roosevelt and the whole ticket. And he said he wasn't asking for a thing for himself.

"Despite newspaper reports," he told the 43d warders, "I have no aspirations to become county chairman, national committeeman, or anything else. I could spend the next three years sitting in my chair in the city hall and do nothing for the party, but I'm out to help this whole ticket."

Unnoticed at First.

At the 49th ward meeting the mayor stood unnoticed just inside the entrance while Hershey was speaking. Then he was recognized and was persuaded to go forward to the platform, take off his coat, and talk. Here he referred to State's Attorney Courtney.

"There's a man on this ticket for state's attorney that was put there for harmony's sake, a man who will help the ticket because of his record. I don't want anything from the state's attorney.

"We've talked together only a few times while he and I have been in office. We're backing him on his merits and I want you to put your heart in the fight for him just as you do for the rest of the ticket."

Slattery Cites Gas Case.

In addition to appearing at four of the meetings, Senator Slattery delivered a radio speech which he devoted largely to the decision during the day by the United States Supreme court in the Chicago gas rate case. He said the decision assures 800,000 consumers of refunds totaling 6 million dollars, the amount collected in excess of the rates approved by the Illinois Commerce commission while he was chairman of that body.

He said that this victory was a triumph for the policies of the Horner state administration.

WAIVE EXTRADITION IN THEFT.

Charles Wilkes, 1547 North Talman avenue, and Walter Boneckl, 3254 Potomac avenue, waived extradition yesterday and were turned over to police of St. Paul, Minn. They will be tried there for the theft of $3,200 worth of diamonds from a jewelry store March 6.

INSURGENT DEMOCRATS REPORT 3D ATTACK ON OFFICES BY VANDALS

Vandals attacked a ward office of the Stelle-Adamowski-Barrett Democratic organization yesterday for the third time in two weeks, it was reported last night at the insurgent headquarters in the Hotel Sherman. Edward Glanz, leader for the Stelle group in the 31st ward, said men in a car threw bricks thru the window of the headquarters at 1132 North California avenue. Last Friday Frank Kaminski, candidate for ward committeeman in the 11th ward on the Stelle ticket, reported that windows in the insurgent headquarters at 1160 West 31st street had been smashed twice in 10 days by hoodlums.

Devise Fire Alarm System for Forest Preserve Areas

Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, warned yesterday—now that the outdoor season is approaching—against the danger of fire in the forest preserves, and announced a plan whereby any one may report a fire in the preserves merely by reversing the charges in a call to Forest 4470 or Columbus 8400. A fire dispatcher will be kept on duty until midnight to answer all calls. Smith pleaded for caution in the use of matches, cigarets, cigars, or picnic fires in the preserves.

SWING TO G. O. P. EMPHASIZED BY TRIBUNE'S POLL

Dewey Strength Features Tabulation of Straws.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

A breakdown of the downstate returns in The Tribune's straw vote into north, central, and south segments of Illinois discloses some interesting features. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate in the preferential primaries with no opponent, is showing his greatest strength in the northern areas. President Roosevelt's largest showing is in the southern regions. This is natural enough, the big Republican counties lying to the north.

Thruout the state in the poll Dewey leads in the total straws. Out of 30,956 downstate Republican and Democratic preferential straws, Dewey has 16,769, or 54.17 per cent; Roosevelt, 12,308 or 39.76 per cent, and Vice President Garner 1,879, or 6.07 per cent. Downstate, Dewey has 2,582 votes more than Roosevelt and Garner combined.

Bare Major'ty in City.

Of course the poll is directed at ascertaining sentiment on the primaries, which are simply for nominations by parties. So far as indicating trends between parties, the poll on the primary may indicate the old question of downstate versus Chicago.

In Chicago, Roosevelt has 22,272 straws or 50.95 per cent of all in both parties, Garner has 2,103 or 4.81 per cent, Dewey has 19,340 or 44.24 per cent.

In 81,571 straws from Chicago, suburbs, and downstate cast on President in both parties, Dewey has 49.41 per cent, Roosevelt 45.34 per cent, and Garner 5.25 per cent.

Ratios Remain Same.

The downstate tables so far printed, with today's, give approximate representation to the three sections of the state in proportion to recent votes, so far as possible. In the primaries of 1938, 38.5 per cent of the total downstate vote was cast in northern Illinois. In the downstate straw tables, 39.2 per cent are from the north.

In central Illinois, 32.3 per cent of the downstate primary vote of 1938 was cast. In the poll tables, 35.4 per cent are straws from this section. Southern Illinois cast 29.2 per cent of the primary vote. It has 25.4 per cent of the straws.

Analyzing a bit further, Dewey's apparent strength looms even greater. In northern Illinois, the Republicans cast 58 per cent of the primary vote in that region. Dewey has 63.35 per cent of the total straws on President. The Democrats two years ago cast 42 per cent of the primary vote. President Roosevelt has 32 per cent of the total straws of both parties.

Politicians Call Strength Remarkable.

It indicates what politicians regard as remarkable strength for Dewey in the area where the biggest slice of the downstate vote is cast.

In central Illinois, the Republicans cast 39 per cent of the total primary vote in 1938 in that area. Dewey has 51 per cent in the tabulation of straws. The Democrats had 60.9 per cent of the primary votes in 1938. Roosevelt has 41.26 per cent of the straws.

Going into southern Illinois, the Democrats cast 69.91 per cent of the primary vote in that region in the 1938 primaries. In the total straws on President, Roosevelt has 48.61 per cent. The Republicans had 30.09 per cent of the primary vote two years ago; Dewey has 44.06 per cent of the straws.

More Comparisons.

To continue the comparison, the Democrats cast 56.28 per cent of the total downstate vote in the 1938 primary. Roosevelt has 39.76 per cent of the straws. The Republicans had 43.72 per cent of the primary vote; Dewey has 54.17 per cent of the straws. This showing leads Republicans to believe their party will poll a much greater vote this time than two years ago, when the state outside Chicago started its swing toward the Republicans.

John Stelle, insurgent Democratic candidate for governor, picked up a few points downstate and dropped a few in Chicago in today's tables in his race against Harry B. Hershey, backed by the Chicago and Springfield Democratic organizations. Net results left Stelle a quarter of a point higher on the percentage tables. In downstate cities he led in Alton, Granite City, Harrisburg, McLeansboro, and other towns in Egypt.

UNION PUTS OFF STRIKE ON N. Y. SUBWAY LINES

New York, April 1 [Special].—The Transport Workers union, a C. I. O. affiliate, announced late tonight that it will not call a strike of its 26,000 employés on the Interborough Rapid Transit and Brooklyn Manhattan Transit subway lines, pending the arrival of John L. Lewis, chairman of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

The decision to delay action came a few hours after Mayor Fiorello La Guardia had authorized Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine to mobilize the resources of all city department heads to handle any emergency which might arise from a strike call.

GANNETT BLASTS SPENDING; OFFERS 17 POINT REFORM

Dictator Peril Charged by G. O. P. Aspirant.

Frank E. Gannett, Rochester, N. Y., publisher and candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, attacked the New Deal during a Chicago visit yesterday and offered a 17 point platform of his own. His program, he told 400 members of the Union League club, where he was a luncheon speaker, would lead to recovery.

Gannett, who is campaigning thruout the country by air, said:

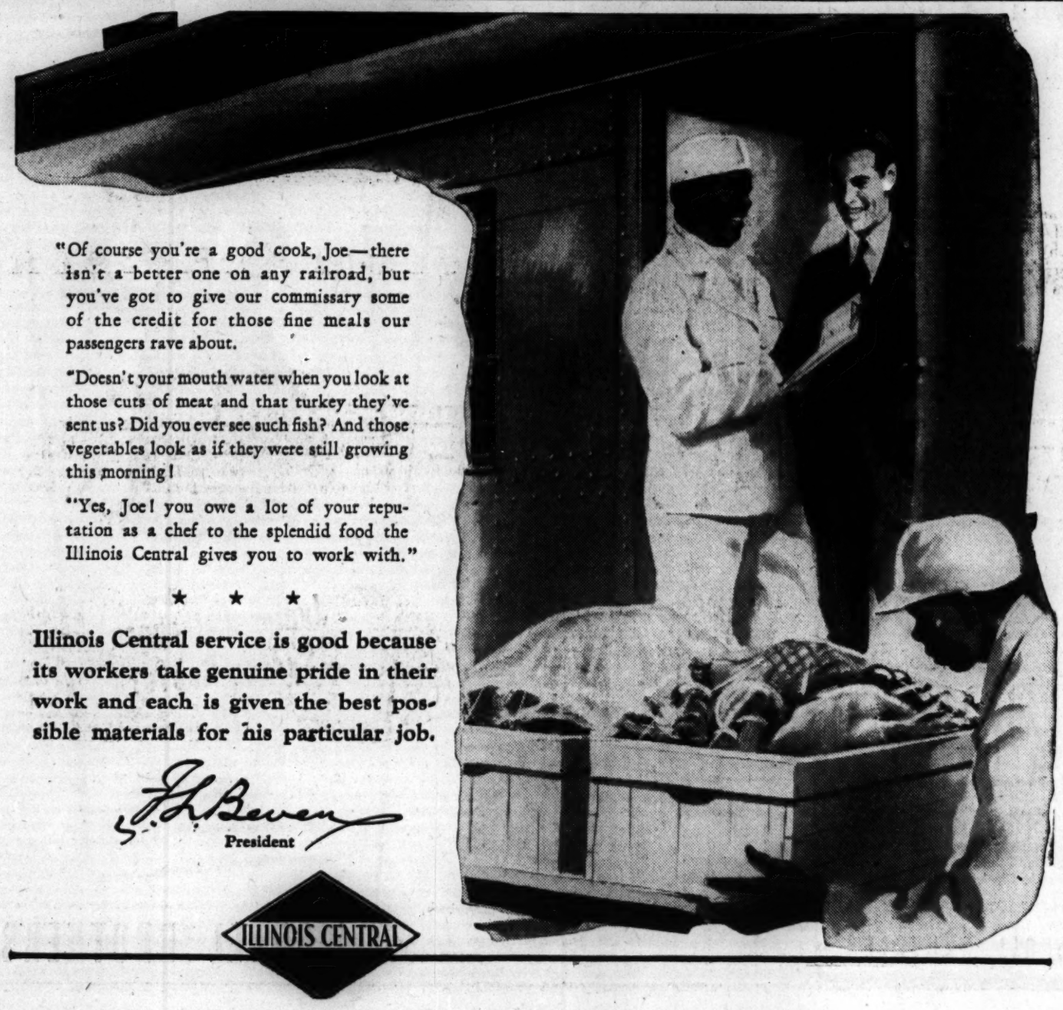
"After seven years of experimenting with all sorts of crackpot ideas and half-baked schemes, we find that we are worse off than when the New Deal took over. New Dealism means taxing and taxing, piling up an ever-increasing mountain of debt—a debt that never can be paid.

"It means killing initiative and ambition. It means idle money and idle men. It means closing the door of opportunity to young and old, rich and poor. I say we must end it at once or we shall go further and further on the road to one man rule, toward a totalitarian state and a dictatorship.

"I believe I can help bring this nation out of the ditch and set it going forward again."

He then detailed the program he said he would pursue if elected President. It follows:

1. Restore prosperity for the farmers by raising the price level for farm products.
2. Stabilize the dollar.
3. Remove unemployment by putting the government on a business basis. Rewrite or repeal the Wagner Labor act. Reduce taxes.
4. Encourage the sharing of profits with employés.
5. Continue relief, but "fumigate" it.
6. Coördinate plans for national defense for economy's sake.
7. Introduce economy into all governmental departments.
8. Stop extension of federal control. Restore state rights.
9. Take away the President's extraordinary powers.
10. Guard the independence of the three branches of government.
11. Improve international relations.
12. Adopt a constitutional amendment limiting the President's possible tenure of office to eight years.
13. Get the government out of private business.
14. Promote a policy of abundance rather than scarcity.
15. Bring able, successful businessmen into government service. Drive out communists.
16. Balance the budget as soon as possible.
17. Give assurance that the nation will not go to war in Europe.



"Of course you're a good cook, Joe—there isn't a better one on any railroad, but you've got to give our commissary some of the credit for those fine meals our passengers rave about.

"Doesn't your mouth water when you look at those cuts of meat and that turkey they've sent us? Did you ever see such fish? And those vegetables look as if they were still growing this morning!

"Yes, Joe! you owe a lot of your reputation as a chef to the splendid food the Illinois Central gives you to work with."

3D TERM ISSUE INVOLVED IN N. Y. PRIMARY TODAY

New York, April 1 (AP).—A challenge by Garner for President forces to third term sentiment and a savage fight between right and left for control of the American Labor party will be of chief interest in Tuesday's New York primary election.

In the state as a whole the organization slates of Democratic and Republican uninstructed delegates to the national conventions face only scattered opposition.

The big contest is among the Democrats in New York City's 16th Congressional district. There the Garner people concentrated their campaign, running Alfred E. Smith Jr., son of the former governor, and State Senator John McNaboe as Garner pledged delegates against the Tammany designees, Representaitve James H. Fay and John T. Egan. Tammany is committed to a third nomination for Mr. Roosevelt if he wants it.

A Republican contest in the same district involves opposition to Thomas E. Dewey, candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination. Lambert Fairchild and Mrs. Florence Chatfield, making their opposition to him the issue, are running against the organization designees—Representative Bruce Barton and Mrs. Mildred Hollingsworth.

THIEVES STEAL 19 FUR COATS.

George Rogers, 4743 North Kenneth avenue, reported yesterday to the police that two men broke into his truck parked at Superior and Larrabee streets and stole 19 fur coats valued at $997.50.

BAPTIST JOURNAL SEES RELIGION A CAMPAIGN ISSUE

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The United States Baptist, which is published in Chicago and is the leading independent journal of the Baptist faith, predicts editorially in its April issue that the religious question will play as important a rôle in the 1940 political campaign as it did in 1928.

This prediction, states the editorial, written by the journal's publisher, the Rev. Mike Elliott, is based on reports from thruout the country. It adds that the only way to avoid the issue is for President Roosevelt to cancel "the recent un-American appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican."

Rap "Stuffed Shirt" Envoy.

"The [religious] issue has been forced upon Baptists, and they are assured of the support of every other religious group dedicated to the American principle of separation of church and state," the editorial declares. "President Roosevelt injected the religious issue into the campaign when he appointed a stuffed shirt ambassador to the Vatican.

"It will prove to be about the biggest boomerang any party has ever faced since 1928. Baptists are Baptists before they are Republicans or Democrats. They have been silent until silence is no longer possible. They must now resort to action which will guarantee the future adherence on the part of Washington to principles which brought this nation into existence.

"The people of this country are opposed fundamentally to Vatican representation. They will not be slapped in the face. The American people have a way of putting Washington in its place when that becomes necessary. The time has come for that to be done. Smoke screens will not hide the issue. Tolerance is not the issue. The issue is the constitution of the United States."

Plan to Rouse 10 Millions.

The editorial explained that the necessary organization is under way and that the principal Baptist conventions meeting in the spring not only will formally protest against the Vatican ambassador but also will send their thousands of delegates back to their homes to influence the voting of more than 10 million Baptists.

"The Democratic south is Baptist," the editorial continued. "But southern Baptists are Baptists before they are Democrats. Northern Baptists will scuttle party lines. Negro Baptists will present a solid front, combining with the religious issue the unjust and damnable treatment given them by those who traffic in human rights. And Baptists will not be deserted by their brethren of other denominations."

The editorial pointed to other situations which it said also bring religion into the campaign forefront.

See Blessing in Disguise.

"The injection of the religious issue promises to be a blessing in disguise," it stated. "It will make it possible for the people to put an end to practices that have brought dishonor to the nation. It will help end the rule of prize ring bouncers, squelch the power of political leeches who traffic in the lives of men out of jobs and make it easier to banish a group which has led this nation into a moral toboggan."

The Northern Baptist convention, representing 1,500,000 members, will meet at Atlantic City, N. J., May 21. The Southern convention, representing nearly 4,500,000 Baptists, meets at Baltimore, Md., on June 12, and the National [colored] convention, with nearly 4 million members, meets in Birmingham, Ala., in September. Fifteen other Baptist conventions, with an aggregate of half a million members, meet during the summer.

BUCKNER, FRAUD PROMOTER, WEDS SOCIETY SINGER

New York, April 1 (AP).—The wedding of Society Singer Adelaide Moffett to William P. Buckner Jr., who is about to go to prison for mail fraud, startled New York's café society today.

"I have a long time to wait before I can live with my wife," said Buckner, in the federal detention house awaiting transfer to the Lewisburg, Pa., penitentiary to serve an 18 month sentence.

"I ain't a-talkin'," said Miss Moffett, blonde daughter of James A. Moffett, former Federal Housing administrator and Standard Oil company official.

The wedding took place Feb. 8 in Danville, Va., with a short honeymoon at Miami, Fla., friends said. At various times Buckner has been described as the suitor of several glamor girls, including Motion Picture Actress Loretta Young. References to a champagne and chorus girl lobby figured in his trial in the Philippine railway bond conspiracy case, in which he was convicted of mulcting holders of defaulted bonds.

Bridegroom Loses His Job; Found Dead of Gas Fumes

Merle Peterson, a bridegroom of three months, was found dead of automobile exhaust fumes last night in the garage behind his home at 3205 Clarence avenue, Berwyn. His head was near the exhaust pipe and the doors were closed. Peterson's bride, Mrs. Charlotte Peterson, said her husband, who was 43 years old, had lost his position as a traffic manager last Saturday because his firm changed ownership.

NELSON ASSAILED BY DITCHBURNE AS OPPORTUNIST

Shift from Democratic Ranks Cited.

Harry S. Ditchburne, candidate for the Republican nomination for state's attorney, directed his fire last night against his principal opponent, Judge Oscar F. Nelson of the Superior court. Judge Nelson was accused of being a political opportunist who would be a perfect target for attack in the November election.

Ditchburne spoke over the radio and appeared later with other candidates before a joint meeting of the League of Women Voters of Oak Park and the Oak Park Civic league. At the meeting he outlined his qualifications for office and promised to sever the alliance between crime and politics.

Cites Democratic Record.

"My opponent, Judge Nelson, was a Democrat for a long time," declared Ditchburne, a former assistant state's attorney. "In fact, he holds his judgeship by grace of the Democratic party, altho he ascended the Superior court bench as a Republican satisfactory to the Democrats on a coalition ticket in 1935.

"Before that time he was an alderman for 12 years. Just before that he had held positions under a Democratic governor and a Democratic president, first as a factory inspector and later as a labor conciliator."

Cites Labor Link.

Ditchburne then cited what he said was Judge Nelson's long and profitable connection with the labor movement. This part of his career, Ditchburne said, included being attorney and president of the Flat Janitors' union, an official of the international organization of building employés, and vice president of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

"He turned Republican about the time a former Republican mayor came back in 1927 and was his floor leader in the city council," said Ditchburne. "He became a Republican ward committeeman soon after that and now that he is a judge his bailiff is ward committeeman in name, but the judge does most of the negotiating and usually holds the proxy and always the power.

Questions Real Allegiance.

"Make up your mind whether this candidate, who has held political office ever since 1914 and always has had a comfortable income from other sources outside his public offices, who once ran for congress as a Democrat, and has since run once on the Republican ticket [for sanitary trustee in 1928] and was defeated, is a Democrat or Republican.

"He is a mind changer par excellence. We want Republicans on our ticket this year of 1940 to carry on our fight against the New Deal. A real Republican state's attorney might be of considerable embarrassment to the New Deal Tammany machine that has been in power so long. What could you expect of my opponent? My Republicanism is unassailable."

Ditchburne vowed to rid Cook county of all forms of racketeering, including goon murders and election fraud. In his office, during the day, he signed a pledge to this effect in the presence of Mrs. Dagmar Hvid, widow of Marinus Hvid, a north side garage owner who was slain Dec. 27 by goons during a controversy with a trade association and a labor union.

1940 G. O. P. VOTE CALLED A GREAT PATRIOTIC RIGHT

The opportunity of voting Republican in 1940 is the greatest patriotic privilege in America today, Orville L. Anderson, candidate for the Republican nomination for congressman at large, asserted last night. He spoke before the Republican Women's club of Will county at Joliet.

"The Republican party," said Anderson, a Joliet newspaper editor, "offers a job in private industry, full assurance that our youth shall not die in battle on a foreign field, at least 75 cent corn and 50 cent oats for Illinois farmers, a pledge that no one will be permitted to starve, a pledge that taxes will be lowered and the cost of government cut, and assurance that regimentation of business, industry, labor, and society will cease."

SENATORS URGED TO DELAY CANADA SEAWAY TREATY

Illinois' two Democratic senators were urged yesterday to aid in delaying senate consideration of the proposed St. Lawrence seaway treaty with Canada until the state has an opportunity to protect the interests of the Illinois waterway system thru a new congress.

Robert M. Woodward.

This action was recommended by members of the Illinois house of representatives committee on waterways at a public hearing in the county building.

The committee also adopted a resolution asking Gov. Horner or Lieut. Gov. John Stelle to include in any call for a special session of the legislature consideration of the St. Lawrence seaway treaty; the Parsons bill, now before congress, which would raise the amount of water diversion at the mouth of the Chicago river from the present prescribed rate of 1,500 cubic feet per second to 5,000; and needed funds for completion of sewage treatment by the sanitary district.

Fears "Pegging" of Flow.

The proposed seaway treaty with Canada, Representative Robert M. Woodward of the 29th district, chairman, declared, would peg the diversion definitely at 1,500 cubic feet per second, forestalling all efforts of the state to have this changed. This rate, a reduction of 3,500 cubic feet, was established by the United States Supreme court in a case which the state is seeking to reopen.

Charles S. Dewey, Republican candidate for congress from the 9th district, who spoke as a member of the executive committee of the commercial club, also attacked the treaty. He said it was extremely unwise of the government to consider making a treaty with any country engaged in war as Canada is.

Assails Senators' Attitude.

"It appears," said Representative Woodward, "that our two United States senators [Scott W. Lucas and James M. Slattery], instead of urging opposition to the treaty, prefer to follow the wishes of President Roosevelt and hang onto his coat tails."

The matter of more funds for the sanitary district was raised by Paul Pomeroy, attorney for the committee. He said he was informed that after May 1 the district will not have sufficient funds to treat sewage at all of its plants.

New Deal Remedy Is Worse than Disease, Says Church

Washington, D. C., April 1 [Special].—Representative Ralph E. Church, candidate for the Republican nomination in Illinois for United States senator, asserted in a radio address tonight that the New Deal's quack shot in the arm remedies for the nation's economic ills were worse than the disease.

The speech, seventh in a campaign series by Representative Church, was broadcast over station WLS and a network of downstate stations. He said that the New Deal, altho unable to control the nation's press, is maintaining a huge propaganda mill in an effort to control news at the source and mislead the public as to the effect of its nostrums.

Explains Lag in Recovery.

Pointing out that the United States lagged in 17th position among the nations of the world in achieving economic recovery, Church said:

"There is nothing fundamentally wrong with America. She is basically and constitutionally sound. America has failed to recover and has remained in a prostrate condition simply because those charged with her care have imported and applied a quack remedy known as New Dealism.

"This remedy for our depression ills has consisted of a series of major operations and repeated hypodermic stimulants—all admitted by the Chief Physician to be experiments.

"A short rest period, known as a 'breathing spell,' would be permitted between operations, during which we noted recovery gains. But then another experimental operation would be performed. Then another expensive stimulant would be given.

Finds Vitality Is Missing.

"Each new operation and each new stimulant invariably brought additions to the New Deal hospital staff. The cure has been worse than the disease. Our economic system lacks vitality, our farmers fail to obtain parity prices, business remains lifeless, unemployment continues. We are suffering from an overdose of New Dealism."

Representative Church said the New Deal counted on public hypnotism thru propaganda to get the nation to swallow its pills. He stated that in 1939 the New Deal agencies mailed 971,000,000 pieces of mail under frank at a postage loss of $38,000,000. This represented an increase of $29,000,000 for the year over the cost of federal agency postage in 1932, he said.

Church predicted that if congress curtailed the growing dissemination of government propaganda, and that if the nation turned from the economic quackery of the New Dealers, recovery would proceed with new life to great conquests under Republican leadership.

Evidence Sticks Out Like Sore Thumb; John Fined

John Dacey, 825 South Leavitt street, told Judge J. M. Braude yesterday that he couldn't remember what happened Saturday night after he had drunk wine, whisky and beer at a wedding celebration. Policeman John Fiedoral said he could remember: Dacey bit Fiedoral's thumb when the policeman tried to break of a three man fight at Halsted and Taylor streets. The policeman offered the bandaged digit as evidence. Judge Braude said the fine would be $5.

FIND YOUNG LAW GRADUATES MAP NLRB DECISIONS

Average Age 29; Inquiry Bares Misconduct.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 1. — The juvenile jurists [average age 29] who comprise the review or appellate division of the National Labor Relations board were arraigned today for lack of experience, limited qualifications, and a prejudiced viewpoint in a majority report of the Smith committee investigating administration of the Wagner act.

Bernard Freund [top] and Solomon Lippman

The committee summed up the evidence gathered in questioning 19 of the 105 young men and women in the review section and in an examination of board files. So many irregularities were disclosed that an urgent need for a change in the system is indicated, the committee reported.

The committee was astonished when it discovered that youthful lawyers, just out of law school—many with no court experience—were being entrusted with labor dispute cases involving great industries and hundreds of thousands of workers.

Actual Authors of Decisions.

The review attorneys are charged with the task of giving to the board an oral summary of the evidence in each case to be decided by the board. Supposedly, the committee stated, this summary is the result of an examination of the pleadings, transcript of testimony, exhibits, trial examiner's findings, and the briefs. The review attorneys actually write the decisions of the board, the committee report said.

"All of these review attorneys," the committee noted, "are now members of the bar, but the amount of their actual trial experience prior to their employment with the board has been exceedingly limited. Very few have had any substantial court experience. The majority had no trial experience. There was a palpable lack of any kind of experience that would constitute a qualification for competent review of legal problems arising from labor relations under the act."

Hired for "Liberal" Views.

The one characteristic which overcame the limitations of these young judges, in the opinion of the labor board, was their possession of a proper "liberal viewpoint."

Recommendations found in the board files which led to the employment of the review attorneys stressed "a liberal point of view, turned left" in one case.

In another a young attorney was hired because he had "strong social consciousness" and another for having the "right instinct."

The committee recalled the case of Bernard J. Freund, who was criticized as not being worth $50 a month as a lawyer. He got a job at $2,400 a year, however, because he was the nephew of Ben Cohen, of the White House advisory team of Corcoran and Cohen.

One Admits His Failings.

Another review attorney, Solomon G. Lippman, was accused of "gross misconduct" in the handling of a case as a trial attorney. Lippman's own admission was that he had "overstepped my mark. . . . My approach was that of a prosecutor who is anxious to convict because I was convinced of the overwhelming righteousness of our cause." In spite of this evidence, Lippman was promoted to the review division and his compensation later raised to $3,000 yearly.

Under the heading "misconduct of review attorneys" the committee reported that it found evidence that these lawyers had consulted the "informal files" of the board in addition to reviewing the legal evidence. The informal files contain argumentative material, showing clear bias and prejudice, the committee declared.

Young Woman Reverses Board.

In one instance, according to the report, a young woman review attorney, having been instructed by the board to draft a tentative decision along certain lines, had taken the case into her own hands and drafted a different decision.

Another reviewer, also a young woman, not only went outside the official record but solicited information as to what a witness at a hearing would have testified to had he been permitted to testify!

"In most instances," the committee reported, "the review attorney is the only person who reads the entire record. Of necessity, his comments before the board have a certain conclusiveness—based upon his exclusive knowledge of the transcript—to which the views of an inexperienced person might not be entitled in the decision of an agency charged with the determination of nationally important issues.

"The fact that Dr. William M. Leiserson, the member of the board possessing the greatest experience in deciding the delicate situations arising from labor disputes, has refused to utilize this method in reaching his decisions is a powerful indictment of the system.

Want Juveniles Replaced.

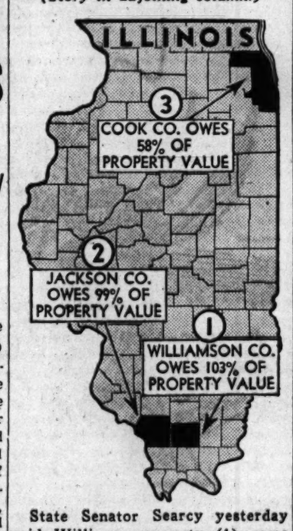
"A criticism that the committee deems justifiable in the light of the testimony is that the work of the review division exemplifies a form of duplication, constituting in some measure at least an unnecessary and burdensome expense to the taxpayers.

"The 1940 budget of the labor board reveals that the trial examining division is allotted only $200,100, while the review division accounts for an expenditure of $312,609."

In this connection, several congressmen have proposed that the $312,609 paid out in salaries to the 105 young reviewers could be better employed by discharging most of the present staff, slashing the force in half and hiring 50 or more experienced and competent lawyers who could be paid salaries averaging more than $5,000.

The Debt Load

(Story in adjoining column.)



State Senator Searcy yesterday said Williamson county (1) owes more to the federal government on the basis of present national debt than total value of property in the county. The share of debt of Jackson county (2) and Cook county (3) also was mentioned.

Operators of 18 Buildings Promise to Curb Smoke

Frank Chambers, head of the city smoke abatement department, said yesterday that 18 or 21 building operators cited over the week-end for excessive chimney smoke promised to coöperate and reduce the nuisance. The remaining three failed to report for hearings at the city hall and will be served with second notices. Sixteen building operators have been notified to appear today to answer excess smoke charges.

CHARGES 3D TERM SONGS ARE SUNG IN SELF-DEFENSE

State Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, Republican candidate for the nomination for lieutenant governor, charged last night that ringmasters of the New Deal, whether or not their offices have escaped public scandal, have joined in a third term paean, "Not for uplift, but in self-defense."

Earl B. Searcy.

He spoke at a massmeeting in the 18th ward. Earlier in the day, in a statement based on a survey he is making, Senator Searcy asserted that at least one Illinois county [Williamson] owes more to the federal government on the basis of the present national debt than is represented in total assessed valuations on taxable property within that county.

A Reason for the Chorus.

"Every New Dealer of national note is singing the same theme," declared Senator Searcy. "Those whose skirts have not been publicly besmirched want four more years of racketized prosperity at the expense of the taxpayers. Those whose careers have run into explosions of graft, corruption, and scandal want to keep out of jail. So hand in hand they all sing the theme of a third term for Roosevelt.

"Some months ago Secretary Ickes had little but blasphemous comment when discussing the Chicago city hall machine. He couldn't stand the Illinois Tammany's uncouth and racketeering practices. Now, however, he condones by inference not only the city hall but the Horner machine in Springfield, with its slush fund scandals and its obvious incompetence."

Computes Debt Shares.

In his survey Senator Searcy computed that the state's share of the national debt, which he figured at $2,760,000,000, was equal to 52 per cent of the state's total assessed valuation of all taxable property within Illinois —$5,158,169,601 in 1938, the latest year for which official state tax commission figures were available.

"Williamson county has a population of approximately 55,000 persons and about one-fifth of the people live on farms. Its 1938 assessed valuation was $17,190,299, but its share of the debt is $18,975,000, approximately 103 per cent of its total assessed valuation.

"Cook county, most populous of the state, owes 58 per cent of its assessed valuation to the federal government for debt. Its assessments totaled $3,370,796,972, and, on the basis of four million population, it owes the federal government $1,380,000,000."

TRIAL DATES SET IN ST. CHARLES STRIKE VIOLENCE

New trial dates were set by tribunals in two counties yesterday in connection with violence growing out of the strike at the St. Charles Manufacturing company, producer of sheet metal fixtures. Two American Federation of Labor unions of machinists and blacksmiths called the walkout in St. Charles.

In Wheaton, Du Page county, Justice of the Peace W. H. Johnson granted a continuance until April 11 in the cases of 14 men charged with assault. The continuance was asked by Attorney Frank A. McCarthy, who also appeared before the Kane County Circuit court in Geneva in behalf of the 14 men and 18 others who have been cited for contempt of court in connection with alleged violation of an injunction prohibiting violence and intimidation. These cases were for hearing April 15 by Judge Frank Shepherd, who granted the injunction.

Walter MacNeille, secretary of the St. Charles company, will be arraigned in Wheaton today on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. He is accused of firing tear gas into the face of one of the strikers who attacked his car in Du Page county on March 21.

There's News for you in a Bottle!

All over town this very minute, men are gathered in groups of two or three or more... seeing, testing, appraising.
Join them—and discover something that will change all your ideas about how delightfully different a bottle of beer can be.
There are events in every man's life that call for the finest beverage the world affords, when nothing else will do, and for these great occasions, there is today an even finer Schlitz.
Wherever or whenever you drink it you'll find it fresh and lively and full of flavor. For this great beer is completely protected from the effect of air, from the time it leaves the brewery till the moment you lift the cap.
And that's an important thing. For air attacks beer's flavor—gives it a flat, dead taste. By means of the Schlitz special air-exclusion process, air is removed from the bottle an instant before the beer goes in.
The Schlitz that foams into your glass has the same full-fledged flavor it had the day it left the brewery!
But why read about it, when you can be drinking it? Your bottle is waiting now.
Come and get it!
Your First Glass—
will tell you all the news about this even finer Schlitz: You don't have to get used to the taste. Drink your first bottle of Schlitz carefully, searchingly, critically. Sip it slowly, so you'll get the fine quality of its famous flavor. After that you'll know — once and for all — that beer can be a better beverage than you ever believed.
Note the new cream, gold and brown label on the famous brown bottle.

THE THIRD TERM "OR ELSE."

Mr. Paul V. McNutt, the Social Security administrator, must be reading the reports of the activities of the internal revenue department in Indiana with more interest than any other of a number of highly interested persons, not only in Indiana, where concern would be the greatest, but also in other parts of the country where Democratic politicos are smart enough to come to their own conclusions.

Guy T. Helvering, commissioner of internal revenue, has not made an official secret of the fact that his investigators have been in Indiana examining the record of the 2 per cent club, whose collections Mr. McNutt, when he was governor, endeavored to give the form of state law. Mr. Helvering said that the investigation was nearly completed and that he hoped it would be possible to give out a statement on results. His authority, however, does not extend that far, and if there is news it must come from some one else.

The internal revenue investigators not only follow their own clews in search of undeclared income but will go where they are sent. They are not accused of making political use of their discoveries, but other federal authorities can do so. In Louisiana the department of justice, then under Mr. Cummings, took possession of the material gathered and used it to bring the Huey Long boys into line with the New Deal. Later it was used to send them to the pen.

Mr. McNutt, who is for both Mr. McNutt for a first term and Mr. Roosevelt for a third, will naturally assume that this annoying business about his Indiana slush fund and the individual income tax returns is intended to make him more of a third than a first termer.

Along with a great many other people, Mr. McNutt must have observed that when any one in the Washington family reveals a desire to wear the coattails himself something happens to him which suggests that he is making a mistake. He may be shunted from a place where he is in the news to one where he isn't; the federal bureau of investigation may move in on him; he may get a hint of something going on in the department of justice; he may find that the internal department inspectors have been seen around his political haunts, or that Mr. John Rogge of Mr. Jackson's staff has registered at a hotel in his state capital.

Apparently the unpleasant things which can happen to a New Deal politico following an investigation by one or another department of government are unlimited.

Here in Illinois the ecstasies regarding the third term are so strange to the tepid natures of a number of ordinary cool and fish eyed Democratic practitioners that even the political magic of the charmed name does not explain them. The faithful in this state have worked themselves up into a state of mind which might suggest that the two little words "or else" have been mentioned in their hearing. Federal proceedings in the courts and in investigations here and there would not add much to the peace of politicians who had a great deal on their minds

The fact is to be observed that, aside from the devout adoration of Our Dear Stalin in Russia, Illinois New Dealers are showing the world's most doglike admiration of a great chief. Nowhere is there a greater determination that the nation shall have the blessing of the third term. The boys may not be protesting too much to suit Washington, but they are arousing the curiosity of people who don't know what it is all about.

Mr. McNutt may feel that both his collar and his shoes are uncomfortably tight these days, but he is not the only one. Offhand, a person would find it hard to recall a time when Democratic politicos seemed to be so fidgety under the scrutiny of the secret police. There seems to have been a great deal of domiciliary visitation. The fellow who walks by the house every now and then is probably somebody from the Gay Pay Oo. What a state of nerves the third term is putting everybody in.

TELEVISION AND THE EXPERIMENTAL PUBLIC.

One reason the Federal Communications commission gave for the order stopping or restricting the sale of television sets was that neither the instruments nor the service had developed to a point which would be satisfactory to the buyers. There will be further hearings on this decision and they will be held, presumably, with a mind to the recent decision of the Supreme court holding that the commission has no authority to regulate the business of its licensees, to control their programs, their management, or policy.

In that decision it would appear that if the producers and the radio stations want to adventure in the field of television they may do so, and that under the law the commission has no authority to prevent it. Even without such limitation on the commission's power to make rules, the order against television was shortsighted. It ignored an important factor in the development of new products, new services, and new uses. There has always been an adventurous and experimental element in the buying public, willing to go step by step with the producers in freshly explored fields of industry. Without these individual experiments, nearly all great discoveries which have increased the wealth of the country and broadened the lives of its people would have had a much harder time in the beginning.

The first automobile makers encountered general skepticism and derision, but there were enough eager citizens determined to make that contraption work and willing to spend their money, laugh off the ridicule of their neighbors, and take any other risks required. They were as valuable as the engineers, mechanics, and adventuresome investors in hastening the development of the automobile as a dependable vehicle. The majority of the people laughed and stood aside, but the first enthusiasts had the time of their lives. Breakdowns were only a part of the game which they enjoyed. They didn't think they had wasted their money in buying the first models which would soon be obsolete.

That has been the history of nearly everything in common use in American life today. The new types of fuel burners when they were first introduced required the adventurous few for their use. The owners of some of the early burners took chances with frozen water pipes and basement fires. Radio itself, to which television is being added, was at first a thing so crude that only the experimental type of customer would bother with it. That experimental type was delighted to do so and probably no user of the present satisfactory receiving sets gets any more enjoyment out of them than the fellow who tinkered around with something which much of the time made strange noises.

It is not astonishing that the Federal Communications commission should act burocratically. That's the way burocracy acts. But it is off on a particularly unreasonable bent when it assumes that it is protecting the buying public by not allowing television and radio to push a new service at this time. The customers who will buy the sets will do so thinking they get their money's worth, however crude the instruments may be and however raw the stage of development is just now.

There are people who welcome stuttering, stumbling inventions of what are to be future greats and have the time of their lives following the progress by being in at every stage. They like it and their enthusiasms and fresh interests give a new industry just what it needs. The idea of stopping this, particularly in an alleged public interest, which is just the opposite of what it is conceived to be by the burocrats, would seem to represent quite a high spot in interference with the best sort of private enterprise.

WHOSE AMBASSADOR?

Mr. Bullitt is an ambassador—but from whom to whom? His post seems to be Washington. Is he accredited by Mr. Lebrun to Mr. Roosevelt, or is it the other way around? If that point is to be settled by character of services, Mr. Lebrun has two ambassadors in Washington, of whom Mr. Bullitt is the most active and the best getter.

One of his missions to America was to procure planes for the French and British. When a new type bomber crashed in a flight with a French inspector the country learned that the ambassador had been successful.

According to the papers represented as documents from the Polish state archives in Warsaw Mr. Bullitt, when not acting as procurement agent for French military supplies in Washington, was there advising the Polish ambassador and anticipating the time when American engineers would be building new docks in French ports for the landing of men and the unloading of material from the United States.

"MUST" AS AN ADJECTIVE.

In his St. Louis speech the other day Thomas E. Dewey made effective use of the phrase, "must legislation," which has become current under the New Deal. By 1936, said Mr. Dewey, "must legislation had become a habit. There were to be must decisions by the Supreme court of the United States."

Each political era produces its characteristic words and phrases, many of which take their permanent place in the language. Familiar examples are mugwump, filibuster, steamroller. The use of "must" as an adjective was the New Deal's contribution to the language of politics, a contribution which reflects the dictatorial trend of the régime.

Mr. Roosevelt or one of his associates once protested that he hadn't introduced the word, and this may well be true. Much more probably it came from one or another of the reporters in Washington because the use of "must" in this way is part of the trade jargon of the newspaper business. The application of the word to the President's legislative program was, however, particularly apt.

When an editor wishes to make certain that a particular item will be published in the next day's paper, and that it will not be omitted on any account, he marks that item "must." Generally speaking, the better the newspaper, the fewer the "must" stories. It is characteristic of a "must" story that it has little news value. It is marked "must" precisely because the chance of its being left out in the ordinary course of news selection and appraisal is high. Real news never has to be marked "must."

The analogy to Mr. Roosevelt's legislative program is very close. He had marked "must" on certain bills, like the Guffey coal bill, because he knew that congressmen, if the matter had been left to their own judgment, would have allowed such legislation to die in committee. There was no popular demand for the "must" legislation and much of it was transparently impractical and unworkable and likely to deepen the depression. The only way Mr. Roosevelt could get that kind of law into the statute books was to intimate that he would revenge himself upon any member of congress who dared to defy the presidential will. In fact, Mr. Roosevelt did attempt to purge the congressmen who had the courage to obey their own consciences rather than his "must" orders.

WHERE TULIPS BLOOM IN PEACE.

[Detroit Free Press.]

War and preparations for or against war cast beauty aside when it conflicts with their objectives.

A reminder of that unpleasant fact was given by the consul general of the Netherlands in New York this week, when he said that his country's defense preparations would necessitate reducing its tulip acreage 50 per cent.

We hope it may be some consolation to the people of the Netherlands to know that another Holland, far from turbulent Europe, will shortly hold an annual tulip festival on the shores of Lake Michigan, where neither wars nor rumors of war will affect the spectacle.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

JUKE-BOX AND GAZEBO.

The reporters who have been writing the "juke-box" stories inform us that this slang term for a slot machine phonograph is fairly new to them. They agree that its ancestry is Afro-American and that it seems to have sprung from low-down southern gin mills, where "juke" is either the name for the joint or for booze served in that joint, or for the dancing practiced in the aforesaid joint. Any etymologists who beg to differ are invited to take the witness stand.

Maybe "juke" is the singular form of Jukes, the notorious family of half-wits, imbeciles, morons, and public burdens which serves as a dreadful example in textbooks on sociology and eugenics. This name was invented as a pseudonym to protect the tribe from scorn; R. L. Dugdale, who studied the family's ramifications, thought that such a disguise was necessary. The Kallikaks, sociological rivals of the Jukes, also bear a false name, and this gives us an idea: In spring practice baseball games, why should the two sides not be entitled "the Jukes" and "the Kallikaks"?

* * *

At the flower show on Navy Pier one may see a gazebo, and this word for a gazing place in a rustic environment arouses attention. Few Americans have ever heard it spoken, and the dictionary gives two pronunciations but favors "ga-ZEE-bo."

American slang contains the word "gezaibo," one of many synonyms for "guy." It seems to us that when a stout old country gentleman is found surveying the landscape from a summer house on his domain it would be a fine stroke of description to speak of him as "a gezaibo in a gazebo."

FIRST BIRDSONG.

I hear the lilt of song upon the air,
A slender fringe of jade along the tree
Is quivering with bursts of ecstasy,
For silver notes of birdsong linger there.
What magic wonder lies in music, where
A song may turn a mystic golden key
Which sets the witchery of springtime free,
To work upon the heart and banish care.
Enchanting spell! When bluebird's trillings float,
They clear the air of misery and wrong;
The music from a little feathered throat
Can melt the coldest heart, and make it long
To pause and listen for each mellow note—
Then, for an instant, life becomes a song.

The Rural Merry-Go-Round.

Culled from the Braidwood [Ill.] Index:

"Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yatuni and family moved to their farm home Saturday. Albert McKnight moved into the Yatuni home and Curly Vignocchi is moving where McKnight moved from and then Mose Treasure will move into the home vacated by Curly Vignocchi and family." Ima Dyhard.

[Tell us who moved into Mose's place before we go nuts.]

The Modern Galahad.

When Prexy Hutchins defended himself against the charge of being a Sir Galahad by quoting Tennyson, he forgot something. To be sure, the poet has Sir Galahad saying:

My strength is as the strength of ten
Because my heart is pure.

But the two preceding lines are:

My good blade carves the casques of men,
My tough lance thrusteth sure.

How about some carving and thrusting on Stagg field next fall, Prexy? O, pardon us; we forgot.

"MEET ME WITH THE CAR."

At the dark suburban station
With a look of sad frustration
Husbands wait for transportation.

Wives are all at circle meeting
Playing bridge and sitting, eating,
Some late anecdote completing.

Six o'clock! The whistle blowing
Causes glances, worried, knowing,
Search for wraps and hurried going.

Wives arrive, apologetic;
Dinner hour is weird and hectic.

Casual.

A Couple of Fine Museum Pieces.

We journeyed far out along the north shore to see an antique belonging to a friend of ours. It stands above his fireplace alongside of several gold trophies won in golf matches. It's a bottle of near-beer, Fort Pitt Pilsener, still in its virgin state, capped and full. It has the "less than one-half of 1 per cent" line on it, of course. Our friend has varnished it nicely and there it stands—a relic of another era.

He also has a pint of prohibition gin, the drug store variety. That's all sealed up, too, and tucked away in the bottom of his cedar chest. He has grandiose plans to crack out with it when some grand occasion arises, such as the marriage of his 5 year old daughter. S'nice thought.

A Small Problem in Slang.

A columnist on the Detroit Free Press is worrying over the meaning and origin of the slang expression, "Michigan bank roll." He quotes a slang dictionary ["a roll of stage money with one genuine bank note on the outside"] and adds, "I always had an idea it meant a roll of one dollar bills, flashed to make a good impression."

In Chicago, a "Michigan bank roll" means a large wad of one dollar bills with a note of larger denomination on the outward and visible side. It originated, undoubtedly, among oldtime gamblers. Why the fair name of the state of Michigan has been thus besmirched is a mystery. The phrase is no longer in common use, because any kind of a bank roll is not to be sneered at in this lean and haggard era.

If the Linemaster begins to spend money like a drunken sailor, here's the answer: He has been invited to help a Mexican out of jail and to receive as his reward one-third of $285,000 in United States currency, now hidden in a secret compartment in a trunk in a customs house.

COLD REPEATERS.

THERE are certain individuals who are victims of recurring colds. Beginning in the autumn, one bout succeeds another with but few days of comfort in between. The "snuffles," bleary eyes, and inflamed mucous surfaces within the air passages characterize each episode. It is only with the coming of spring that more outdoor air and sunshine herald a respite.

Now, the chances are that the infection is no more virulent, but that the resistance of these individuals is depleted. This means that every plan designed to raise reserve should be utilized. Not infrequently a low grade sinus involvement will be responsible for keeping up the fire. Enough toxins may be absorbed from this source to prevent the system from giving decisive battle to the malady. That something of this sort is going on is indicated by the fact that most of these patients will complain of fatigue more or less constantly. They drag about—performing their household and other duties with indifference.

The important question is, what can be done? Relief is imperative because the work output suffers and the afflicted person is really in misery. Ofttimes a temperature taken in late afternoon will approximate 100 degrees Fahrenheit. To do a good job, it should be clear that bed rest is necessary—at least for a week. A well balanced diet is then planned, with full recognition that a vitamin deficiency may be present. With others, anemia may require correction. Some will demand reinforcements. For these, milk between meals, added vitamins, and the use of ultraviolet rays will be helpful. This is one of the occasions when forcing nutriment will be of value and it may be wise to stimulate appetite with a mild tonic.

Vaccines—prepared from the patient's own private "bugs"—have a place, and their administration may bring to the fore latent defense powers that have not been active. At any rate, small doses—increasing the strength of the injections gradually—have been employed with success. This procedure is recommended whenever a careful search fails to reveal a focus of infection that can be removed.

As an illustration of the influence of pus absorption, the case is reported of an 18 year old girl, who for two years had been burdened with "colds" consistently—between October and May. It was decided to inaugurate the rest cure and 10 days in bed witnessed the retreat of all acute manifestations. A tonsil examination, however, disclosed that the crypts of these organs were harboring bacteria. After a preparatory rebuilding period, they were extirpated. This winter she has been entirely free from the slightest symptom.

But we must not forget that many of these patients are victims of allergy. In other words, the swelling of the nasal mucosa is the result of a violent reaction to some food or other irritant in the environment. If no nest of germs can be found it is well always to check for sensitivity as relief may follow such a simple adjustment as omitting eggs from the diet or substituting cotton for wool clothing.

Protection against inclement weather is essential, as many will invite these sieges thru chilling. Dashing out for lunch—it is only a block—without head covering, without waiting to don a cloak or overcoat—may lead to just enough congestion to encourage the growth of a virus already in the air passages. Sitting for several hours in a drafty spot or with cold feet and legs cannot fail to bring about a loss of body heat.

Just because spring is coming on we need not assume that all our troubles will vanish automatically. The same rule holds in all seasons—namely, when stamina drops lower than the drains upon it—derangements will come in some guise. However, if one has spent a rather miserable winter, more sunshine and exercise will aid well being.

PEPTIC ULCERS.

H. E. W. writes: Since reading your article on hives I have been wondering whether these lesions might not appear on the mucous membrane of the stomach and duodenum, thus causing a peptic ulcer.

REPLY.

Your observation is entirely logical. Hives are known to appear in the throat, interfering with breathing and swallowing. Inasmuch as the condition subsides rather promptly—usually within 24 hours or less—there may not be time enough for the formation of an ulcer. The point you make, however, could well be investigated further.

KIDNEY DISORDER.

M. S. writes: Several of my friends have been discussing nephritis and there seems to be a difference of opinion as to just what it is. Will you set us right?

REPLY.

Nephritis is characterized by a large amount of swelling and the excretion of generous quantities of albumin. The body is really suffering from protein starvation, hence feeding these elements [protein] will bring improvement. In nephritis [Bright's disease] the changes involve particularly the blood vessels and the filtering apparatus of the kidneys.

HEART MURMUR.

A. S. writes: 1. Is it possible to diagnose a heart murmur with the stethoscope? 2. Is an electrocardigraph necessary?

REPLY.

1. Yes.
2. The electrocardiogram supplies a record of the behavior and the power of the heart. It will point to the state of the muscle as well as the character of the contractions. It cannot identify a murmur.

Test Your Facts

Below each of the following questions are listed three answers. Make your choice, turn to page 32 in the Want Ad section for the correct answers, and mark your score:

1. What British islands in the South Atlantic control the Strait of Magellan?
[a] Galapagos, [b] Madagascar, [c] Falkland.
2. What bird is mentioned most frequently in the Bible?
[a] Dove, [b] eagle, [c] raven.
3. What is the legal voting age for a woman?
4. What was the home city of Melba, the great singer?
[a] Melbourne, Australia; [b] Oslo, Norway; [c] Edinburgh, Scotland.

STABILIZED CORN.

Urbana, Ill., March 28.—I have just listened to one of these New Deal optimists telling how they have stabilized the price of corn. I' piling up quantities of it out here on the prairies to rot in germinating season in makeshift storage bins while the taxpayers pay the bill. I guess they have it stablilized. It will smell like the stable in another month or so anyway. I have been connected with the grain business for a good many years, and I know you can't shell corn and keep it thru germinating season without employing some cooling process, and I have never heard that tin was a nonconductor of heat.

I never knew before that the farmers considered that 50 cents for corn was a price to write home about. Without the present lineup 70 cents was considered about right for the fellow that held his corn until planting time.

The government lends the farmers [I am one, only I don't borrow] 57 cents on his corn, but by the time the weevil and rodents get their keep off his crop he might have about 50 cents in it. I have a crib I keep corn in just to feed my limited stock, and you ought to see under it at the waste the rats have handed me, and as far as I know there was only one pair of old ones and seven young ones. I got those with about a dollar's worth of farm bureau rat dope.

Well, when the government sells the farmer's corn short to a buyer, one of the biggest in the country, who wants the grain, and when it can't deliver what it sold short, penalizes the buyer that was really a help to the farmer, one wonders what next? It used to be if you sold what was not yours you had to deliver or go to jail. Now it seems if you buy from government officials and they can't deliver they reverse the order and send you to jail. O, well, we are all supposed to start at the top of the ladder and work up.

FLORA MCATEE.

HAPPY FAMILY.

Blue Island, Ill., March 29.—It is not often that I am moved by anything in a newspaper to the extent of actually writing in about it, but the picture on the back page of yesterday's TRIBUNE is so appealing I can't refrain.

I'm talking about the picture where the mother with her two small children are gazing adoringly at the bedside of their injured policeman daddy. The photographer deserves to be complimented, for it is more than just a picture. In their four enthusiastic faces is reflected so much love and sweetness it is enough to make a previously contented stenographer kick her perfectly good typewriter all over the office!

JEAN.

GOLD AND THE DEBT.

Chicago, March 27.—Isn't the cartoon by Orr in today's paper rather misleading? Perhaps I am wrong, but I thought the 18 billions in gold constituted the only tangible reserve or security for the 45 billions of bonds, notes, and certificates which have accumulated as our very tangible liabilities.

If I am wrong, there are probably many thousands of your readers who are also wrong, so in that case please set us right. Of course it does seem as tho 18 billion was not much of a collateral for a 45 billion loan. You and I couldn't do it.

W. C. TRUMBOWER.

HUMILITY AND GREATNESS.

Phillips, Wis., March 25.—I wonder if it has ever come to the realization of his group of New Dealers that our President lacks the attribute that made our greatest national heroes truly great—the attribute of humility? There doesn't seem to be an atom of it in his makeup.

He should be reminded that Adam was the first man.

COUNSEL FOR THE DEFENSE.

Chicago, March 29.—Wherein is your correspondent, C. J. Kennedy, qualified to describe or criticize radio dance bands and music?

He evidently has not studied or investigated the music of which he complains or perhaps he needs a new radio. He can be assured that in either event, if he takes action, he will find that the dance band musician of today, by reason of superior musical training, understanding and study of the musical moods of the public, ability to perform efficiently in both dance and concert music, is capable of creating music in the style enjoyable to the general public. The popularity of the type of music so distortedly described by C. J. Kennedy belies any criticism which he has made.

MUSICIAN AND LAWYER.

WRONG AGAIN.

Gary, Ind., March 29.—I have not, of course, seen tomorrow morning's TRIBUNE yet, but I know that you—with your hatred of Roosevelt—are going to pick up the hottest propaganda potato yet laid and get your fingers burned. The headline tomorrow morning may run something like this: "Roosevelt Revealed in European Plot," or "Roosevelt Plot Revealed." We'll see how correct I am.

J. F. BOWEN.

NOT A NEW DEAL.

Evansville, Ind., March 26.—In reading the life of Thomas Paine I find that this distinguished fighter for liberty returned to the United States of America in 1803 because he was disgusted with trying to form a United States in Europe.

Just where and how did F. D. R. get the idea that he had something new? Maybe Napoleon was to head the new Union. Who knows?

BRUCE H. BEELER, M. D.

INTERESTING IF TRUE.

Chicago, March 29.—On Saturday evening, March 9, the police department was notified that a woman on the south side was very despondent and threatened suicide. In fact, the police were called twice. When they arrived at the woman's apartment she would not let them in, telling them she was all right. The police could easily have gotten in thru the bedroom window, or found some way of preventing this woman from taking her life. Twenty minutes after they left she was found dead. They said they could not enter the house without a warrant.

Just a few days ago the police received another frantic call. A mouse was loose somewhere in an apartment! The police managed to break into the apartment and save the young woman.

THIS CORRESPONDENCE IS CONCLUDED.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 29.—The attack of Jugo-Slav elements on the Hapsburgs was entirely unprovoked and no space should have been given it in your column. Such articles stir up hatred among Americans of different blood and political backgrounds.

No one who knows history can fail to appreciate the great beneficence of the Hapsburg dominion over the Danubian peoples. Wild and deceptive statements such as those made by a presumably responsible spokesman of some Slav elements cannot be allowed to pass unchallenged.

JOINT TENANCY PROPERTY.

Chicago, March 29 [Legal Friend of the People].—A and B have a two flat building in joint tenancy. They both have children by their previous marriages, none by the present marriage. Both former spouses are deceased.

Originally deed for building was held by A's first wife; upon her death [1] A assumed all responsibilities of building. Upon A's remarriage deed was made out to A and B in joint tenancy. Tax bills are still addressed in A's first wife's name. At present A and B occupy one flat of building—the other is rented.

2. In the event of the death of either A or B can either group of children claim any part of house or rental? All children are of age.

3. Would there be any advantage in A making a will to protect B?

4. In the event of A's death, would B be sole beneficiary?

5. Is there more than one type of joint tenancy?

6. Is it true of joint tenancy deed that if one party passed away property automatically reverts to the other party and a will is not necessary?

J. B.

1. The important point would seem to be whether he acquired the title rather than whether he assumed responsibility. We will assume that the title was in joint tenancy or that there were no children so that in either case the title came to him.

2. Not if the facts are such that A had a clear title at the time of his first wife's death.

3. As for as the joint tenancy property is concerned the will would accomplish nothing.

4. We do not understand the question.

5. No, but there are many ways in which a layman might understand the expression.

6. Yes.

LEASE RENEWAL.

Chicago, March 29 [Legal Friend of the People].—I am renting a flat from the HOLC. Nov. 1, 1939, [1] I renewed my lease for one year again and [2] they then mailed me my lease back.

3. Two months later they changed their mind. They want $5 more. I must sign another lease.

4. Could they do such a thing as to break my first lease?

5. They must raise in November, 1940, shouldn't they?

6. Shall I sign this second lease?

7. Where do I go for more information? My agent gives very little.

J. B.

1. This ought to mean that both parties signed. Later portions of your letter lead us to wonder whether you mean merely that you tendered a lease signed by you, which obviously would not amount to a completion of the renewal.

2. You do not state whether they mailed it back with their signatures.

3. If they signed the first lease, then they were not in a position to make a change during the term.

4. See 3.

5. We do not understand the question.

6. See preceding answers.

7. If you will give us the facts we can give you more information.

TODAY IN HISTORY

April 2, 1805.

Birthday of Hans Christian Andersen, Danish poet and fabulist, son of a poor shoemaker whose family lived in one room. He received a small traveling stipend from the king and his first published works were travel notes, farces, verse, and a novel. His fairy tales, first published in 1835, made a place for him in literary history, but until his death he continued to aspire to greatness either as a novelist or dramatist.

John Annes, a former Yale student, and son of James Annes, wealthy owner of a chain of restaurants, is expected to be a witness in the Felony court today in a robbery case involving a friend and an acquaintance as defendants.

They are Paul Labriola, 23 years old, friend and former schoolmate, and Martin Ochs, 27, an acquaintance. Labriola, a city employé, is the son of Paul A. Labriola, old 19th ward political leader who was assassinated in 1921.

Thru a strange set of circumstances, according to police, Annes became a witness to the holdup with which Ochs and Labriola are charged. Annes, who is 23, and lives at 60 Cedar street, is in technical custody as a witness.

Two Take $837 from Safe.

The robbery occurred last Wednesday night in the office of the National Baking company, 325 East 26th street. Two men pointed guns at James Glyman, the owner, walked straight to the safe, took out $837, and fled. In the office at the time was Annes. He had formerly been a salesman for Glyman.

Two days later police seized Labriola and Ochs as suspects. Glyman identified Ochs, but not Labriola. Police investigated Labriola, and discovered that he and Annes were old friends. Then they remembered that Annes was in the bakery office at the time of the holdup.

They seized Annes. He admitted knowing Labriola, saying that they attended the Morgan Park Military academy together.

Went Riding with Them.

Then Annes also admitted knowing Ochs, and in an amplification of his story named Ochs, but not Labriola, as one of the two bandits. The robbery, Annes declared, was a shock to him.

"I was out riding with Ochs and Labriola," police quoted him as saying. "They let me out of their car at 26th street and Michigan avenue, and I went up to borrow a few dollars from Mr. Glyman. Before I had a chance to ask him for some money, two men came in and robbed him. One was Ochs."

Annes denied to Assistant State's Attorney Leslie V. Curtis that he had any advance knowledge of the crime.

Ochs and Labriola, who have denied the robbery, were told of Annes' story.

They said they hadn't seen Annes for months.

A FRAIL WOMAN PUTS UP BATTLE; ROUTS 2 BANDITS

Miss Jean Carlson fought off two bandits yesterday and routed them empty handed from a candy store in which she is employed at 1420 Morse avenue. She was so severely beaten, however, that she was under a physician's care last night at her home, 413 Grand avenue, Park Ridge. Miss Carlson is 25 years old, blonde, and fragile.

She was alone in the shop when the bandits entered. One ordered her into the back room and when she refused to go he began pushing her. She scratched and kicked until he pushed her into the doorway. Seizing the casings with either hand, she continued kicking. The other bandit came back to help his companion. One of them struck Miss Carlson behind the ear with a gun. She only fought the harder and screamed for help. Realizing that passers-by might hear her, the gunmen gave up and fled, leaving the $10 that was in the till.

CONVICT FORMER POSTMASTER IN THEFT OF $1,000

Bohumil Plos, former postmaster of the town of Lyons, was found guilty in a bench trial by Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday of embezzling $1,000 in postoffice funds. The money was entrusted him in January, 1939, by Mrs. Jennie Nohava, 7834 White avenue, Lyons, for investment in government bonds. Plos admitted using part of it to finance his honeymoon to Hot Springs, Ark.

CASE OF BITTEN FINGER ON TRIAL IN NILES CENTER

Justice of the Peace Fred Kloman of Niles Center yesterday examined with interest the left hand of Mrs. Velma Jones, 30 years old, 1008 Oakwood avenue, Wilmette, when she appeared in court as a plaintiff. The distinguishing feature of the hand was the absence of the tip of a finger.

Della Stanwood.

Mrs. Jones maintains the finger tip was bitten off by Miss Della Stanwood, 48, 564 Green Bay road, Winnetka, during a mêlée in a Niles Center tavern in February. Miss Stanwood is on trial on a charge of mayhem.

After three hours of testimony, Judge Kloman continued the case until next Monday. At that time a jury will be impaneled to hear additional complaints and cross-complaints of assault and battery and disorderly conduct involving Miss Stanwood, Mrs. Jones, and the latter's husband, Harry, a pharmacist. Miss Stanwood's chief exhibit was not in evidence. But it had been a black eye.

106 FELONS GET PAROLES; RELEASE 44 FROM COUNTY

Paroles to 106 inmates of Illinois prisons were announced yesterday by the state parole board. Of the group 44 were sentenced from Cook county.

Among the parolees from Stateville prison are Victor Friberg, Fred F. Pepperdine and John Wojcik. Friberg, a real estate broker and former Republican precinct captain in the 16th precinct of the 42d ward, was sentenced Dec. 11, 1936, to 1 to 14 years for manslaughter with an automobile.

Pepperdine, a grain broker accused of taking $75,000 from 22 clients, has served two years of a 1 to 10 year sentence for embezzlement. Wojcik is getting his second parole. He was freed in May, 1935, after serving 14 months of a 1 to 20 year term for auto theft. He was returned to prison after his arrest in March, 1936, when a stolen taxicab he was driving crashed into a police squad car.

Last March 6 the parole board ordered the release of 108 criminals from the Joliet, Stateville, Menard and Pontiac prisons and the women's prison at Dwight.

ARRESTED FOR NASHVILLE POLICE.

John Waggoner, 27 years old, of Nashville, Tenn., was arrested last night in the Union bus terminal at Roosevelt road and Wabash avenue by Detective Timothy O'Connell, on the request of Nashville police.

Woman Gives Bond

Miss Bernice Downey, 1308 North Mayfield avenue, who had been a fugitive from a federal grand jury subpena since last summer, surrendered yesterday in the federal building and posted $10,000 bond on a charge of conspiracy to assist William R. Johnson, reputed operating head of the Skidmore-Johnson gambling syndicate, to evade payment of $1,877,664 in income tax.

Miss Downey, partner in a currency exchange at 3424 Lawrence avenue which the syndicate operated as a clearing house for gamblers' checks, was fashionably dressed. She was accompanied by her uncle, James A. Hartigan, reputed manager of one of the syndicate's gambling houses, who is named in the same indictment but already had posted bond.

Edward Wait, 6123 North Francisco avenue, described by federal agents as Johnson's right hand man, and Reginald E. Mackay of Elmhurst, reputed manager of a gambling house, also appeared and scheduled $10,000 bond. All 13 defendants in the indictment have surrendered and United States Attorney William J. Campbell said he would seek an early trial.

FINED IN POOR BOX THEFT.

M'GARRY BOND SCANDAL FIGURE GETS 1-10 YEARS

Salvatore Luna, 31 years old, of Gary, was sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary for grand larceny yesterday after he was found guilty by Judge James F. Fardy in a bench trial in the Criminal court. He entered a clothing store at 189 West Madison street with two companions last May 22, grabbed some suits, and fled.

The Municipal court bail bond scandal involving Judge Eugene L. McGarry was brought to light last fall when Luna skipped a $1,500 bond which had been approved by the judge. Investigation disclosed that a lot in Bellwood with an assessed valuation of $97 had been approved as bond by Judge McGarry in the Luna case and 55 other instances. Luna was later captured in Oklahoma City.

Filling Station Operator Shot in Battle with Bandit

Nick Reiter, 32 years old, part owner of a gasoline station at 443 West 111th street, was shot below the heart and seriously wounded last night in a gun fight with a bandit. The bandit struck him on the head when he resisted and then fired one shot. Reiter, altho wounded, drew his own gun and fired two shots at the robber as the latter escaped. Reiter, who lives at 11839 Perry avenue, was taken to the Roseland Community hospital.

Before you start your search, make up a list from the Tribune rental columns. It will save you many a step, and help you avoid disappointment. You will climb no stairs to see something which could not possibly interest you. You will waste no time searching thru the neighborhoods hoping to chance on an attractive apartment.

To get the apartment which will make you happiest, consult Chicago's all-price-range apartment directory — the Tribune want ad section.

To simplify your search, the Tribune classifies Apartments to Rent want ads by locations in the city and suburbs, and by numbers of rooms. This permits you to turn immediately to the group which offers apartments of the size and in the locality you prefer.

Because they get better results, apartment owners and rental agents place more Apartments to Rent want advertising in the Tribune than in all other Chicago newspapers combined. To reach Chicago's largest constant audience, call Superior 0100 and ask for a Want Ad-Viser.

EARLY GAS RATE REBATE PLANNED FOR CONSUMERS

Average to Be $8; High Court Bars Boost.

Machinery for distributing more than 6 million dollars in refunds to 800,000 domestic gas consumers in Chicago was put in motion yesterday by officials of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke compan.

The action followed dismissal by the United States Supreme court in Washington of the company's appeal for a rate increase amounting to approximately 3 million dollars a year. The dismissal ended a four year fight for the boost, which was denied by the Illinois Commerce commission in 1936 and subsequently was ruled out three times by the Illinois Supreme court.

The rate increase has been in effect, however, since Feb. 4, 1938, under a Circuit court injunction, and the funds realized by the increase, amounting to about 30 cents a month to the average householder have been impounded pending a final ruling.

Refunds to Average $8.

George A. Ranney, chairman of Peoples Gas, announced last night that refunds will be made and new lower rates put into effect as soon as possible. The average refund will amount to approximately $8.

Peoples Gas officials said the refunds probably will be made in cash by mailing checks to the householders, but release of the money first must be ordered by the Circuit court, which ordered the cash impounded. They said it will take several months to make the rebates because of the large amount of bookkeeping and clerical work involved.

Ranney issued the following statement on yesterday's court decision:

"The brief announcement today by the Supreme court of the United States that it will not review the opinion of the Illinois Supreme court naturally comes as a surprise and disappointment to the gas company.

Rates Termed Insufficient.

"The management has sincerely believed and continues to believe that the gas rates fixed by the Illinois Commerce commission are insufficient and contrary to the best interests of the company's securities holders and employés and detrimental to its service to the public. Until such time as the duly constituted authorities find that the lower rates are insufficient the company's revenues will remain inadequate.

By the refusal of the highest court to review the opinion of the Illinois Supreme court, that opinion now becomes final. The company accordingly will put into effect the lower rates and will take the necessary steps to begin refunding the impounded funds to customers as promptly as possible."

The high court's dismissal was made on the ground that no substantial federal question was involved in the rate case.

Hart Approves Decision.

William W. Hart, chairman of the Illinois Commerce commission, and Harry R. Booth, commission counsel, announced they were gratified that the commission's denial of the increase had been validated in the four year court fight. When the commission began to fight the increase, United States Senator James M. Slattery was chairman of the body.

In arguing its case before the commission and in the courts the company contended it was not receiving a fair return on its investment under the old rates. It argued that its return amounted to only 3.3 per cent on its property investment and that rates producing such a low return were confiscatory. This position was upheld by Circuit Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski, who issued a permanent injunction authorizing the higher rates Feb. 4, 1938, after extended testimony and a report by a special master in chancery.

Circuit Decision Reversed.

The Circuit court decision was reversed in February, 1939, by the state Supreme court. The state Supreme court upheld the commerce commission's contention that the old rates brought a net profit or return of more than 5 per cent and that this was not confiscatory.

In computing the return the company differed with the court on matters of valuation, depreciation, and operating expenses.

Yesterday's final denial of the rate increase had little effect on prices of Peoples Gas securities. In a mixed stock market, Peoples Gas stock declined $1 a share to $35 on the New York Stock exchange. Its bonds closed unchanged from the previous day's price.

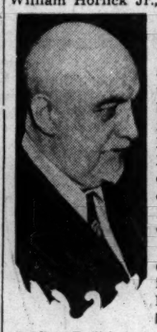
WILLIAM HORLICK, MILK HEIR, DIES; LEAVES MILLIONS

4th Death in Family in 30 Months.

Racine, Wis., April 1 [Special.]—William Horlick Jr., bachelor philanthropist who shared with his brother, Alexander J., the wealth amassed by his father, the founder of the Horlick Malted Milk company, died of heart disease today at his home here. He was 64 years old.



William Horlick Jr.

It was the fourth death in the family in two and a half years to bring into the public eye the question of the Horlick fortune and the future of the nationally known business. The probable disposition of the fortune, estimated at from 10 to 20 million dollars, tonight was the subject of conjecture among those who had followed the family's financial history, revealed in court here during the last year.

Father Dies in 1937.

William Horlick Sr., who came to America a harness maker and evolved the process of making malted milk about 1865, died in September, 1937. His estate then was appraised at about 15 million dollars. His three children were equal heirs.

They were A. J., the older son; Mrs. Mabelle Sidley, his daughter, and William. Mrs. Sidley died in Toronto, Canada, in July, 1938, in circumstances which provoked her son, William Horlick Sidley, to try to break the will. On the day named for Mrs. Sidley's funeral here, her mother died.

Matters of speculation here tonight were: Did the Horlick brothers, between whom there had been unfriendliness in the last few years, become reconciled? Will Mrs. Sidley's only child and William Horlick's namesake, inherit any of his uncle's wealth?

Sister's Estate 4 Millions.

Mrs. Horlick's estate was valued at something more than one million dollars. Mrs. Sidley's estate was about four million dollars. William Horlick Jr. inherited half of his mother's estate and was named for $100,000 in the will of his sister.

Inheritance tax hearings revealed that in 1932 William Horlick Sr. distributed approximately eight million dollars equally among his three children, and prior to 1919 there were records of gifts of approximately $500,000 to each of them.

Probate Judge Allen Simpson ruled that none of the gifts was made in anticipation of death and they were not held subject to the state inheritance tax. Final settlement has not been reached in any of the estates, but the federal and state tax on the elder Horlick's wealth was fixed at $11,000,000.

Business Put at 10 Million.

The malted milk business from which the wealth originally came was appraised in the estate at $10,000,000, and a trust was established to retain management in the family as long as any of the children, who were named trustees, remained alive.

By the death of William Horlick Jr. sole control of the business passes into the hands of his older brother.

Unfriendliness between the two brothers and between William Horlick and his nephew, William Sidley, grew from the friendship between Mrs. Sidley and W. Perkins Bull, Canadian barrister at whose home in Toronto Mrs. Sidley died.

Believe Wounds Were Healing.

The unfriendliness between the brothers was commonly known among their friends, and in the hearing to prevent probate of Mrs. Sidley's will it was recognized in court as based on fact.

Some of those nearest to William Horlick believed the wounds that kept the two brothers apart were nearly healed, and that A. J. Horlick is likely to be his brother's principal heir. These friends believe William Sidley will inherit in trust some of his uncle's large fortune, altho in the will contest young Sidley sat daily in court in bitter opposition to the uncle whose sympathies were with his sister's effort to give part of her fortune to Bull.

Mrs. Sidley's will was admitted to probate after an out of court settlement in which Bull renounced his claim to a specific bequest of $250,000 and a claim to one-third of the residuary estate.

All Give to Charities.

All of the Horlicks were generous to local charities and local institutions. They gave freely to St. Luke's church and to St. Luke's hospital here, to veteran groups and civic institutions, and to St. John's Military academy at Delafield, Wis.

William Horlick Jr. was known to have been working on an employés' benefit plan in recent weeks, and it was generally believed some part of his estate will be distributed among plant workers.

Besides his brother, Horlick leaves two nieces, children of A. J. Horlick, Mrs. Helen Bond and Mrs. Jeannette Bowles, both of Greenwich, Conn.

The funeral will be conducted at St. Luke's church at 2 p. m. Wednesday. Masonic rites will be held at the Horlick mausoleum in Mound cemetery.

CALL 120 CASES IN SAFETY COURT; NINE ARE JAILED

Faced with a call of 120 cases, the largest in months, Judge Frank M. Padden in Safety court sentenced nine drivers to jail and fined another $100 yesterday. The judge remarked that the first days of spring seemed to have brought an unusual amount of wild driving.

The heaviest sentence, 60 days in the Bridewell, was imposed on Ted Bala, 3032 40th street, for reckless driving. His driving privileges were suspended for six months and he was fined $25 on an additional charge of leaving the scene of an accident. He was driving a borrowed car when it collided with another car at 3007 38th street last Thursday.

The others jailed were:

ANTON JENSEN, Hammond, Ind., 5 days, reckless driving.

Mary was astonishing

Mary, Queen of Scots, was one of the most colorful characters in history. Friends worshipped her. Even enemies admired her. To know her was to love her. Her memory will live as long as heather grows on the moors of Scotland.

Long ago, H.Q. whisky was named in remembrance of Mary. For this Highland Queen is a companionable Scotch whisky, light and delicate, yet retaining rare flavor and bouquet.

According to CULBERTSON

(Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.)

If a declarer plays a hand magnificently, it can be justly said that he deserves success, regardless of the fact that victory was possible only thru the help of the opponents. This applies in the fullest sense to a hand such as the following:

North, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH
♥ 8 5 2
♦ 7 3

WEST
♠ Q 7 6 4 3
♥ J 10 9 6
♦ 9 6

EAST
♠ None
♥ 7 4 3
♦ K Q J 10 5 4 2

SOUTH
♠ K J 10 9 8
♥ A K Q
♦ A 8
♣ 6 5 4

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	4 diamonds	5 spades	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

As may be seen, South was put squarely on the spot by East's preemptive diamond bid. With four-plus honor tricks and a good five card suit, South cannot be blamed for having slam aspirations. But how to investigate slam possibilities and, at the same time, maintain a fairly safe game position, was a problem I am just as glad I was not called upon to solve. Actually, there is no good bid on South's hand over four diamonds. Four spades is absurdly conservative. Neither a five diamond cue bid nor a four no trump bid is at all satisfactory, inasmuch as these bids leave the partnership in the dark as to what the final denomination should be. South, of course, could not contract for a slam in clubs with only three to the six spot, particularly since North's suit might be very short. All in all, then, I feel that South's five spade bid was the least of all evils. West might well have held his fire in the hope of getting a chance to double six spades, but obviously lacked the self-control.

A diamond was opened. Declarer won and laid down the spade jack. West naturally did not cover, and when East showed out, declarer realized that he had a tough job on his hands. He continued with the spade ten, which also held. The three top hearts then were cashed, as were the ace and king of clubs, and then a club was led from dummy. East won and collected his diamond trick. West, having discarded a diamond on the third club, now blithely discarded his last heart, grimly holding on to his trumps. This was exactly what declarer had hoped for. South now was down to the K-9-8 of spades, while West had the Q-7-6, dummy had the blank spade ace and two clubs, and East, of course, was reduced to diamonds.

Now, on East's forced diamond return, declarer ruffed with the spade eight and West might as well have thrown his cards out of the window! If West over-ruffed with the queen, dummy would in turn over-ruff with the ace, and declarer would take the last two tricks with the king and nine. On West's actual under-ruff play, it was just as easy for South. The eight spot held the trick and now declarer had the two high trumps.

If West had foreseen what was coming and, instead of discarding his last heart, had deliberately ruffed East's diamond trick, then put declarer in dummy with a trump to the ace, declarer would not have been able to return to his own hand to pick up the spade queen. But altho West was very helpful to declarer, the latter deserves full credit for the beautiful execution of his "smother play," and for the fact that he lost no trump trick to West's formidable length.

Parents Make Known Troth of Denise Russell

At a tea on Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Russell Gair of Evanston announced the engagement of their daughter, Denise, to Arthur Joy Draper Jr., son of Mrs. Draper of Charlotte, N. C. Miss Gair, a junior at Wellesley college, is passing the spring vacation at home with her parents and her fiancé. Mr. Draper prepared at Exeter academy and was graduated from Yale university, where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. At present he is attending the Harvard Medical school. Miss Gair and Mr. Draper will continue their studies after their marriage, which will take place this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schultz of 444 Belmont avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Sedelle Bernice, to Carl A. Bauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Bauer of 1122 East 52d street. Both Miss Schultz and her fiancé attended the University of Illinois. No date has been set for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Gordon of Winnetka announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Pendleton, to Norman E. Richardson Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Richardson of Chicago. Miss Gordon was graduated from Smith college last June. Her fiancé, a graduate of Amherst college and Yale Divinity school, is now on the faculty of Amherst college.

Benefit Aid

MRS. HENRY T. HOLSMAN.

Mrs. Henry T. Holsman is a member of the junior auxiliary of La Rabida Jackson Park sanitarium, which is coöperating with the senior board to give a benefit luncheon, fashion revue, and card party today in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House. The sanitarium is a nonsectarian charitable institution which provides cardiac convalescent care for both boys and girls 4 to 12 years old.

Convalescent Child Needs Your Patience

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

(Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.)

We wouldn't think of letting our little child get burned so he would know that fire was dangerous, nor let him get his hand caught in a door hinge to teach him to keep his fingers away from it. It would be stupid on our part [and costly to him] to let him learn everything by trial and error.

And the same thing holds where parents are concerned. Depending too much upon learning how to manage their children thru the system of trial and error is not only a waste of time but piles up a great deal of harm, both physical and psychological.

It is with that in mind that much of this column is written, for there are many times when you would have been helped in your own anxiety and your child would have benefited if some wiser, older person who had been thru the same thing had been there and had thrown the searchlight of her experience upon the picture.

As we were saying yesterday, mothers often can get a great deal of help from others who have been thru the experiences they are going thru, and who have learned much at first hand. This fact applies definitely to the mother and her convalescent child.

Incidentally, this is a field in which the physician, whether he's a general practitioner or a pediatrician, could and should give mothers much more help than he does. For instance, one doctor said to the mother of a young boy who had been under his care: "Your son probably has not felt well for more than five minutes at a stretch for this whole past year." The boy was not in bed but being treated for his ailment while carrying on the ordinary motions of everyday living, going to school, out to play, and so on.

When the mother heard this, like a flash the picture of the whole past year was illuminated: The irritability, the apparent discontent, the easy tears, the outbursts of temper, the lack of desire to do homework. Everything fell into place like the pieces of a puzzle. What a great help it would have been to her and to her child if the physical picture with the personality aspect had been made clear to her. I suppose it's a lot to expect of busy physicians, but they could help a great deal if they would present the whole picture, and so help a mother to carry her child wisely thru convalescence from serious illness and operations.

So, if your child has been sick, don't expect the convalescence of his personality to outstrip the convalescence of his body. They're tied up too closely for that.

Princess Lines with Paneling

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Princess lines and ingenious paneling unite to make this frock distinctive. Altho it is immensely flattering to plump silhouettes, it also is smart on perfectly proportioned figures. The neckline may be V and untrimmed or high with a contrasting or matching collar in the "little girl" tradition. Sleeves that are puffed at the shoulders may be long or short. There's no belt needed, but you may use one if you wish. Wide flare in the skirt is a graceful accent. If you particularly like boleros this pattern provides for one to match or contrast.

Style No. 3274 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material for short-sleeved dress; ⅞ yard for bolero.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

For 15 cents buy the spring Chicago Tribune book of Clotilde Fashions, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower; 10 cents if ordered with a pattern. Address mail orders to the New York address above.

Alumni of Hill School to Honor Own 'Mr. Chips'

BY JUDITH CASS.

IT is safe to predict that no alumnus of the Hill school who is in Chicago on April 16 will be missing from a dinner that the Hill School club of Chicago is giving that night at the Saddle and Cycle club. That is, no alumnus who has a touch of romance and sentiment in his makeup, as well as a feeling of loyalty to his preparatory school. The dinner is being given to celebrate the golden anniversary at the school of Dr. Alfred Grosvenor Rolfe, senior master.

The Hill school's "Mr. Chips," Dr. Rolfe might be called. He is unmarried, tall and spare, with unruly hair something like Mr. Chips', according to a former student at the school. Dr. Rolfe teaches Greek and Bible and is noted for his humorous tales and anecdotes. He is the author of several books including one of poems about the animals of Noah's ark, and "Song of Saints and Sinners," and "A Little Book of Character."

Headmaster at Hill Also Coming for Dinner.

Dr. Rolfe was headmaster at the Hill in 1913 and 1914. Before starting his teaching career there in 1890, and after being graduated from Amherst college in 1882, he taught in four other schools and studied and traveled extensively abroad. James I. Wendell, headmaster, is coming to Chicago with Dr. Rolfe for the dinner, at which Mr. Wendell will be the speaker of the evening. Dr. Rolfe will celebrate his 80th birthday on Aug. 4.

The wives of alumni are invited to the dinner, so the group that will assemble to honor Dr. Rolfe will be colorful and fashionable. The Hill school at Pottstown, Pa., is one of the oldest and most exclusive boys' preparatory schools in the country. John J. Mitchell, secretary-treasury of the Chicago Hill club, is in charge of arrangements for the dinner.

Asheville School Alumni Giving Dinner April 10.

The Chicago Alumni association of the Asheville school has issued invitations for a dinner, also at the Saddle and Cycle club, on Wednesday, April 10. The headmaster, David R. Fall, and some members of the faculty will be present. Hugh G. Dugan is president of the Chicago association with Philip R. Clarke Jr. as vice president, and Roger S. Vail Jr. as secretary.

An exhibition of "Origins of Modern Art" is opening with a tea at the Arts club this afternoon. Mrs. John Paul Welling has been in charge of arrangements. She will be assisted by Mrs. Potter Palmer, who has planned the table decorations, and Mrs. Edward Collins, Mrs. Emily Roby, Mrs. Arthur Meeker, Mrs. Ralph Winston, Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, Mrs. Neil Cowham, Mrs. Max Epstein, Mrs. A. H. Patterson, and Miss Clara Lake, who will pour. The exhibition, composed of works by old and modern masters, will be shown until April 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Thorne heard yesterday that they had a thirteenth grandchild, a little daughter adopted Saturday by the former Katherine Thorne and her husband, George Gillespie. This is the second child the Gillespies have adopted. Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie reside in Phoenix, Ariz. The Thornes have four other daughters, Mrs. Hermon Dunlap Smith and Mrs. Corson Ellis of Lake Forest; Mrs. Alexander Spence of Phoenix, and Mrs. Charles L. Peet of Excelsior, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Nicol Report Arrival of Daughter.

Their Chicago friends will be interested to learn that Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Nicol of South Haven, Mich., became the parents of a daughter on Sunday. Mrs. Nicol, formerly Barbara Baker of Evanston, and the baby, who is to be named Nancy, are in the South Haven City hospital. Nancy is the first grandchild of Mrs. Ethel Kirkman Baker of Evanston, and the second of Mr. and Mrs. Killian V. R. Nicol of Chicago. Their daughter, Mrs. Walter E. Haug, and her six months old daughter, Margery Ann, arrived recently from Australia, where Margery was born, and are with Mr. and Mrs. Nicol at their State parkway home. Mr. Haug will join them shortly.

The final Hans Lange concert of the season will be presented at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Blackstone hotel by the Hans Lange Little symphony and the Philharmonic String quartet. The program will be composed of works by Johann Sebastian Bach and by his sons.

A special meeting of the women's committee of the Chicago Symphony orchestra will be held at 3:45 o'clock at the Woman's Athletic club. Edward L. Ryerson, president of the Symphony, will speak on the plans for the orchestra's 50th anniversary celebration. In the absence of Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne, chairman of the committee, Mrs. Telfer MacArthur, first vice chairman, is in charge.

Co-Eds Home for Vacation Will Usher for Concert.

Co-eds at home for their spring vacation will usher at a concert of the University of Michigan Glee club on Saturday night in the grand ballroom

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

A liquid facial bath that cleanses skin efficiently and quickly and leaves it beautifully moist for makeup adherence can be counted a best friend to the business girl in a city like Chicago. It is specially compounded for either dry or oily skin.

The dirt of this town of ours is just about the only thing that dims our civic pride. And "dim" is the word! The Chicago grime can and does dim just about everything, including complexions. At least, that's the way it's seemed to us lately when we have found the windblown streets dustier even that usual.

It's awfully rough on the working woman, who must keep her face presentable from early morning until bedtime. One of her problems is to work out a quick, efficient method whereby she can cleanse her skin at least two or three times a day without slowing up too long.

Best solution to the problem we've found so far bobbed up just the other dusty day, when we reached for an old friend—a preparation called a "facial bath." It's wonderful, and one version of it is especially so for dry skins, because it's a flawless grime remover and no slouch at all as a skin softener. There is also one for oily skin.

This is a creamy emulsion, to be applied with the fingers in an upward and outward motion. Just pour a bit into the palm of one hand, dip the fingers of the other in it, and set to work. After coating the skin permit the cleansing liquid to remain on for a minute or so. Remove with tissues—and don't look at the tissues unless you like the shock of realizing how downright dirty your face was! The amount of makeup and grime that comes off will astonish you.

It's our notion that every busy woman should keep this facial bath in her desk. It cleanses quickly and well, and after the removal with tissues just enough adheres to the skin to serve as a soft, fresh powder base. The skin won't be oily, but it will be beautifully cleansed and just sufficiently moist.

Fable of the Trapped Dictator.

Philip Weintraub tells the story of the dictator who, on his day off, went hunting. A terrible storm came up and he looked about for shelter. The wind howled and the rain came down in tropical torrents, and finally he crawled into a hollow log. It fitted snugly. The pelting rain and the wind lasted for hours and the water soaked thru the wood. The rain-soaked log swelled and the hollow grew smaller.

When the storm was over the dictator found he could not get out. He stretched and strained, but he was held tight. Like the proverbial drowning man, his whole life flashed before him. He realized how inhuman and intolerant he had been, how he had crushed those who had stood in his way on his march to power, how whole countries had been laid waste and families had been broken up.

He saw himself as he really was for the first time. He felt so small that he was able to crawl out of the log without difficulty.

Cuff Notes.

Julia Altrocchi, whose new novel, Wolves Against the Moon, will be out April 16, is a daughter of Mrs. Harlan Ward Cooley of Chicago, and some early Chicago history is in the novel. . . . Annie Laurie Williams, agent who handles the motion picture rights of best sellers (Gone with the Wind, the Lloyd Douglas novels, Grapes of Wrath, the Bertita Harding biographies, and others were sold by her), was in town Saturday on her way to Hollywood on behalf of Louis Zara's new Book, This Land Is Ours. . . . That tall, dark, forty-ish man in the Costa Rican coffee shop the other evening was the president-elect of Costa Rica, Dr. Rafael Angelo Calderon Guardia. . . . One of the old street cars of the horse drawn car era serves as a children's playhouse in a back yard on Ridge avenue north of Devon.

Stars on Roller Skates.

Theater fans who have seen favorite stage stars only behind the footlights would have enjoyed a peek into the Riverview Roller Skating rink at midnight last Saturday. The tall lad in the open necked sports shirt grinning delightedly as he sped around the rink on skates was Clifton Webb; Diana Dalton, who plays the rôle of secretary in The Man Who Came to Dinner, was whizzing about in beige slacks and shirt, her long bob held back by a pink ribbon, looking prettier than she does behind the footlights.

* * *

The little girl in a brown linen sports dress and Schiaparelli's "sleeping blue" knee-high woolen socks, a blue kerchief tied about her head, was Helen Hayes, looking about 15, and one of her devoted swains was her husband, Philip Merivale, coatless, in a blue sweater, his necktie flying over his shoulder, skated until it was time to leave to catch a westbound plane at 3 a. m.

* * *

Lillian Gish, her hair knotted childishly on her head, wearing a pink blouse, skated back at intervals to reassure her West Highland terrier, waiting at a rinkside bench. The tall lad with the flaming red hair was O. Z. Whitehead, the Clarence Day of Life with Father, and all the little redhaired Day children impersonators were on skates. Percy Waram was there, and Cornelia Otis Skinner, and Ann Eden, and Freddie Bradley, and a dozen others leaving the floor or the rinkside benches only for the hot dog and soft drink stands.

Noted Soloists for Symphony's Jubilee Season

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Frederick Stock, conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, last night announced musical plans for the orchestra's jubilee season at a dinner party given at the Racquet club by Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr. Among the soloists to appear during the 50th season—the season of 1940-'41—is Claire Dux, resident soprano, who will be heard as the feature of an all-Strauss program. Other soloists and guest artists are as follows:

Dr. Frederick Stock. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Composer-conductor and pianist: Sergei Rachmaninoff. Composer-conductor and violinist: Georges Enesco. Pianists: Josef Hofmann, Vladimir Horowitz, Rudolf Serkin, José Iturbi, Gitta Gradova. Violinists: Fritz Kreisler, Jascha Heifetz, Nathan Milstein. Violoncellists: Gregor Piatigorsky, Emanuel Feuermann.

There is just a chance—Mr. Stock did not promise this but simply mentioned the possibility—that Jan Sibelius may come to America next season. If he does, he will be guest of honor at an Orchestra hall concert of his works.

There will be several important premières. Six composers are definitely contributing works to the orchestra's jubile season. They are William Walton, Nicholas Miaskowsky, Zoltan Kodaly, Alfredo Casella, Darius Milhaud, and John Alden Carpenter. Other Americans besides Mr. Carpenter will be represented. Some of them will be winners in the contest now being conducted by the symphony, others will be men who will receive definite commissions within the next few months.

Choral works will figure prominently. Beethoven's Ninth symphony and Missa Solemnis, Pierné's "Children of Bethlehem," and either the B minor mass or the St. Matthew passion of Bach are to be given.

There is definite prospect that the Chicago Symphony orchestra will broadcast next year. Col. Robert R. McCormick, speaking at last night's party, said that if putting a sample of the orchestra's work on the air would fill Orchestra hall's seats, that could be done and we [meaning the people at the party] could all go home.

FEELING OF REBIRTH

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

There was no atmosphere of age, old age or middle age, at the dinner party given last night at the Racquet club by Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr., in spite of the fact the party was in observance of the start of the 50th anniversary of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Instead, there was a feeling of spring, of rebirth.

Even the decorations of the dining room fitted in with this air of renascence for they are empire green and white. The tables were decorated in the same bright and spirit-lifting combination and the colors of the gowns of the feminine guests harmonized perfectly with this general feeling of optimism and gayety.

That the atmosphere of the party will continue for some time is the hope of Mr. Ryerson, president of the Orchestral association, and all those interested in the future of the orchestra, for the dinner was the start of a campaign to raise $127,000 to meet the accumulated deficit that will exist at the end of this season.

This will enable the orchestra to continue on a more stable basis than ever before. The fiftieth year of the orchestra "seems a fitting time to establish a new foundation upon which to build for the years ahead," as Mr. Ryerson said in a simple plea for help in raising the fund by the 130 guests at the dinner.

The answer as to why this deficit exists is easily answered: First, it is due to the decreased income from Orchestra hall and the Orchestra building; second, it is because of a decreased income from endowment funds. The Chicago orchestra is not different from any one of the major sixteen symphony orchestras in the United States, for each has a similar financial problem.

As a matter of fact, the Chicago orchestra had a smaller deficit last year than any one of the other 15 orchestras. Some of the difficulties of the Cincinnati orchestra and its ways of overcoming them were told to the Ryersons' guests by Lucien Wulsin, president of the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra.

The speakers, in addition to Mr. Ryerson and Mr. Wulsin, included Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, honorary chairman of the woman's committee; Dr Frederick Stock, conductor of the orchestra, and Edgar Friedlander, treasurer of the Cincinnati orchestra.

Others at the speakers' table were Mrs. Clyde M. Carr, Mrs. Telfer MacArthur, Mrs. Charles H. Swift, and Charles H. Hamill, honorary president of the association.

Among others at the party were Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Leeds Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Sprague, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Zeisler, Durand Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel H. Burnham, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Welling, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Voegeli, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Cable, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Tieken, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr., Mrs. Louis Eckstein, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Lange, Mr. and Mrs. William Eisendrath Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams III., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Cunningham, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Day Farwell.

Listen, Kids.

Dayton, O., April 1.—This really is a town from which a "Listen, Kids" column should be addressed to the country, because this is the home town of the Wright brothers, the boys who had an idea that they could fly. . . . The idea seemed wholly fantastic, and people jeered at them, but the Wrights refused to be dismissed as fanatics. . . . Instead of wasting valuable time in answering their hecklers, the brothers stayed in there and kept pitching. . . . They proved that they were right at Kitty Hawk, and today, Dayton boasts of the great army experimental station here at Wright field.

Orville Wright, one of the brothers, is still alive, and you kids might take a leaf from his book. . . . He refuses to be quoted, refuses to be drawn into any publicity stunts, refuses to engage in political controversies. . . . In other words, Mr. Wright knows the value of holding his tongue, a lesson that few of us ever learn. . . . We all like to pop off at intervals and too often we are discredited by things we would have recalled if they had not tumbled from our tongues. . . . Not Mr. Wright. . . . Today he is still an honored citizen of this thriving community, not only because of the invention of the first American airplane, but also because he has kept his thoughts to himself.

In our show here, at the RKO Colonial theater, I have been presenting a great group of Hollywood stars. . . . Yet one of the show stopping acts is a boy who had to overcome a terrific handicap. . . . When he was 7 years old he lost his leg in a train accident in South Carolina. . . . A one legged colored boy is not what you would call sitting pretty in this world. . . . Peg-Leg Bates, however, refused to be counted out on one knee. . . . Today he is one of the greatest dancing stars of the American stage.

When Bates comes on the stage he tells the audience: "I'm Peg-Leg Bates, the one legged dancing man, but I don't want yo' sympathy." . . . He is on the level with that statement because he points out wisely that if he solicited sympathy when he was a youngster, he wouldn't have amounted to anything. . . . It was his refusal to accept sympathy that enabled him to become a somebody.

I've introduced a lot of acts on various stages but I've never heard such applause as Bates gets. . . . He really rolls them in the aisles. . . . Because the show was loaded with Hollywood names I asked Peg if he'd mind performing in the opening spot on the bill, which is not a particularly advantageous spot for a performer. . . . "Mister Sullivan, suh", he said, "If you want me to dance down in the musicians' pit, or out in the lobby, that's fine with me. I'm here to entertain and it makes no mind where I do it, or when I do it, so long as I do it." . . . So he opens the show and he really panics them.

Every time I watch him in action on a stage, I'm reminded of my complaints about a headache or a backache or a toothache. . . . All of us have squawks that we utter from force of habit. . . . Bates, who really had something to gripe about, never complains about anything . . . "I'm tickled to be alive," he tells you. "That train could just as easily have killed me."

So don't any of you kids ever complain that life has been unkind to you because your parents were poor, or because you lacked some material advantage that the kid down the block has. . . . Peg-Leg Bates, for all time, dispels the idea that you are the victims of bad breaks. . . . The idea is to pack enough courage into the fray to turn those bad breaks into tremendous assets.

Most of the movie stars started out in life under handicaps that would have been alibis for weak hearted youngsters. . . . Bette Davis was badly burned in a Christmas tree blaze that left her with pop eyes. . . . Her mother was poor and had to support the children by working as a commercial photographer. . . . The mother didn't even have enough money to enroll Bette in a drama course. . . . That certainly wasn't an auspicious beginning.

Fetching White Bows Button on Jaunty Gloves

BY REA SEEGER.

Street outfits this spring stress color in amazingly soft kidskin and capeskin gloves. They are jaunty duets for all the snappy street outfits, coats or suits or ensembles of suit and topcoat. Exciting new arrivals are made of the most supple of capeskin, cut and made without a single back line of decorative trim. They're as sleek as a dachshund. Navy, black, and red are the colors, but it's the fetching bow trim that makes them news of the week.

Directly in the center, on the wristline, is a flat white pearl button that anchors a crisp, chalk-white tailored pique bow. You button the bows on to match similar bow trim on a blouse or jacket. When soiled these bows are detached, laundered, then rebuttoned. It's the neatest, most feminine trick of spring.

A matching pearl button at the inside of the wrist holds these short gloves in position. Another short pair has black patent leather tassels trimming the shallow cut at the wrist line to accentuate the brilliant red shade of the gloves. Red gloves pick up a navy costume with the same sure snap as this red will also serve as color highlights for dark brown, bronze green or dull black. However, these colored capeskins are for street clothes only.

Another exciting color scheme is parrot green with indigo, slipons of doeskin worn wrinkled softly at the wrists.

Gun Bought Grant

[Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

Framed by his enemy, Santee Bales, Sam Teacher, outlaw cowboy, shoots the bank robber dressed to resemble him. The governor agrees to give Sam $25,000 in addition to full pardon for all the crimes accredited to him if he will persuade obstinate Matt Drury to sell the railroad the right of way thru one of Drury's canyons. Sam gets a job on Drury's ranch and has a run-in with his worthless son, Steve, and his pretty but spoiled daughter, Celia. Instead of firing Sam, Drury takes his advice and gives Steve a small stake and sends him out on his own; and he tells Celia she has to run the house. Both children leave home in a huff, Celia getting a job in a restaurant. Steve gets into a crooked poker game with Bales and ends up the big loser, having to go into partnership with Bales. Bales persuades Steve to get the grant for the canyon property so they can make the governor pay them instead of Sam. Sam is captured by Bales and his men who steal his gun and leave him tied up. When Sam breaks loose and reaches town he is arrested for the murder of Steve as his gun is found near the murdered man. Matt wants Sam hanged but his foreman, Pearly, is convinced of Sam's innocence and resigns to help find the real murderer. He buys a stable next door to the jail and digs Sam out and they concoct a plan to outwit Bales. With dynamite they change the course of the river that determines the boundary of the land Bales plans to sell the railroad. Bales learns that the river is needed for irrigation and plans to get a court order to change the course of the river back again. Celia gets homesick and visits her father. While she is there, Pearly walks in.

INSTALMENT XXVI.

CELIA REPENTS.

Pearly yanked off his hat and walked over to Matt and put out his hand. It was when he was holding Matt's hand tight in his own that Sam Teacher stepped thru the door, his step slow and light and careful.

Drury saw him first and he tried to pull his gun hand out of Pearly's but Pearly held tight.

"Easy Matt. We got somethin' to say to you. Sit down and listen and gimme your promise you won't draw that gun."

"On the man that killed my son!" Drury blazed. "I will not!"

For answer, Pearly reached down and slipped Drury's gun from its holster, and only then released Matt's hand. Sam Teacher, his face burned a clean golden brown from the weather, only smiled faintly and leaned on the door jam.

"You can't do nothin', Matt. Sit down," Pearly urged.

Drury sank into his chair, his eyes wicked with anger. Celia was watching Sam Teacher, noting how casual, almost bored, he was. Then her glance shifted to Pearly, searching for guilt and shame in his face. All she saw was the same old seamed face hidden behind the handful of hay he called a mustache. It looked a little less worried, a little more friendly, if anything. When she felt Sam's cold stare, she dropped her glance to her plate. Double-Jack, an old hand for excitement like this, grinned at Pearly and was quiet.

"Thrown in with the killer, have you, Pearly?" Drury asked hotly. "I never believed it!"

Pearly nodded indifferently. "We don't want you to talk, Matt. We just want you to listen. It's for your own good."

With an effort of will, Drury composed his face and inclined his head. His eyes were like tiny pinpoints of fire, wary and alert and wicked. Sam Teacher strolled into the room then and put a leg on the table and leaned forward, almost in front of Celia. "Drury," he said, "the Rio Medio ain't where it was a couple of days ago. Pearly and me have diverted it into another canyon. It flows off the Rim about 10 miles east of where it used to come down. If you're a wise man, you'll keep it there."

"What are you talking about?" Drury asked curtly.

"Santee Bales come out with the Southwestern and Rio Grande agent yesterday to sell that strip of land you deeded to Steve." He explained to Drury how the grant boundary was the river, not the canyon, and by shifting the river they had prevented Santee from selling the piece.

"But unless you keep that piece of land guarded until Bales is killed, you're goin' to lose it again."

"Until Bales is killed?" Drury echoed. "Why, who'll kill him?"

"I will."

Drury stared at him. "You mean you're going to set out after a man and hunt him down and kill him in cold blood?"

"It ain't cold," Sam murmured. "Whenever I think of him, it ain't cold."

Celia said in quiet anger, "You almost succeeded two nights ago, didn't you?"

Sam's glance swiveled to her. "That's right. That was my hard luck."

Drury put both hands on the table and rose. "Let me get this straight. You want my men to guard this makeshift dam of yours while you go out and kill Bales?"

"You want the railroad to come thru Rio Medio canyon?" Sam countered, a sneer on his face.

"I don't want the railroad anywhere near me!" Drury flared. "But if I'm supposed to tolerate murder to keep it out, then I'll let it be built thru this house, if need be!"

"Santee Bales killed Steve, Matt," Pearly said quietly.

Drury pointed a finger at Sam. "That gunman killed Steve, Pearly! Think of that while you're riding with him!"

Sam lounged off the table. "You won't put a guard up there until you hear Bales is dead?"

"No."

Sam looked at Pearly. "All right, Pearly." To Drury he said: "Maybe you won't have to, at that. Because I'm going to kill Bales whether you do it or not."

"I won't have anything to do with murder," Drury said firmly.

Sam turned to go and Celia rose out of her chair. "Wait," she said.

Sam paused in the door. "The last time you said that to me, and I didn't do it, I got cuffed. You aim to cuff me again?"

"Please," Celia said patiently. "Step outside with me."

She went out into the dark patio and Sam followed her. "I—I'd like to straighten all this out in my mind," she said in a low voice. "Will you answer my questions?"

"Any."

"Remember, too, that even if Steve Drury was my brother, I didn't love him. He didn't deserve to be murdered, but he deserved the next thing to it."

"All right."

"Did Santee Bales kill Steve?"

"You heard me say it."

"For that piece of land that the railroad wanted as a right of way?"

"That's right."

"Yes."

She was quiet a long time, thinking this over. "Why?" she asked then.

"Somebody's got to fight for him," Sam pointed out. "He won't fight for himself." He paused. "No, that ain't it, either. I've fought Bales for five years. We've tried to kill each other before. He kills men for no reason at all—except money. It's a private feud I got with him."

"Then the right of way is only incidental?"

Sam didn't answer for a long moment, then he said, "I only want to keep Santee from gettin' it."

"But he will," Celia said.

"Not if he's dead."

"But he's not here. He's gone." She told him of their conversation this morning. "When I mentioned that about the irrigation, he dropped his cigar, slammed his hand on the counter, and said, 'That's it. That's all I need.'" She paused. "Don't you see? It means——"

"Sure I see," Sam said quietly. "It means he'll get a writ from a judge makin' us put the Rio Medio back where it was."

"And it will be enforced, too."

Sam only nodded.

"And that means that dad will lose that piece of land, after all."

Sam sighed. "It looks that way. I can't catch Santee when he's got a day's start on me. And when he gets to a judge, it's done."

"O." Celia was quiet.

Sam said curiously, "It sounds like you want your dad to have that land. Why?"

"O, I don't know," Celia said in a low voice. She really didn't know.

"When I last saw you, you'd have throwed in with Bales to get it, if it would hurt your dad. Now you changed your mind."

"But dad's honest!"

"Sure. He always has been. You just findin' it out?"

"No, it isn't that," Celia said quietly. "It's—well, I've deserted him. Pearly's left him. Steve's gone. He's alone, now, and he can't fight trouble the way he used to. I just saw it tonight. He's—he's so helpless—and so fine." She looked up at Sam in the dark. "You and Pearly are really trying to help him. And you're the only ones."

Sam laughed bitterly. "He won't let us."

"How?" Sam asked gently.

"I don't know. Only there is a way. And if there is one, you can find it. I know that."

Sam said, "That's a funny thing for you to be askin'."

Celia nodded agreement. "When I left here I hated him for trying to break me. I hated you for saying the things you did. But I've learned several things since I've been working. One of them is that dad was right in trying to break me."

GASOLINE ALLEY — THAT MAN AGAIN

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Slipping Slippers

"KEY LARGO."

Poetic drama in a prolog and two acts by Maxwell Anderson. Staged by Guthrie McClintic. Settings by Jo Mielziner. Presented by the Playwrights' company in the Selwyn theater, Monday evening, April 1, 1940.

THE CAST.

King McCloud ..... Paul Muni
Victoria d'Alcala ..... Joseph Pevney
D'Alcala ..... Francis Compton
Alegre d'Alcala ..... Helen Beverley
Murillo ..... Frederic Tozere
John Horn ..... Averell Harris

BY CECIL SMITH.

In "Key Largo" Maxwell Anderson once more grapples with the problem of writing a modern poetic drama. Nothing could be more satisfying, in view of Mr. Anderson's seriousness and high literary competence, than to acclaim his newest play a success. Such a judgment would, however, distort the truth unduly.

"Key Largo" is, I am afraid, noble but dull. Dramatically it remains most of the time in a sphere of curious aloofness, in which its people converse in their own special iambic pentameter—a curious blend of colloquialism and poetic speech—and seldom seem to come quite down to earth. Much of the time no action whatever takes place. The dialog is primarily ruminative and introspective; it even seems operatic, as one character courteously waits for another to finish an unsung aria.

Paul Muni, as King McCloud, dominates the entire play. Mr. Muni's return to the stage after an absence of seven years is good news under any circumstances. But even his unexcelled technical skill, his mobile face and body, and his deeply intelligent reading of the lines cannot give "Key Largo" enough tension or movement. Yet his performance, for all his uncompromising material, is one of the year's best, and it would be hard to name a better actor in the American theater.

The plot of "Key Largo" is focused upon the inner spiritual struggle of King McCloud. The prolog reveals him in Spain with the four other surviving members of a little group of eight who have come from the United States to fight with the Loyalist forces. Disillusioned with the Loyalists' lost cause, McCloud determines to desert. His companions refuse to follow his example and remain behind to be killed in action.

The main body of the play finds McCloud in Key Largo, Fla., seeking out the sister and blind father of his best friend among the Spanish volunteers. Here a melodramatic situation is introduced, for the d'Alcala home has been taken over by a gang of gamblers. After much conversation and a modicum of incident McCloud finally atones for his desertion and removes the chief gambler from the scene in one single, long prepared, long pondered final action.

In this story Mr. Anderson evidently hopes to decide, in modern terms, what it is that men should live for. Clearly McCloud does not find out, for when he expiates his guilt by dying at the end of the play he is precisely where he would have been if he had chosen to die in Spain with his comrades. This failure to arrive at any conclusion makes the extended philosophic dialog strangely circular, and casts over the whole play a shroud of pessimism. Perhaps there is no motive satisfactory enough to give real impulsion to living in our day, but if not, why write a play about so negative a theme?

Possibly I wrong Mr. Anderson. There may be in his mind some crystallization of the problem which never comes to light in "Key Largo." At any rate, the production is beautifully staged, and there are a number of competent actors in the cast. Then, too, a noble failure deserves a good bit of public support, for if we all remain loyal to Mr. Anderson he may some day write the definitive and convincing play he strove to write in "Key Largo."

Pork has been so inexpensive for such a long time that some families are tiring of it and wish, for the budget's sake, that they weren't.

Perhaps a few ideas about how to serve pork in unusually interesting ways will be helpful. Pork chops alone may appear in dozens of different and appealing guises, of which these recipes are examples.

Spiced Pork Chops with Onion Rings.
[Serves six.]

6 pork chops, 1 inch thick
1¼ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon allspice
⅓ cup vinegar
¼ cup raspberry jam
1 cup hot water
3 large onions, cut in half inch slices
Cornstarch

Brown chops on both sides and arrange in a large, flat baking dish which has a cover. Mix seasonings and spices with vinegar, jam and half of the hot water. Pour over the chops and bake at 350 degrees, moderate oven, for 45 minutes. Place onion slices around the chops and bake 45 minutes to an hour longer, or until chops are tender. Remove chops and onion rings to a hot platter. Skim off excess fat. Add remaining water to liquid in casserole and thicken with cornstarch mixed to a paste with a little water. Pour gravy over chops or serve separately.

Curried Pork Chops with Mushrooms.
[Serves four.]

8 small pork chops, bones removed
½ pound sliced mushrooms
8 canned apricot halves
2 cups medium white sauce
1 large onion, minced
2 teaspoons curry powder [or less]

Brown chops on both sides in a skillet. Place an apricot half on each, cut side down. Cover chops with sliced mushrooms. Add onion and curry powder to white sauce and pour over the chops. Cover and bake at 350 degrees, moderate oven, for an hour, or until the chops are tender. Service with rice.

Two New American Works Played by Illinois Symphony

In the Studebaker theater last night Izler Solomon conducted the Illinois Symphony orchestra in two new American works; a Mozart piano concerto, with Sybil Goldar as soloist, and Elgar's "Enigma" Variations.

The last named piece stole the show. Mr. Solomon has been praised before for his performance of the Elgar composition, yet the details that make it so good again deserve mention: the choice of felicitous tempi for each variation, the well timed transitions between sections, the beautifully molded phrases which did not, however, break up the continuity of the piece.

Neither of the two new works proved to be worthwhile. Amadeo di Filipi's Concerto for Orchestra, given its first Chicago performance, was discursive in farm—for all its imitation of the classical concerto grosso—illogical in its harmonic scheme, and replete with irrelevant and unexpressive dissonances.

Symphonic Set, by Henry Cowell, was played for the first time anywhere. Writing it in prison without the aid of musical instruments, the composer avoided experimentation. The result was oversimplification and consequent dullness, with the exception of a charming, dance-like Interlude.

Sybil Goldar's performance of Mozart's piano concerto in E-flat major was pleasantly vigorous and fluent. Her phrasing was instinctively musical except in the wonderful slow part, which she overdramatized to the detriment of the movement as a whole. R. E.

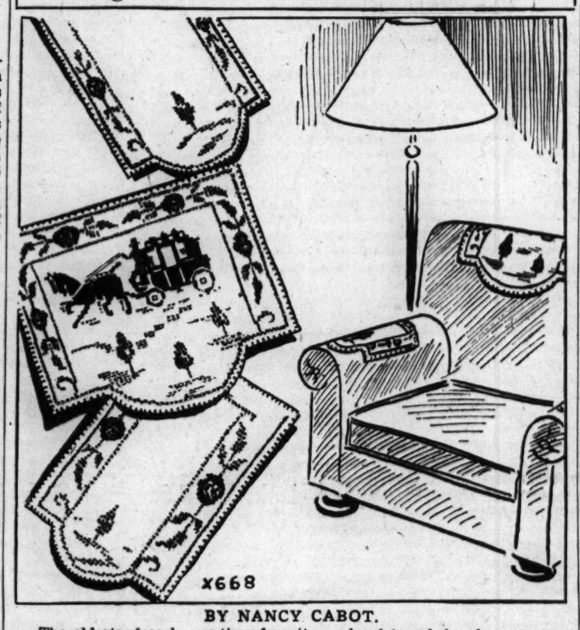
Stagecoach in Transfer Pattern



BY NANCY CABOT.

The old stagecoach, one-time favorite mode of travel, has been successfully transferred to the embroidery field by the means of cross-stitch. This design is ideal for a chair set, wall hanging or picture for a boy's room. Three motifs, each 12x16 inches, are included in the hot iron transfer pattern, as well as material requirements and illustrated color guide.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of the stagecoach, No. X-668, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Some of those who will give dinners before the concert are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Atwater, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Mechen, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan W. MacChesney, Mr. and Mrs. Harold O. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Mellen C. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Hammond and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Sims.

"Who Gets the Car This Evening?" is a problem which will be settled by Mrs. James L. Rippey, Mrs. George B. Kerr, Mrs. William Zellwager and Mrs. Guty Mattern in a French comedy this afternoon at the Cercle Français. Georges Cauuet will speak on the same program, which will be followed by tea.

Miss Janet Watt, whose engagement to George Stanley Rasmussen Jr. is being announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Watt Jr. of New York and Palm Beach. Miss Watt attended the Fieldston school and the Madeira school, from which she was graduated in 1937. Mr. Rasmussen, son of the late George S. Rasmussen and Mrs. Rasmussen of Chicago and Palm Beach, attended Phillips academy at Andover, Mass., and Yale university, where he was graduated in 1933. Mr. Rasmussen, who is engaged in business in Chicago, now is in Palm Beach with his mother. No plans for the wedding have been made.

Deep Breath Healthful and Beautifying

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Reading or writing about deep breathing is not a very exciting matter! But we do an enormous amount of it, and the fact that only about 3 per cent of the people know how to breathe correctly ought to bring us up on our toes. That's the claim, that only about 3 per cent of people breathe properly!

The ills to which our flesh is heir in consequence wouldn't begin to fit into this column space. Enough for our purpose today is poor breathing consequences seen in posture and voice production. The skin, the hair, the light in the eye, the silhouette, by all means, are affected for good or ill by one's ability or lack of it to draw a good breath. As for vitality and endurance, the 3 per cent of good breathers have it all over the poor breathers. Proof enough!

We are not petitioning you to make it your morning habit to stand before an open window and breathe in fresh, clean air. We are only telling you that if you did it for a given period, a six weeks' period, say, or even less, the habit would become fixed with you, yourself, as the petitioner. Just that potent is the inhaling of air. But windows are with us during our entire day. Rarely are we far from one, no matter what the occupation. We could steal a minute or two half a dozen times a day for an air "cocktail."

The idea is not to save our breath, as most of us do, but to inhale the breath. It is not to confine the breath to throat and the tips of the lungs. You take the beneficial air into your system by drawing the abdomen in gently, by the rise of the chest that automatically follows when the ribs are pushed up and off the lungs with the rising of the chest. It's no particular trick, no particular job. Nor do you have to run to a window always to perform it. Walking along the street, you can tuck in your abdomen and let the chest rise and breathe. No one will have to tell you what it does for your posture. You will see it readily and feel it, and if you have occasion to greet a friend along the route, your voice will have a new and clearer ring to it.

Don't Put off "Alkalizing" when you have these signs of ACID INDIGESTION

Today it's so easy to "alkalize" excess acids anywhere you are that many of your friends may have adopted the Phillips' way without you even knowing about it. For now when distress comes at home, all you do is take 2 tablespoonfuls of liquid Milk of Magnesia. When you are out with others, simply slip 2 Phillips' Tablets in your mouth like you would candy mints. That's all you do to feel wonderful.

Either form of Phillips' you take works the same way—very quickly. You can't beat it for welcome fast relief from after-eating distress. Almost at once you feel "gas", nausea, that "lumpy" feeling from hyper-acidity begin to ease. "Acid" headaches, "acid breath" are corrected right at the source.

It's a wonderful way to free yourself from distress and embarrassment. And many doctors endorse it. So try it.

Be sure when you buy to ask for "Phillips' " to insure getting the genuine fast-acting Phillips' article.

Your choice—liquid or tablets
When you buy, get either a bottle of liquid 'Phillips' Milk of Magnesia for home use or get a box of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets to carry with you—to take instantly anywhere when trouble begins. Just be sure you get the real Phillips' article—clearly marked "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia."

EUROPE'S CHAMPIONS DUE IN NEW YORK TODAY

SOX WHIP CUBS IN ARIZONA STORM, 8-6; EVEN SERIES

BRYANT YIELDS 5 RUNS IN FIRST, THEN HOLDS FOE

Snow Swirls Down on Teams in Bisbee.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bisbee, Ariz., April 1.—Each winter a Bisbee sports promoter catches Cub and White Sox executives in one of their careless moments and a game is scheduled here. And each April the Cubs and Sox jump out of the summer temperatures and $25,000 training expenditures to battle rain, snow, wind, dust, and each other before a meager Bisbee gate.

Clay Bryant.

Today, under conditions a bit worse than those annually encountered here, the Sox proved the hardier, beating the Cubs, 8 to 6, to even the rambling spring city series at five victories each.

The Cubs didn't mind getting trimmed so much as they might have, because Clay Bryant pitched four cheering innings in a comeback demonstration. Before doing too much rejoicing, however, the Cubs will wait till tomorrow to see if Bryant and others have contracted pneumonia or some other logical reaction from exposure to the elements.

Bryant Settles Down.

The terrible weather conditions made Bryant's comeback test the more impressive after a discouraging first inning. In the second, third, fourth, and fifth innings only 14 batsmen faced Clay and only two got the ball out of the infield. One of these, however, was Julius Solters, who tripled for the only hit Bryant yielded after the violent first inning.

Bryant didn't have time to figure windage allowances before the Sox started socking. Don Kolloway opened the first with a single to left, and after Joe Kuhel had flied to Bill Nicholson, Mike Kreevich doubled to left. Solters bounced to Stan Hack, whose throw to the plate was too late to get Kolloway. Luke Appling singled to right, scoring Kreevich, but Solters was trapped and run down, Nicholson to Russell to Hack. Larry Rosenthal walked, after which Bob Kennedy doubled to left, scoring Appling and Rosenthal. Ken Silvestri singled to left, scoring Kennedy. Rigney was safe on a fumble by Billy Herman, but was forced by Kolloway.

Cubs Take Offensive.

Only six batsmen faced Bryant in the second and third inning. In these sessions the Cubs had their turn at batting baseballs into the wind for a total of four runs, one in the second on a triple by Dom Dallesandro and Al Todd's single and three in the third inning on a single by Herman, a triple by Augie Galan, and doubles by Dallessandro and Glen Russell.

In the Cubs' fourth Rigney had his wind gauge working again. After Bill Rogell had pushed off with a single, Johnny struck out Bryant, BURLINGTON, Ia., April 1.—John McLaughlin, Indianapolis bowler, will have his name in the A. B. C. records for years, but he isn't very happy about it. . . . His 254 in the current tournament in Detroit is an all time low for three games. . . . Buddy Baer has a reach of 83 inches, the longest of any of the fighters now in circulation. . . . A wire service dispatch from Florida calls the Red Sox the classiest team in training in the south. . . . Too bad the pennant race will have to be decided in the north. . . . Business men accept the mutuel handle on the Kentucky Derby as an accurate barometer of the people's financial status. . . . In 1926, for example, wagers on the race totaled $2,096,613. . . . The figure dwindled to $745,603 in 1933, and last year had climbed back to $1,674,599. . . . Bill Sayles, Red Sox recruit, probably is the only man in the major leagues with European experience. . . . He pitched for the American team in the 1936 Olympic games in Berlin. . . . Margin for Error.

That we could do but just sit home at nights—
I'd read a book and maybe he'd tune in
On "Uncle Ezra"—now and then the fights;
At times we used to think 'twas rather dull,
We couldn't even throw a week-end spree—
Every dime we'd get we had to use,
All I had was Joe—and Joe had me.

It's never been the same since Joe came home
That night and told me of the prayed-for raise,
The first was fine, but two more "hoists" appeared
In Joe's pink envelope upon the day of days;
Since then, it seems, things haven't been the same,
I haven't read a book in Lord knows when—
Life, it seems, is just one blurry maze

I'm glad we've had the house fixed up so nice—
That I enjoy the car I can't deny,
But somehow Joe is different—am I, too?
The old time closeness seems to have passed by;
I wonder if it's wrong of me at times
To sort o' hanker for those long gone days,
To wish that things were as they used to be

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS.

Willie Hoppe beat Otto Reiselt, 50 to 47, in 40 innings.

TODAY'S GAMES.

1:30 p. m.—Hall vs. Denton.
3:00 p. m.—Bozeman vs. Reiselt.
8:00 p. m.—Schaefer vs. Chamaco.
9:30 p. m.—Hoppe vs. Cochran.

Willie Hoppe needs one more victory to clinch the world's three cushion billiard championship. He gained his 15th consecutive victory in the tournament in Bensinger's, South Wabash avenue, last night when he defeated Otto Reiselt, 50 to 47, in 40 innings.

Only Jake Schaefer, who has nine victories and five defeats, can tie Hoppe, all others being out of the race for first place. A victory for Hoppe or a defeat for Schaefer will clinch the championship for Willie. The latter meets Welker Cochran, defending champion, in one of tonight's games.

Reiselt Scares Hoppe.

Reiselt threw a scare into Hoppe in last night's exciting game, holding the lead for 21 innings. Hoppe counted 12 billiards in his last six turns at the table to overcome Reiselt's stubborn resistance. At one time Reiselt held a lead of 38 to 34.

Schaefer will be severely tested to stay in the running when he meets Joe Chamaco, national champion, in the first of tonight's two games.

Cochran Beats Bozeman.

In the first game last night Cochran displayed splendid form in winning from Jay Bozeman, 50 to 40, in 30 innings. He made 10 billiards in the last three frames, but Bozeman stayed right with him by scoring nine in that time. Six was high run in this match, Cochran getting that, while six was also the best that Hoppe and Reiselt could do.

Scores by innings:

70 MEN REPORT FOR MICHIGAN'S SPRING PRACTICE

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 1 [Special].—After a week's delay because of inclement weather, the Michigan football squad of more than 70 men reported to Coach Fritz Crisler for the opening spring practice session today. Practice will close with a spring intrasquad game in the Michigan stadium in the middle of May.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

H. G. Bedwell's Rawson (No. 1, next to rail), with Jockey H. Lindberg up, wins the Belair purse, opening day feature at Bowie, but only by a nose from Ringie (outside), a 15 to 1 shot which had trailed by three lengths coming into the stretch. Millfang, running in the middle, was third.

BOWIE'S SPRING MEETING OPENS BEFORE 10,000

Bowie, Md., April 1 (AP).—Horse racing returned to Maryland and the east with a bang today as Bowie opened its 12 day spring meeting under sunny skies before a crowd of 10,000. It was All Fools' day and about the biggest surprise was the parade of favorites that came winging home.

Guy Bedwell's Rawson, 3 year old gelded son of Sun Flag and Owena, was favored to win the opening day feature, the $1,200 Belair purse—and did the hard way. Jockey Henry Lindberg had to push Rawson to the utmost to finish a close head in front of Gustave Ring's Ringie. Rawson had a three length advantage coming into the stretch. Then Ringie came up from fourth place with such dash that he almost caught the leader and passed the co-favorite, Millsdale stable's Millfang, by a head.

Winner Returns $5.40.

Rawson covered the 5½ furlongs in 1:07.4 and paid $5.40 for $2 win tickets.

The favored Sun Ginger won the first race, at $5.50 for $2, and combined with the filly Blabah, at $5.80 for $2, winner of the second, to make a daily double worth only $13.90.

BALLOTER PAYS $21.50.

Coral Gables, Fla., April 1 (AP).—Balloter, a neglected outsider owned by Mrs. L. H. Nimkoff, won the mile and 70 yards allowance race that topped today's racing card at Tropical Park. Covering the distance in 1:43 1-5, Balloter led two Argentine bred rivals to the finish to gain his first victory in ten starts this year. He had placed second or third in seven previous races. The winner paid $21.50 for $2 in the mutuels.

Cerisse III., owned by the King farm, and Comendador II., from the Superior stable, finished second and third.

Godoy Returns to New York Looking for a Mr. Joe Louis

New York, April 1 [Special].—Arturo Godoy, Chilean heavyweight, returned from California today and challenged Joe Louis to a return bout. Pointing out that he was the recognized No. 1 contender and that he went the limit in their first meeting, Godoy said he thought he beat Louis and was certain he could do it again.

Louis Victim of No-Count in New York

BY FRANK MASTRO.

"Louis wins when the referee stops the bout," Announcer Harry Balogh said after Joe Louis had made a 10th successful defense of his heavyweight championship by knocking out Johnny Paycheck in the second round in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

According to the rules, the 1934 Golden Gloves champion did not knock out Paycheck, altho sports writers covering the match were unanimous in saying it was a clean knockout. The fight movies back them in this instance. At the same time the films take a slap at Arthur Donovan, who has refereed all Louis' title bouts in New York.

The movies showed that Donovan's failure to count out Paycheck when the Iowan was down and out may have been due to excitability or refusal to give Louis credit for a clean knockout. Repeatedly Referee Donovan has failed to count out fallen boxers as required by the rules.

Fans Asking Questions About Those No-Counts.

Fans yesterday asked these questions:

Is it because Donovan doesn't want to give the boxer scoring the knockdown credit for a clean knockout?

Or is it because he is thinking of the welfare of the fallen boxer and wants to see that he receives medical attention as soon as possible, if necessary?

Says Donovan Violates Rules of Pro Ring.

Whatever the reason, one thing is certain: Donovan violates the rules of the professional game when he does not count out a fallen boxer.

It is believed Donovan has broken the New York commission regulations in at least four of the seven Louis title bouts he has refereed in New York, including the Paycheck encounter.

Two of the few times Donovan did not commit an obvious violation were when he officiated at the Louis-Arturo Godoy and Louis-Tommy Farr matches. This was because neither Godoy nor Farr suffered a knockdown during 15 round stints against the champion. Louis' other championship stands were made outside of New York—against Bob Pastor in Detroit, Harry Thomas in Chicago, and Jack Roper in Los Angeles.

GOLDEN GLOVERS' RIVALRY GROWS FOR TEAM BERTHS

BY HOWARD BARRY.

"Never underestimate a man as long as he's on his feet." That's the motto of Chicagoland's Golden Gloves squad as expressed by Savior Canadeo, captain of the team which fought New York to a tie and which is now preparing to meet the champions of Europe in the international matches in the Stadium a week from tomorrow.

Canadeo made the above remark as he drew on his gloves to go thru two rounds of sparring with his teammates yesterday afternoon in the Illinois Athletic club gymnasium. A few minutes previously, Coach Johnny Behr had warned the boys of what they're going to be up against. He cautioned them against overconfidence but he also said that they were members of one of the best teams he had ever coached.

Canadeo Draws Agren.

Canadeo's job is going to be one of the toughest on the program because he will be called upon to meet Eric Agren, who won the welterweight championship as his contribution to Europe's victory over Chicago in last year's international matches. As captain of the squad, Canadeo has an additional responsibility but he showed he was equal to it by beating his New York opponent at a time when another Chicago defeat would have been fatal to his team's chances in the intercity matches.

Canadeo didn't see Agren fight last year. He asked a few questions about the Swedish star yesterday and

TEAM EAGER FOR ADVENTURE IN GOLDEN GLOVES

Squad Will Arrive in Chicago Thursday.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD THE VULCANIA, April 1.—The European boxing champions went to bed early tonight thrilled that on tomorrow the Statue of Liberty will come within their vision as the motorship Vulcania makes for port in New York. By tomorrow night they will be installed in one of the city's skyscraper hotels and their American adventure, anticipated all these days, will have started.

After a short pause in New York, the squad and officials will leave for Chicago, arriving there Thursday to prepare for the ninth international combat with Chicagoland's Golden Glovers April 10 in Chicago Stadium.

The three Swedish members of the invading champions, Heavyweight Olle Tandberg, Welterweight Eric Agren, and Middleweight Karl Noren, today excitedly showed their comrades a cablegram from the Swedish-American Association of Chicago welcoming them to the United States. They look forward to meeting their countrymen in America with keen anticipation.

Get Breath of Spring.

The breath of spring caught up with the fistic adventurers today as the boat sped thru the Gulf stream. The sudden break in the weather made the 10th day on board ship the most enjoyable of all. The boxers had begun to tire of restricted activity. They were up earlier than usual for road work and, except for meals and mass, spent the entire day on the sports deck basking in the sun.

Agren has been dubbed the Swedish Henry Armstrong by his mates because of his record and a sizzling style of attack similar to that employed by the welterweight champion. He has been named captain of the Swedish delegation. Tandberg, who is younger, and Noren, who has made no headway in fathoming the mysteries of the English language, look upon Agren as their leader.

This is Agren's second trip to Chicago. He was the welterweight representative on the European team last year and knocked out William Paull of Detroit with one punch in the second round. He is one of four fighting brothers. One is Karl, Golden Gloves champion in 1930 and now the proprietor of a Wisconsin health resort.

Brothers Go to Finals.

Brother Thure reached the national finals in Sweden last month in the welterweight division and Oscar was the middleweight finalist. Eric, however, was the only one to win a title, successfully defending the lightweight crown he has held since 1937. He always enters tournament competition in this class to give his other brothers a chance. Since the first of the year he has had official matches in the lightweight, welterweight, and middleweight brackets.

Karl was the first boxer in the family, leaving the farm home of his father, 40 miles from Stockholm, to seek his fortune in America. Newspaper accounts of his conquests in the new world inspired his brothers. Eric's career dates back to 1933, when he began as a bantamweight.

Wins Bantam Title.

In 1934 the 18 year old lad entered his first tournament, winning the Swedish bantamweight championship. There was a slight lapse in his ring activity when he and his brother Oscar started a coffee business. They purchased an ancient automobile, mixed their own coffee, and peddled it among the farmers. Business prospered. Then one day Eric, while driving the route alone, neglected to turn when he came to a curve on a mountain road. That ended the brothers' car—and business venture.

Eric then became an automobile mechanic and resumed boxing. Today he is the most popular ringman in the Scandinavian countries, not excepting Tandberg. Agren now is an aviation mechanic. His popularity accrues as much from a pleasing personality as his vigorous boxing

A HOT TIME IS HAD IN ANOTHER HOOSIER TOWN

Fort Wayne Honors Its Catholic Prep Champions.

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

The northern section of Indiana yesterday celebrated another basketball holiday. Hammond had opened festivities Sunday following Hammond Tech's triumph in the Indiana state tournament Saturday night, and Fort Wayne of Hoosierland fell in line yesterday to honor Central Catholic High school's quintet, which Sunday night won its second consecutive national Catholic prep championship, defeating St. Michael's of Santa Fe, N. M., 35 to 33, in Loyola university gymnasium.

Central Catholic's followers gathered around Edmund Stanczek, the Hoosiers' giant center, who brought Fort Wayne the title by scoring two spectacular field goals in the final two minutes of the game. Edward Klotz, little guard, also came in for a large share of the Hoosiers' cheers for his brilliant long shots in the last two periods of the exciting battle.

Take Nets Back Home.

In addition to various cups and medals, the Hoosiers traveled to Fort Wayne with two other souvenirs from Chicago—the nets from the baskets in Loyola gymnasium. Immediately after the victory over Santa Fe, the Hoosiers swarmed over their coach, John Levicki, former Notre Dame athlete. Then they hoisted little Klotz, equipped with a knife, to the baskets and the cords were deftly removed, indicating the small Hoosier had enjoyed previous experience in the assignment.

Stanczak, whose performances gave him a place on Loyola's list of tournament stars, which include Tony Lawless, Ed Krause, and Bob Schumann, improved his scoring record. In the 1939 meet, Stanczak scored 60 points on 25 baskets and 10 free throws in five tournament games. The towering center won individual honors again this season with 88 points in five contests.

Santa Fe Plays Well.

Santa Fe's players and the Spanish coach, Salvador Perez, are returning to the desert city pleased by the showing against the Hoosiers. The New Mexico champions had succeeded in checking Stanczak for 30 minutes and also feeding their star forward, John [Buster] Hiller to lead from the start of the game until the final two minutes when Klotz tied the score. Stanczak then sank the winning goal with one minute to go.

Hiller was named on the All-Tournament team selected by officials and sports writers along with Ben Tibbitts, red headed Indian from St. Francis Mission, S. D.; Stan Patrick of Leo, which won third place from the Indians, 45 to 22; Sol Rizzo, St. Philip, Chicago; William Feeney, Central Catholic, Pittsburgh, Pa.; James Rierden, Campion academy, Wisconsin; Dick Collentine, Messmer High, Milwaukee, and Gordon Hill, St. Simon Stock, New York City. Stanczak was given the most valuable player trophy and the award made him ineligible for the squad. The big Hoosier was an All-Tournament selection last year.

Honor Leo's Squad Tonight.

Leo's squad will be honored tonight at a dinner in the Log Cabin, 2300 West 95th street. The banquet was arranged by the Leo Fathers' club. The South Siders, who won the city title by defeating St. Philip, 27 to 25, went to the semifinal round of the tournament, but lost to Fort Wayne, 51 to 42.

GILLS INCREASE BOWLING LEAD; TWO SHARE 2D

Altho losing two games to the first place Joseph Gill quintet, the Mineralites moved into a second place tie with the Budweisers in the Windy City Major league last night. Budweisers, meantime, were losing three to Quality Wet Wash. The Gills thus increased their lead to three games.

The Quality quintet had high team series of 3,156, including high individual series of 724 by Howard Murphy. Jim Krizek of the G. & W. Five Stars bowled 695. Scores:

SCHLITZ IDLE, BUT GAIN.

The Schamberger Schlitz quintet, leading the American Bowling congress tournament in Detroit, was idle last night in the North End Traveling league, but its league leading margin was increased to two and a half games over the Birk Brothers quintet. The Birks lost two to the Budweisers and thus missed a chance to close in on the Schlitz, whose match with the Jolly Jacks was postponed.

Leo Faetz had high individual game of 267 and high series of 667. Scores:

Wild Bill M'Dowell Beats Phil Furr in Washington

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—Wild Bill McDowell of Dallas, Tex., scored a decision over Phil Furr of Washington in 10 rounds tonight. McDowell weighed 151 pounds, Furr, 148. Furr Knocked the Texan down in the sixth round.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Blablah, $5.80 straight, $3.50 place, $3.10 show; Autumnquest, $7.60 place, $6.80 show; Remolee, $17.90 show.

BLABLAH much the best. She assumed command at start, drew away easily, winning nicely in hand. AUTUMNQUEST was taken to middle of the track in last furlong, closed with a rush and was second in last stride. REMOLEE, well up all the way made a game effort. SUN SALVATOR followed pace closely for half a mile then tired. SQUARE PLAY ran good race.

THIRD RACE—Purse $1,000. Claiming. Four year olds and up. Six furlongs. Start good. Won driving; place same. Went to post at 3:42. Off at once. Two dollar mutuels paid: Rawson, $6.40 straight, $3.70 place, $2.50 show; Ringie, $9.30 place, $5.60 show; Millfang, $2.70 show.

RAWSON, on the inside displayed great speed, opened a wide gap entering stretch, tired suddenly and just lasted to win. RINGIE, outrun to the stretch was taken to the outside and closed with a rush. He would have won in another stride. MILLFANG, well up all the way was eased back at far turn, came again in last sixteenth. WOOD CHOPPER, flash of early speed.

SIXTH RACE—Purse $1,000. Four year olds and up. Mile and a sixteenth. Start good. Won driving; place easily. Went to post at 5:10½. Off at 5:11. Winner, b. or br. g., 6, by Prince Pal-Salvation Lass, by Leonardo II. Owner, Mrs. E. D. Jacobs. Trainer, H. Jacobs. Net value to winner, $700; second, $180; third, $90; fourth, $30. Time, 1:51.

THE QUEEN, moved up very fast turning out of backstretch, took lead and drew away easily. HOWARD closed a big gap under weak handling. HEAD HUNTER slipped thru on inside and ran good race. DARK MAY had early speed. MOLASSES BILL closed a big gap.

War Thwarts Olympic Title Quest by Rice

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 1.—The war, preventing Finland from holding the Olympic games this summer, quite likely has barred the United States from its first 5,000 meter championship. For, when Greg Rice, formerly of Notre Dame, rocketed through the last lap and a half last night in Madison Square Garden to a three mile indoor record, he whipped Taisto Maki of Finland, who would have been his most dangerous rival in the Olympic 5,000 meters.

Rice's new record, which displaces the three mile mark he established on the same track in February, is 13:52.3. In second place was Don Lash, former Indiana university middle distance star, who was timed in 13:55. Lash followed Rice in the sprint and also passed the tiring Finn. Maki's time was 13:56.8.

See Rice as Best Ever.

Maki holds the world outdoor record for the distance, but Rice's running in the winter campaign stamps him as the greatest middle distance star the United States has developed. Observers, including his coach, John Nicholson, believe he will continue to develop until he is recognized as the greatest runner in the world.

Unlike sprinters and hurdlers, who have only a brief span of peak performance, Rice probably has five or six years ahead. Rice hasn't been out of training for two years, which accounts for his form this winter.

Rice's superiority rests on his ability to run against the watch or to run against an opponent. Last night he ran against Maki and knowing that he had the necessary sprint for the last quarter, he merely stayed within a stride of Maki until time to turn on the power.

Tremendous Finish Speed.

Unlike Lash, who lengthens his stride when he sprints as do most runners, Rice shortens his stride for his finishing drive. His final lap last night to the furious playing of Notre Dame's Victory march by the band, which nearly was drowned out by the roar of cheers from the crowd, is one of the memorable events of the athletic year.

Receipts of the meet were $19,317.70 of which approximately $12,000 will go to the Finnish relief fund.

AMERICANS GET ONLY SLIM CUT IN SWEEPSTAKES

DUBLIN, Ireland, April 1 (AP).—Americans shared meagerly in today's drawing for Irish hospitals sweepstakes prizes on Friday's Grand National steeplechase at Aintree, England, holding only three of 10 tickets drawn on favorites.

In the words by which they identified themselves on their ticket stubs, the lucky three were:

"A Little Luck," 820 4th avenue, New York City, who holds a ticket on Professor II., second favorite at 9 to 1.

D. L. Baker, 1739 North Shore avenue, Chicago, with a ticket on Sterling Duke, bracketed with Symaethis, at 100 to 6.

Holders of tickets on the horse which wins Friday's race will receive $106,050 prizes, those having the second horse $53,025 prizes, and those having the third horse $35,350.

BILL LEE TO FACE SOX IN GAME AT EL PASO TODAY

Grove and Appleton Will Oppose Cub Ace.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bisbee, Ariz., April 1.—The White Sox-Cubs circus train which has housed the athletes since last Thursday will be broken up tomorrow in El Paso, where two more games of the informal city series will be played. From El Paso the Sox will go to Lubbock, Tex., to open a tour with the Pirates. The Cubs will be taken to San Antonio where they are scheduled to pick up the St. Louis Browns.

Bill Lee will pitch for the Cubs against the Sox tomorrow and will go as many innings as possible. That's the way the Cub pitchers will be worked from now on, the idea being to build up nine-inning stamina. Manager Jimmy Dykes, who never bothers about nine inning pitchers before the season opens, will pit Orval Grove and Pete Appleton against Lee.

The mile high Bisbee ball park was swept by a chilly wind of gale velocity today. Clouds of dust frequently hid the athletes from each other as well as from the slim crowd. For variety dark clouds kept slipping over the mountains and shedding either a few drops of rain or snow flakes. One section of the fence succumbed to the big blow.

The two days in El Paso may develop news of interest to some of the Sox rookies such as Ken Reid, John Gerlach, Joe Weeks, Lew Leiter and Frank Metha. Arrangements have been about completed for shipping some of them to the minors.

Managers Dykes and Hartnett now are deputy sheriffs in two Arizona counties. Yesterday at Phoenix they were commissioned to snare law breakers in Maricopa county. Today they were deputized by the sheriff of Cochise county.

The Sox have until April 25 to give Pitcher Ed Weiland his release or pay him a bonus of $1,000. That was the understanding when he signed after being made a free agent in Commissioner Landis' delivery of 91 Detroit farm hands. The young fellow has suddenly made such a good impression that he probably will not be turned loose.

Don Kolloway, the rookie who is doing the Sox second basing because of Jack Hayes' eye trouble, reported himself fit as a fiddle today despite the going over to which the Cubs subjected him yesterday in Phoenix. First, Charley Root hit him over the left kidney with a pitched ball. Later Rogell slid into him in an unnecessarily rough manner and bruised his shin. The Sox intend to take care of Rogell at a later date.

Manager Hartnett still thinks he may open the season with Rogell at short, but admits he is not entirely sold on the idea. The ex-Tiger started off well, but of late has neither fielded nor hit impressively.

Jackie Hayes left for Chicago today to receive treatment for an optical nerve that is acting up. The Sox second baseman believes specks of coal dust are causing the trouble and will have a Loop specialist look over the eye. He hopes to rejoin his mates before the close of their exhibition tour.

News About the Horsey Set: Bimelech to Kentucky Soon

Lexington, Ky., April 1 (AP).—E. R. Bradley, whose Bimelech is the winter book favorite to capture the Kentucky Derby May 4, is expected to return to Idle Hour farm from Palm Beach, Fla., April 13, members of the farm management said today.

MOON MULLINS—A MORNING GLORY

DON'T THINK YOU'RE GONNA PLAY POKER WITH THAT BUNCH OF BUMS TONIGHT. I'LL FIND YOU SOMETHIN' BETTER TO DO.
BUT, BABY, I DON'T WANT NOTHING BETTER TO DO.
LADY PLUSHBOTTOM, MEET THE MISSUS.
CHARMED, I'M SURE. AND THIS, I PRESUME, IS LORD PLUSHBOTTOM.
IT IS NOT!

Sparta's Scoring Ace

The Sparta Falstaffs may be without the services of Jimmy Wolf, star left winger, when they meet the Morgan Sport club of Pittsburgh, Pa., Sunday in Sparta Stadium, 21st street and Kostner avenue. It is the first of a two game series for the national western championship.

Wolf is suffering from a severe knee injury, but club officials are hopeful he will have recovered sufficiently by game time to play. The Spartas, led by Jimmy MacDermott, highest scorer in middlewestern soccer, hope to repeat their success of two years ago when they won the national title.

Sunday's contest will start at 3 o'clock.

THREE OF EIGHT STARS WIN IN 3D ROUND OF TENNIS

Three of the eight seeded stars in the annual Western Indoor Tennis championship tournament in the 108th Engineers Armory, won their third round tests last night.

Frank Froehling of the Chicago Town and Tennis club defeated Robert Smidl of the River Forest T. C., 6-3, 6-2. Froehling is seeded second to Bobby Riggs.

Gardner Larned of the Morgan Park High school, seeded fifth, defeated the veteran Hoyt Parmelee of the Fullerton T. C., 6-2, 8-6, and John Foreman, No. 8, took the measure of Art Long, Hamilton Park T. C., 6-3, 6-2.

Red Sox Beat Vander Meer and Reds, 9-6

Charleston, S. C., April 1 (AP).—The Boston Red Sox cut loose with 10 hits in four innings today to defeat the Cincinnati Reds, 9 to 6.

Ted Williams hit a home run off Johnny Vander Meer in the first, and before Johnny was relieved in the second three more runs had crossed the plate. Johnny Hutchings, his successor, fared little better, being nipped for a run in the third and a trio of doubles good for three tallies in the fourth.

Held to two hits thru five innings, the National league champions made two runs in the sixth on a walk, Frank McCormick's double and Harry Craft's single, and added four more in the seventh. Score:

PHILLIES HAVE FULL DAY.

Miami Beach, Fla., April 1 (AP).—Chuck Klein's triple with the bases full in the last inning gave the Grays a 6 to 4 victory over the Blues in an intracamp struggle this morning. In the afternoon the Phillies whipped the Miami Beach All-Stars, 18 to 0.

BROWNS GET TWO HOLIDAYS.

San Antonio, Tex., April 1 (AP).—The St. Louis Browns, with a record of 12 victories in 15 games, rested today and watched the Champion New York Yankees in action against the San Antonio Missions. The Browns will be idle again tomorrow. The Yankees won, 9 to 3. Score:

CARDINALS LOSE, 2 TO 1.

Hollywood, Fla., April 1 (AP).—The St. Louis Cardinals dropped a 2 to 1 decision to Columbus of the American association here today after rallying to tie the score in the first half of the ninth inning. Lynn Myers drove in the winning run with a single after two were down. Score:

St. Louis [N]	000	000	001	—	1	7	3

SENATORS WIN, 15 TO 0.

Sanford [GF]	000	000	000	—	0	5	2

DETROIT WINS, 5 TO 3.

Lakeland, Fla., April 1 (AP).—Tommy Bridges displayed midseason form today, yielding only five hits in eight innings, as the Detroit Tigers defeated Indianapolis of the American association, 5 to 3.

Only 19 batsmen faced Bridges in the first six innings, but he tired in the seventh and eighth as the Indians scored three runs. The Tigers, meanwhile, pounded Mike Balas and Gene Hinrichs for 10 hits, including home runs by Frank Secory and Pinky Higgins. Score:

PIRATES BEAT A'S TWICE.

Phoenix, Ariz., April 1 (AP).—The Pittsburgh Pirates won a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Athletics today, 8 to 7 and 8 to 5.

Wally Moses' homer with two on gave the A's a 7 to 6 lead in the opener, but two bases on balls, a sacrifice, and Rizzo's single gave the Pirates the winning runs in the sixth.

In the nightcap the Pirates scored seven of their runs in the sixth and seventh innings off Ed Heusser and Les McRabb. Earle Brucker hit a pinch homer with two on for the A's in the seventh. Score:

SECOND GAME.

GIANTS, 8; INDIANS, 6.

Thomasville, Ga., April 1 (AP).—Cliff Melton held the Cleveland Indians to four hits and one run in seven innings today while the New York Giants exploded a four run attack against Willis Hudlin in the first and went on to beat the Indians, 8 to 6. The victory gave the Giants a 2 to 1 edge in their spring series, which has 13 more games to go.

Johnny McCarthy's home run with two on base started the first inning scoring, while Ben Chapman's homer was the only run off Melton. The tables were turned, however, when Jimmy Lynn and Harry Eisenstat took the hill and only a three run rally in the ninth saved the Giants. Score:

MARYLAND WINS.

College Park, Md., April 1 [Special].—Scoring at least twice in each quarter, Maryland university today began the defense of the national collegiate La Crosse title by trouncing Dartmouth, 12 to 4.

Rangers, Leafs Clash Tonight in 1st Cup Playoff

New York, April 1 (AP).—The New York Rangers and Toronto Maple Leafs open the final series of the National Hockey league's Stanley cup playoffs tomorrow night in Madison Square Garden with the Rangers favored to take the trophy they last won in 1933. The Rangers are favorites not only because of their six game conquest of the Boston Bruins but because, during the regular season, they established a definite superiority over the Leafs. In eight clashes, the Rangers won four, tied three, and lost one.

This series will mark the third time the Rangers and Leafs have clashed for the Stanley cup. In 1932 Toronto won, and a year later the Rangers triumphed in four games.

Golden Gloves Rivals Battle for 8 Places

weighed the answers carefully. He broke into a smile when some one predicted he'd put Agren on the floor. "I'll be in there throwing lefts, anyway," he said.

The boys have plenty of respect for their opponents and there's a good reason why they should. Chicago has been able to score only one victory in the last three years of competition against Europe's champions. One ended in a tie and Europe took the other, 5 to 3.

Coach Behr and his assistants, Paddy Kane and Fred Caserio, have only one criticism of the present squad—some of the boys like to eat a little too well. Behr cautioned them yesterday that the time has come to concentrate on getting down to fighting weight so that they won't have to shed pounds rapidly in the last few days of training.

"Only eight of you are going to be picked for the internationals," Behr reminded them, "and condition is going to count a lot when we make our choices."

Squad Rivalry Increases.

Intense rivalry for those eight places was renewed yesterday as the quota of sparring was stepped up. In most cases the coaches shuffled the weights a bit, matching a flyweight against a bantamweight or a lightweight against a welterweight. This served a double purpose. In the first place it will get the boys used to boxing with opponents bigger and more rugged than themselves. That's the situation many will have to cope with in the internationals for the European squad is composed of more mature athletes.

In the second place, the coaches aren't ready to let the youngsters go at one another the way they'd be tempted to do if two rivals for the same position were matched up for a sparring session. There will be time for that later in the week.

TRIBUNE SPORTS EDITOR SPEAKS IN BURLINGTON, IA.

Burlington, Ia., April 1 [Special].—Arch Ward, sports editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, was the principal speaker at a municipal banquet held in honor of Burlington's state champion junior college basketball team here tonight.

Burlington, winner of the Iowa championship for the last two years, also beat Morton Junior college of Cicero, Illinois' junior college champion, in a post season game last week. Coach J. F. Thomason, Capt. Ralph Youngstrom, and Edson Cornick, president of the junior chamber of commerce, which sponsored the banquet, also gave brief talks. Frederic O. Larrabee was toastmaster. There was a capacity attendance of 300 persons.

HARVARD WINS IN NINTH.

Chapel Hill, N. C., April 1 [Special].—Rallying in the late innings, Harvard pushed across two runs in the ninth inning to defeat North Carolina, 6 to 5 today.

WHITE SOX WHIP CUBS, 8 TO 6, IN AN ARIZONA STORM

Bryant Yields Five Runs in First Inning.

Sox Hammer Raffensberger.

The Sox broke loose against Raffensberger shortly after Ken had entered the storm swept scene at the start of the sixth. With one down Mike Tresh singled and Ed Weiland walked. The game was delayed at this juncture because of snow and when it was resumed Kolloway doubled to left, scoring Tresh and Weiland.

With one out in the eighth Russell knocked his homer, the first hit off Weiland. Clyde McCullough singled and took second on a wild pitch but Billy Rogell flied to Solters and Raffensberger bounced out.

The Cubs had visions of getting back into the ball game when the first three batters reached base in the ninth. Hack walked and scored on successive singles by Herman and Gleeson. With the tying runs on base Nicholson popped to Webb and Dallessandro hit into a game ending double play.

RICHARD SEIBOLD, Meister Bräu Brewmaster

HOW TO MAKE THE "50-DEGREES" TEST
Which has turned thousands to the all-grain flavor of Meister Bräu

Take a bottle of Meister Bräu and one of any other beer at average refrigerator temperature. Let stand until it's the proper temperature. Then open and compare flavors. Use an ordinary food thermometer such as you can get at a ten-cent store.

Ask for Meister Bräu Draft Beer. Bars take special care to serve it at the proper temperature.

DRINK YOUR BEER AT 50 DEGREES

FOLKS who over-chill their beer don't get full enjoyment out of it. They miss so much of the flavor they really can't tell whether they like the beer they're drinking or not.

Beer flavor—good or bad—shows up at 50 degrees temperature. Cold disguises the flavor. You taste the cold more than you taste the beer. Warm it up a little and you taste delicious richness you never knew was there—or maybe you find out that you really don't like that beer.

We have been making beer to suit the 50-degree drinkers for 49 years. Won't add sugars or syrups to the brew, and bottle with only natural draft beer carbonation created in the brew itself—so Meister Bräu has natural life and sparkle—true all-grain flavor. We've pleased the "beer cranks"—and a lot of other folks too. More people buy it every day.

I wish you'd taste and compare beer flavors with the "50-degrees" test. I'm sure you'd be delighted with the delicious flavor of Meister Bräu. And, I doubt if you would ever again say "Give me a bottle of Beer"—you'll ask for the brand you prefer.

"THANKS FOR INTRODUCING ME TO the Perfect-taste cigar"

I can't forget that night, John. It was perfect—everything about it. I was delighted with the moonlight and the music—and you were so pleased with your Robt. Burns cigar that father introduced to you.

And then you said, "What a night—what a girl—and what a cigar! There's nothing like a Robt. Burns with its all-Havana filler to give you perfect taste. And I notice that you seem to like its fragrant aroma..."

Then I knew what you meant by "Perfect taste"... A Robt. Burns Cigar tastes perfect—and it's in perfect taste everywhere—any time.

CHAS. W. SCHICK DIES; LEADER IN AMERICAN LEGION

Former State Commander Stricken at 83.

Charles W. Schick, past state commander of the Illinois department of the American Legion, and regarded as one of the leading figures in national Legion affairs, died early today in his home at 4300 Lake Shore drive. He was 83 years old.

Death was attributed to a heart attack. Mr. Schick had appeared as usual yesterday in his offices in the loop. He was a representative of the New York Life Insurance company.

On Legion Committee.

Mr. Schick was a member of the national defense committee of the American Legion, and a commander in the United States naval reserves. During the war he was a naval enrollment officer in Chicago.

To Legionnaires he was known as "Daddy" Schick. One of the pioneer members of the ex-service men's organization, he was elected state commander in 1922. He was made a knight of the Legion of Honor of France in 1938.

Mr. Schick helped bring the Legion's national conventions to Chicago in 1933 and in 1939.

Saw Civil War Battle.

He was born in Gettysburg, Pa. As a small boy he witnessed actual fighting in the historic civil war battle there in 1863. One incident he always remembered vividly was a mounted cavalry charge by the 8th Illinois regiment.

Mr. Schick was a widower. He is survived by two brothers, David W. of San Diego, Cal., and John L. of Edgewater, N. J. Plans for a military funeral will be made today.

BATTLE FOREST FIRES IN ILLINOIS; 8,000 ACRES BURN

Pinckneyville, Ill., April 1 (AP).—Volunteers battled forest and field fires over a wide area in southern Illinois today. The most threatening blazes were reported in Perry county, where 40 state employed fire fighters were rushed to save several homes.

Paul Seastrom, district forester, estimated that 7,000 to 8,000 acres had been burned over Saturday. This included about 600 acres in Union State Forest in Union county. Several fires covering from 50 to 500 acres were reported in Johnson, Hamilton, and Wayne counties.

Seastrom said that altho some of the Wayne county fires were in the vicinity of oil fields, no wells were endangered.

SNOW WHITE'S A TEACHER NOW, IN MULTIPLICATION

Kindergarten pupils of the Scanlan school, 11725 Perry avenue, are already learning about multiplication. In January their teacher, Miss Rena H. Bayne, brought a large Belgian hare to the class for a nature study project.

The rabbit, promptly called Snow White, made itself right at home. Today it mothers "Seven Little Dwarfs" and one so-called "Pee-Wee" in the kindergarten pen. The children bring oat meal, dry bread and fresh vegetables from their homes for the bunnies and are very careful to keep the pen clean.

"In addition to learning kindness toward animals," says Miss Bayne, "there has been a noticeable decrease in the number of children absent from classes. Not to complicate matters, however, I have left the father rabbit out on the farm."

ALBERT GOODRICH ESTATE'S VALUE IS SET AT $304,178

The estate of Albert W. Goodrich, city fire commissioner from 1927 to 1931, was valued at $304,178 in a final accounting approved yesterday by Joseph Geary, assistant to Probate Judge John F. O'Connell. It was appraised at $100,000 at the time of his death on March 30, 1938, and consisted largely of stocks. After taxes, expenses of administration, claims, and minor bequests, the balance of $160,017 was left to the widow, Mrs. Anna Goodrich, 942 Lake Shore drive.

April Grand Jury Sworn; Has One Woman Member

The April grand jury was sworn in yesterday by Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court. Edward E. McBride, 5632 Blackstone avenue, an architect, who held the same position with another grand jury some years ago, was named foreman. The lone woman on the jury is Mrs. Mae L. McCarthy, 2814 Warren avenue.

SEEK PURCHASE OF 100 NEW TYPE GARBAGE TRUCKS

A recommendation that the city purchase—for $500,000—100 new garbage trucks of the types used in New York City will be considered this morning by a city council subcommittee.

Purchase of the trucks has been recommended by Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works. The subcommittee on new equipment, to which the proposal was referred, is headed by Ald. Roger Kiley [37th].

SWEAR NEW U. S. GRAND JURY; 2 OTHERS AT WORK

The federal grand jury for April, composed of 17 men and 6 women, was sworn in yesterday by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson. S. J. Nelson, 4107 North Major avenue, a teller at the First National bank, was appointed foreman. Judge Wilkerson also extended the term of the March grand jury for another month. The February grand jury's term had already been extended thru this month so that the jurors might complete their investigation of bootleg racing news service and continue the investigation of gamblers' incomes.

TRIBUNE'S RADIO SERIES TO HAIL FUTURE CITIZENS

School Show Begins on W-G-N Tomorrow.

Stories of typical Illinois high school boys and girls will be told in "Citizens of Tomorrow," a series of weekly radio programs which will begin tomorrow night from 7 to 7:30 o'clock over W-G-N, sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Six hundred pupils from Lake View High school will hear the first broadcast as studio guests. Other groups will be invited each week.

A Drum Majorette's Story.

Tomorrow night's story will be about an Illinois high school drum majorette who likes to play football with boys. "Jerry," the girl, will be portrayed by Dorothy Gregory, 16 year old senior of Maine Township High school, near Park Ridge.

Philip Maxwell of The Tribune editorial staff will play the rôle of school principal and Ed Sprague, veteran radio actor, will be cast as the school engineer.

Prizes for News Quiz.

Mr. Maxwell also will conduct a Tribune news quiz in which three boys and three girls from among the studio guests will participate. Winners will be awarded cash prizes.

James B. McCahey, president of the Chicago board of education, and other educators will be honor guests at the first broadcast. Blair Walliser of the W-G-N production staff will be in charge. Francis Coughlin is writing the script.

Policeman Shot with Own Pistol; Blames Robbers

Policeman Joseph Meagher, 29 years old, of the Central station, was shot in the left forearm early today. He reported he received the wound in a scuffle with two holdup men in the 1100 block in Fullerton avenue. He said he was walking in uniform when the two men drove up and demanded his money. The two men seized him, he said, and in the struggle the gun was discharged and he was wounded. The men escaped. Meagher was taken to the Alexian Brothers hospital. He lives at 5457 Winthrop avenue.

OBITUARIES

John J. Sweeney.

Services for John J. Sweeney, a lifelong resident of the south side and a retired city building inspector, will be held tomorrow at 11 a. m. in St. Leo's church, 78th street and Emerald avenue. Mr. Sweeney died Sunday of a heart attack in his home at 7719 Peoria street. He was 69 years old. He leaves his widow, Mary; four sons, Dr. Martin A. Sweeney, Attorney Matthew B. Sweeney, Walter J. Sweeney, a glazing contractor, and Edwin T. Sweeney, in charge of tax suits for the state's attorney's office, and five daughters, Mrs. Marie Trainor, Mrs. Joanne Mulcahy, Mrs. Catherine Meehan, Mrs. Eileen Donnellan, and Mrs. Virginia Braasch.

Louis Brockway, a fireman on the city's fireboats in the '90s, died yesterday in his home, 2656 Seminary avenue. He was 78 years old. Mr. Brockway, a widower, was a machinist for the International Harvester company for many years before he retired in 1928.

Mrs. Alvina Oesterle.

Mrs. Alvina Oesterle, 67 years old, mother of Mrs. Jean Lamberty, Democratic ward committeewoman in the 15th ward, died yesterday in the German Deaconess hospital. Mrs. Oesterle lived at 1720 Garfield boulevard. Another daughter, Mrs. Eleanore Knoblauch, also survives.

[ADVERTISMENT]
16 SCIENTISTS
Reveal Great Discovery About
CONSTIPATION
Tests at World-Famous Hospital Show How To Help Nature Produce Her Own Gentle, Complete "Daily" Bowel Action!

NEW YORK: Constipation sufferers rejoice! For now violent cathartics and laxatives and harsh "roughage" products, many of which are habit forming and are often irritating to bowel lining—can be avoided.

You see if waste matter in the colon isn't kept moist it becomes hard, dry, caked and results in constipation. These scientists discovered that a "little daily dose" of Kruschen actually keeps this waste matter moist, soft and easy to expel. Also acts as a mild antacid and kidney diuretic.

There is no nausea, no griping, no violence with Kruschen. Hospital tests report: "Kruschen can be taken for years without having to increase the dose." Inexpensive! Only a trifle for a jar that lasts weeks. Over 245,000,000 jars of Kruschen have been sold thruout the world. Kruschen must do the work!

OBITUARIES

The Rev. Frank F. Beckerman.

The Rev. Frank F. Beckerman, for 17 years on the staff of the Episcopal city missions, died yesterday in Presbyterian hospital of injuries resulting from a fall. He was 68 years old. Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 10 a. m. by Bishop George Craig Stewart in St. James church. The Rev. Mr. Beckerman was ordained in 1898. He was placed in charge of the missions of the Good Shepherd, 2400 South Lawndale avenue, and St. Stephen's, 3533 North Albany avenue. Later he served in Iowa, Missouri, and Colorado. His widow, who lives at 1615 Jackson boulevard, and two sons, both of Chicago, survive.

Mrs. Emma Simonds.

Mrs. Emma Simonds, 84 years old, died yesterday in her home at 1414 North Dearborn street. She was born in Ellis Falls, Vt., and had lived in Massachusetts many years before moving to Chicago 18 years ago. Surviving are two sons, Harold B., organist at St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church, 1424 North Dearborn street, and instructor in music at the Presbyterian Theological seminary, and Raymond A. of Boston, Mass. Funeral services will be held in St. Chrysostom's church at 2 p. m. tomorrow. Burial will be in Forest Home cemetery.

Watertown, N. Y., April 1 (AP).—Mrs. Iva Harpster Bones, 94 years old, who in 1927 became one of the comparatively few women bank presidents in the United States, died at her home here today. She headed the Harpster bank of Harpster, O., founded by her father, David Harpster, for whom the city also was named. Her husband, William L. Bones, a former New York city wholesale dry goods merchant, died in 1908.

George E. Stewart.

Funeral services for George E. Stewart, a teacher of printing and commercial services at Washburn Vocational school who was a flyer in the aviation corps during the world war, will be held in St. Bride's church at 10 a. m. tomorrow. Mr. Stewart died Sunday in his home at 7637 Phillips avenue. He was 43 years old. He leaves two sisters, the Misses Mae and Mattie Stewart, and a brother, John H., Stewart.

Col. William W. Bessell.

Franklin, Pa., April 1 (AP).—Colonel William W. Bessell, 75 years old, a friend of General John J. Pershing and once chief of staff of the second division of the American expeditionary forces, died today. Col. Bessell rose from the ranks, beginning his service under Pershing as a sergeant in a cavalry troop. His son, Capt. W. W. Bessell Jr., served until recently as head of the Paris office of the American Monuments commission.

Mrs. Anna S. Ernberg.

Berea, Ky., April 1 (AP).—Mrs. Anna S. Ernberg, 66 years old, who was instrumental in developing the nationally known Fireside industries of Berea college, died tonight in the college hospital after a long illness. A native of Sweden, Mrs. Ernberg was an instructor in Pratt institute at Brooklyn, N. Y., and Teachers' college at Columbia university before she came to Berea. She retired in 1936.

AUTO DEALERS REJECT FEDERAL CONTROL PLAN

Vote 9 to 1 Against Patman Bill.

Detroit, Mich., April 1 [Special].—Automobile dealers of the nation decisively rejected a proposal to place the automotive industry under the control of the Federal Trade commission in a referendum poll conducted by the National Automobile Dealers association. Nearly nine out of ten voted opposition to the specific terms of a bill drafted by Representative Wright Patman of Texas, and more than three-fourths of the dealers registered opposition to federal regulatory legislation of any type.

Rep. Wright Patman proposed control.

Final figures on the poll were compiled today by Walter Blanchard, manager of the association. Blanchard said that 8,128 dealers opposed the Patman bill and 975 favored it.

Oppose Other Controls.

Dealers who opposed the Patman bill were asked a second question as to whether they favored any other type of federal legislation. The results were 6,996 opposed and 792 in favor.

After eliminating some duplications, Blanchard said the association found that 1,603 dealers favored either the Patman bill or another type of legislation, while 6,996 opposed either proposal.

The poll was conducted by mail, and 40,700 ballots were sent March 9 to all dealers of record in the United States, whether a member of the association or not. About 80 per cent of the dealers signed their ballots, Blanchard said, altho signatures were not required.

The result of the poll is advisory upon the association in determining its future policy, Blanchard said.

May Seek New Agreements.

He said he believes it likely the association will now seek to correct any abuses in the automobile industry by agreements with manufacturers to establish a standard form of contract between producer and dealer.

The Patman bill, which has not been introduced in congress, was drafted after a convention of the association had suggested that federal regulation be considered by its policy committee as an alternative to settling differences with manufacturers by negotiation. The bill provided that every contract between dealer and manufacturer contain certain standard provisions and be approved by the Federal Trade commission before being placed in effect.

Names Conference Group.

Stanley H. Horner, president of the dealers' association, announced the appointment of a subcommittee to confer with Donald Richberg, association counsel, on the scope of the proposed trade practice rules and procedure to be followed in negotiations looking toward industry self-regulation. Named to the subcommittee were Lynn Snow of Oak Park, Ill.; L. C. Cargile, Texarkana, Ark., and Harry Sommers, Atlanta, Ga.

SUIT CHARGES MONOPOLISTIC ELEVATOR RULE

Trenton, N. J., April 1 (AP).—Suit for $1,500,000 was filed in the United States District court today by the Staley Elevator Company, Inc., of New York, charging four companies and eight of their officers with violation of the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust laws.

Named as defendants were the Otis Elevator company, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, Westinghouse Electric Elevator company, and the National Elevator Manufacturing Industry, Inc.

The Staley corporation charged the last named was created for "the express purpose" of controling the industry, that the Staley firm was compelled to join it and then restricted to a quota of 20 elevators a year.

3 Producers Boost Prices of Auto Tires

Price increases of approximately 6 per cent were placed in effect yesterday by three leading producers of automobile tires—the B. F. Goodrich company, Firestone Tire and Rubber company, and United States Rubber company. The increases affect principally the prices of tires for trucks and higher priced passenger tires.

Selling prices of the most popular sizes and types of tires for passenger cars will remain unchanged, according to announcements issued by the companies. Other producers are expected to follow the price changes, altho the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, one of the largest, made no announcement.

Expect Larger Return.

Each of the three companies launched different price programs, describing the new schedules as likely "to increase somewhat the return to manufacturers."

From the profit standpoint of the manufacturers, a more important aspect of the new program is a revised schedule of discounts granted to dealers—a schedule termed the determining factor in tiremakers' net recovery.

These discounts have been altered to give dealers who buy in quantity a somewhat better price than the small buying distributors.

Reduced Last November.

List prices for tires were reduced as much as 12½ per cent last November by the industry in the face of increased raw material costs.

Prior to yesterday's revision, one of the smaller producers, Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, Mansfield, O., announced an increase of 5 to 7½ per cent in prices. The increase was ascribed to higher production costs.

PANIC EXPECTED ON SHANGHAI'S STOCK MARKET

SHANGHAI, April 2, Tuesday.—Absolute paralysis, which is expected to precede a panic, overtook Shanghai's stock market today when quotations on all issues were listed as "nominal" and not a single buying order was recorded.

This tense situation resulted from the announcement late yesterday that the Japanese community was nominating five candidates with the intention of obtaining control of the council of Shanghai's international settlement. The present council comprises five Britons, two Americans, and two Japanese. This ratio has been maintained under a long standing gentlemen's agreement.

If the Japanese obtain control of the council in next week's election both Chinese and foreign capital, heavily invested in many enterprises within the settlement, will be absolutely at the mercy of the Japanese.

It is estimated that there are 70,000 Japanese civilians in Shanghai. Of these 3,000 are permitted to vote. The British civilian community has 2,800 taxpayers. Therefore the only way to defeat Japan's aims is a combination of British, American, and all other foreign voting taxpayers against the five Japanese candidates.

FARM SPOKESMEN SUPPORT BILL TO FREE CREDIT UNIT

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—Louis Taber, head of the National Grange, urged today that the Farm Credit administration be divorced from the department of agriculture, to "prevent the danger of centralization of authority and burocratic control."

Taber followed John D. Miller, president of the National Council of Farm Coöperatives, in urging a senate banking subcommittee to approve legislation to make the FCA an independent agency.

The FCA, previously an independent agency, was made subject to the authority of the secretary of agriculture under President Roosevelt's government reorganization program.

"To vest supervision of farmers' credit agencies in any political department," Miller asserted, "means that they will be immediately weakened and ultimately destroyed."

Pigs Pull Apr. 1 Trick--It's No Joke to Raisers

It was a mean April 1st trick that hogs pulled on their owners when they slid down to new six year low price levels at the stockyards yesterday. Declines were from 10 to 25 cents per 100 pounds. Prices were lowest for April 1 in 41 years, excepting the two depression years, 1932 and 1933, and farmers are gravely concerned.

The top fell 15 cents to $5.15 and the average was off 20 cents at $4.80. These prices compared with $7.45 and $7.05 on April 1 last year and with $8.95 and $8.60 two years ago. Drastic price cuts reduced top hogs to $4.75 at Omaha, Sioux City, and St. Paul. Top grades in Kansas City and St. Joseph sold at $4.85.

Liquidating Fall Pigs.

Thousands of unfinished fall pigs came from owners who said they were disgusted trying to raise hogs at current prices. They said they had sealed their corn on government loans and planned to cut down on hog feeding until there was some adjustment.

Eleven leading markets during the day received 93,000 hogs, an increase of 9,000 over Monday of last week, and 35,000 more than arrived a year ago.

Lambs were strong to 10 cents higher. Top loads of old crop wool lambs brought $10.25.

PREDICT PRICE UPTURN.

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—Market prices of hogs, which have broken severely have about hit bottom and should start upward within the next few months, agriculture department officials declared today.

They pin their hopes principally on the disproportionately high price of corn in principal markets. They see encouragement also in prospects of increased domestic demand being brought on by greater industrial activity.

MORGAN'S BANK REPORTS ASSETS OF 643 MILLIONS

Deposits Are Lower at $591,965,860.

New York, April 1 (AP).—The first condition statement of J. P. Morgan & Co., Inc., the famous Wall street partnership which became an incorporated bank today, was made public tonight and listed the bank's assets as $643,539,683.

The organization had assets of $671,578,699 three months ago when the firm's statement included its Philadelphia affiliate, Drexel & Co., from which it was divorced upon incorporation. Drexel & Co. is now a securities firm, with a New York office.

Deposits Are $591,000,000.

Cash on hand was $147,163,051, compared with $168,631,768 three months earlier; holdings of United States government securities, both direct and fully guaranteed, $387,093,168, against $413,891,061, and loans and bills purchased, $28,651,621, against $23,187,066.

Capital was $20,000,000 and surplus $20,000,000, which compared with capital of $20,000,000 and surplus and partners' balances of $19,156,140 at the beginning of the year.

Chase Deposits a Record.

Chase National bank reported deposits of $3,060,769,000 as of March 30, the largest in history. They compared with $2,803,730,000 on Dec. 30, 1939, and $2,594,437,000 on March 31 1939.

Earnings of the bank for the first quarter of 1940 amounted to 43 cents a share, the same amount earned in the first quarter a year ago.

National City bank reported March 30 deposits of $2,526,408,907 against $2,331,257,943 on Dec. 31, 1939, and $1,967,755,199 a year ago. The bank reported earnings of 47 cents a share for the first quarter.

SALES OF COTTON GOODS SPURT IN NEW YORK MART

New York, April 1 (AP).—The Worth street textile market had another big session today in the cotton goods division, with estimates that buying of print cloths and related items would reach 25,000,000 yards. Sudden revival of large scale demand Friday followed by active buying Saturday supplied impetus for today's heavy trade.

Business circles scanned the wide expansion of cotton goods turnover and speculated on whether it would be the forerunner of a broad industrial upturn, as has been the case on some occasions in the past.

NLRB Adopts New Ballots in Runoff Votes

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—The National Labor Relations board, by a split decision, reversed its policy today on the ballot form used in runoff elections to determine a collective bargaining agent for employés under the Wagner act.

A majority of the board ruled out the previous practice of limiting workers' choice in a runoff election to a vote for or against the union which piled up a plurality but not a majority in an original election test with a rival union.

In its place the majority established a policy of including both rival unions on a runoff ballot and eliminating the place for a "neither" vote.

Two Members Favor Change.

Board Members Edwin S. Smith and William L. Leiserson combined to bring about the change over the dissenting view of Chairman J. Warren Madden.

The runoff election is usually conducted at plants where two unions poll a close vote altho neither one is able to show a majority because in a third column there is a sizeable vote against both unions.

Limiting the runoff ballot to a vote for or against the union with the highest vote, Smith held, forced upon employés the alternative of supporting the high vote union or opposing all collective bargaining.

Leiserson, in supporting Smith, said employés who wanted no collective bargaining had opportunity to express themselves in the original ballot.

Madden Objects to Plan.

The change in the ballot form, Madden commented, may result in forcing a particular labor organization of employés, even tho a majority, "would, in fact, prefer no collective representation." Elimination of the word "neither", he said, does not seem to afford "freedom of choice."

The new ballot will be put into use in runoff elections ordered within 30 days among employés of R. K. Lablond Machine Tool company and the Cincinnati Electrical Tool company, both of Cincinnati, O., and the Hall Aluminum Aircraft corporation, Bristol, Pa.

March Construction Tops February and Last Year

The value of March construction in Chicago increased materially over the preceding month and last year, it was disclosed yesterday. Building Commissioner Schmidt issued 300 permits last month for structures valued at $3,008,789, compared with 204 in February for $2,316,199 and 288 in March 1939, for expenditures of $2,411,131.

AVIATION ISSUES RISE AS LEADING INDUSTRIALS DIP

Steel Boost Fails to Attract Buyers.

New York, April 1 (AP).—Many leading industrial stocks sold lower today but renewed strength was exhibited by air transport and specialty issues. Many traders stepped aside to get a better perspective of business prospects and to await possible clews to the political trend which might come out of tomorrow's Wisconsin primaries. Declines outnumbered advances by a slim margin.

There were favorable spots on the industrial horizon, but even an unexpected rise of a full point in this week's steel mill operations was largely ignored as a buying incentive.

The earnings outlook for the air carriers, based on anticipated heavy passenger traffic, helped put American Airlines up to a new 1940 high with a gain of 3¼ points at 65½, and boosted United Air Lines, Eastern Air Lines and Pan American Airways.

Beverage Issues Advance.

Given a moderate lift also on profit hopes were Canada Dry, White Rock, Brunswick-Balke, Loft, and McKesson & Robbins. Such pivotal issues as United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, and Chrysler sold down fractions to a point or so. After a fairly fast forenoon, dealings slackened and transfers for the session amounted to 749,080 shares, compared with 836,530 last Friday.

Among other losers were Glenn Martin, United States Rubber, Lockheed, Boeing, Anaconda, New York Central, du Pont, Westinghouse, Johns-Manville, and Consolidated Edison. Declines, however, mostly were small.

Observers None Too Hopeful.

Most financial observers were none too hopeful for any nearby turnabout in the recent industrial downswing, altho some saw evidences of a slowing of the retreat.

Just how hard the United States would be hit by intensification of the empires' economic warfare against Germany was another question that few in Wall street were able to answer. Widening of blockades and curtailment of imports from neutral countries were viewed as hardly bullish marketwise.

Check Transactions Drop in Seventh Reserve Area

Business done by check thru the 159 banks in 41 leading cities of the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district decreased 2.7 per cent in the week-ended March 27, according to figures issued yesterday. Checks cashed aggregated $1,293,821,000, against $1,329,635,000 a week earlier and $1,217,213,000 a year ago. Checks cashed in Chicago totaled $760,972,000, against $745,186,000 a year ago.

Two Big Firms Report Upturn in 1940 Trade

Presidents of two big companies—Brunswick-Balke-Collender and Cleveland Graphite Bronze—yesterday told stockholders at annual meetings that sales in the first part of 1940 have been ahead of those during corresponding periods in 1939.

Predicting that this year should bring improvement, B. F. Bensinger, president of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company, said that sales in all divisions were exceeding those of 1939. He said that profits for the first quarter should be at least as large as the $135,199, or 21 cents a share, reported for the initial quarter of 1939, altho the first period is usually the poorest of the year.

This Chicago enterprise, the largest manufacturer in the world of billiard and bowling equipment, had earlier announced net income of $2,037,435, or $4.23 a share, for 1939, compared with $1,003,710, or $1.91 a share, for 1938. Soda fountains and bars are also among the company's products.

Adopt Profit Sharing Plan.

Two Brunswick stockholders attacked the profit sharing plan submitted for approval, declaring that they had gone without dividends during hard times and did not want to give up anything which they now had coming. Despite the 25,229 shares voted against it the plan was approved, authorizing a distribution of 5 per cent of the annual earnings to officers, directors, and employés, except the president and B. E. Bensinger, executive vice president, whenever earnings exceed preferred dividend requirements of $100,000.

Bensinger said that he could see no reason why dividend payments on the common stock should not be continued with the same regularity in 1940 as last year, altho the amount of such payments would have to be determined by earnings. The company paid a total of $2.75 a share last year and made a disbursement of 25 cents on March 15.

The improved showing of the company last year, Bensinger said, is largely attributable to the renewed interest in bowling during the last few years.

All directors were reëlected. At the board meeting W. T. Sterling was named assistant secretary and assistant treasurer. All other officers were reëlected.

Profits at Record Level.

Ben F. Hopkins, president of the Cleveland Graphite Bronze company, said in Cleveland that both net sales and net profit in January were the highest for any January in the company's history, but February and March did not establish new records.

Net earnings of $1,745,123, or $5.42 a share, in 1939, the largest ever listed, reflect the result of a complete analysis of expenses and budgets which continued two years, he said. This analysis saved the company an estimated $250,000 in 1939, compared with 1937, he added. The company, one of the largest domestic manufacturers of lined bearings, had net income of $309,658, or 96 cents a share, for 1938.

Officials of the Pressed Steel Car Company, Inc., in Pittsburgh estimated net earnings for the first quarter of 1940 at $425,000, compared with a net loss of $237,906 for a like period in 1939. For the first six months of this year they predicted net earnings would total $1,100,000, against a net loss of $415,470 in the first half of last year.

The company has on its books orders for 2,500 freight cars, 101 subway passenger cars, and other equipment. The freight car orders will occupy the plant thru July, it was reported.

British Pound Advances 2¼ Cents; Closes at $3.55¾

The British pound closed 2¼ cents higher at $3.55¾ yesterday in the New York market. The French franc showed a sizeable gain, the Canadian dollar and the Swiss franc remained unchanged, and the Dutch guilder dipped slightly. The Belgian belga rose to a new high for the year with a gain of 0.02 of a cent.

KELLOGG SALES AND PROFIT FOR 1939 ARE HIGHER

Food Manufacturer Nets $1.57 a Share.

Earnings and sales of the Kellogg company, Battle Creek, Mich., manufacturer of breakfast foods, were larger in 1939 than in 1938, the company yesterday disclosed in its annual report to stockholders. W. K. Kellogg, chairman, and W. H. Vanderploeg, president, signed the report.

W. K. Kellogg.

Consolidated profits were $3,437,150 last year, equal to $1.57 a common share after all charges, including provision for United States and foreign income taxes. In 1938 net income was $2,174,580, or 99 cents a share.

Sales Show Increase.

Shell Union Oil corporation's president, R. G. A. Van der Woude, said in his 1939 annual report that any improvement which 1940 may bring to the company probably will be limited to its domestic business. He described the outlook for export trade as "not at all promising."

The statement showed Shell's profits were $11,805,712, substantially the same as the preliminary figure announced earlier. In the preceding year the company earned $11,318,422.

Van der Woude said Shell spent $41,780,000 last year on field development, refinery improvements, pipe line extensions, and marketing facilities, compared with $36,800,000 in 1938.

New York Bonds.

New York, April 1 (AP).—All sections of the bond market participated in a modest advance today. Some United States government loans, mostly long-term maturities, posted new highs for 1940 at one time during the day under a renewal of investment buying which developed last week in the wake of unexpectedly large government receipts from income taxes. Closing advances, slightly under the day's best, ranged up to 10-32 of a point.

Rails, industrials and foreign dollar loans followed utilities into higher ground. Some of the bankrupt rail loans were especially active in anticipation of rapid progress in 1940 in working out reorganization plans acceptable to the Interstate Commerce commission.

SUPREME COURT HEARS SITDOWN DAMAGE CLAIMS

Apex Hosiery Co. Demands Union Pay for Strike.

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—Conflicting contentions as to whether a labor union which engages in a sit-down strike is liable for damages under the 1890 Sherman antitrust act were presented today in argument before the Supreme court.

Sylvan H. Hirsch, counsel for the Apex Hosiery company of Philadelphia, asserted that labor organizations had been granted immunity from the Sherman act only so long as their activities were "lawful and peaceful."

Isadore Katz, attorney for a Philadelphia unit of the American Federation of Full Fashioned Hosiery Workers, argued that "the Sherman act does not apply to labor unions and this is in harmony with the legislative intent."

Damage Claims Involved.

Involved in the litigation was the question whether the hosiery workers' union should be compelled to pay damages resulting from a seven week sitdown strike at the Apex plant in 1937.

The Federal Circuit court at Philadelphia ruled that the workmen did not violate the Sherman act because their activities were not intended to restrain interstate commerce. The trust law prohibits conspiracies in restraint of such commerce. This decision reversed a District court ruling awarding the company $711,932 damages.

Katz, who had barely started his argument when court adjourned, said he will contend tomorrow that the purpose of the strike was to unionize the plant and not to affect interstate commerce.

Hirsch asserted the union "seized" the Apex plant altho representing only eight members among the 2,500 employés, declaring a "mob of thousands stormed into the mill."

Cites Employés' Rights.

"Employés," he said, "have the right to stop work, strike, peacefully picket, and to persuade others to do likewise, in order to enforce their demands. Even should these lawful acts result in a restraint of commerce, they are expressly exempted from the operation of the Sherman act."

But, Hirsch added, the hosiery workers "chose to substitute for their lawful right to strike, the outrageous acts of violence, property destruction, and plant seizure, of which they stand condemned."

Before beginning this argument, the tribunal granted a petition by an American Federation of Labor affiliate [a Chicago local of the Milk Wagon Drivers union] for a review of a decision holding that picketing of Chicago stores selling milk produced in another state constituted a violation of the anti-trust laws.

No opinions were delivered.

PACIFIC MUTUAL ASSETS UP.

Pacific Mutual Life Insurance company announced that total admitted assets of the company at the end of 1939 were $240,538,974, the largest in the history of the company and $7,757,232 more than at the end of 1938.

Business Bits

C. L. Whipple yesterday was appointed assistant vice president in charge of operations for the Union Pacific railroad, a newly created position. The appointment was made by W. M. Jeffers, president. Whipple was formerly general superintendent of transportation.

C. L. Whipple.

Expansion plans of the stoker division of Fairbanks, Morse & Co. will be presented to distributors and dealers at a national convention to be held at the Congress hotel today.

F. J. Byington yesterday took over the post of general manager of the eastern district of the Chicago and North Western railway with headquarters in Chicago. He was formerly general superintendent. W. A. Kraemer, former assistant general superintendent, became assistant general manager of the eastern district.

Two personnel changes were announced by the Burlington railroad. H. C. Gugler was appointed superintendent of shops, Aurora, Ill., in place of J. W. Cyr, who retired after 57 years of service. E. J. Cyr was appointed master mechanic of the Chicago-Aurora-La Crosse division to succeed Gugler.

CREDIT CONTROL IS URGED WHEN RECOVERY BEGINS

Dr. Carl Snyder, economist, spoke last night in the La Salle hotel before a joint meeting of the American Statistical association and the Investment Analysts club on the "recovery problems" that would follow a change in the national administration. Most important of the problems, he said, would be that of credit control.

The large accumulation of idle bank reserves, he said, are the source of potential trouble when a recovery in business occurs. It will be the job of the Federal Reserve authorities to exercise sufficient control over the use of these funds to prevent their use in a speculative frenzy.

"If another wild over-expansion of credit is permitted to develop," he said, "it will be followed by another period of contraction that will injure all business, legitimate industrial and business operations as well as purely speculative activity."

MILWAUKEE ROAD RECEIVES 3 MORE DIESEL ENGINES

Three 660 horsepower Diesel electric locomotives were delivered yesterday by the Electro-Motive corporation, La Grange, to the Milwaukee road. The locomotives will be used in switching service in the Goose Island industrial district.

The new locomotives have a tractive effort of 50,000 pounds. Later this week a 1,000 horsepower Diesel switcher will be added to the fleet.

The Milwaukee is acquiring 18 Diesel locomotives under a lease-purchase arrangement this month, 16 of which will be used in switching service at various places on the railroad.

STOCK OFFERED IN WALT DISNEY MOVIE COMPANY

Issue Marks Firm's First Public Financing.

Public offering of 150,000 shares of 6 per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock of Walt Disney Productions, creators of Snow White and other fanciful animated motion picture characters will be made today.

The stock, of $25 par value, is being put on the market at $25 a share, making the amount of the financing $3,750,000. In addition the company is offering 5,000 shares to employés and officers of the company at $25 a share.

Of the proceeds, $1,600,000 will be used to pay bank indebtedness incurred for buildings and equipment.

First Public Financing.

The offering represents the company's first public financing. Kidder, Peabody & Co., Harriman Ripley & Co., Inc.; Pacific Capital corporation, and Mitchum, Tully & Co. head the underwriting group.

A banking group headed by Lehman Brothers and Watling, Lerchen & Co. is placing on the market 40,000 shares of Fruehauf Trailer company $100 par value cumulative 5 per cent convertible preferred stock. The price is $100 a share.

About $1,300,000 of the proceeds will be used to redeem all of the outstanding 10 year 4½ per cent sinking fund debenture notes due April 1, 1947.

Power Bonds Offered.

Another offering today is a new issue of $10,000,000 of St. Maurice Power corporation 30 year first mortgage 4½ per cent bonds. The marketing syndicate, headed by Dominion Securities corporation, is pricing the bonds at 99 to yield 4.56 per cent.

General Banknote corporation placed 40,000 shares of $1 par value common stock on the market yesterday thru Neelands and Platte at $2.50 a share.

Central Electric and Telephone company announced it has sold privately to eight institutional investors $3,800,000 of 4¼ per cent first mortgage bonds, series A, due 1965. The remaining $1,200,000 of the issue will be available for exchange for the company's 5 per cent bonds.

ASKS DISMISSAL OF GRQUP IN NEW TRUCK LAW TEST

Springfield, Ill., April 1 (AP).—The attorney general's office filed in the Sangamon county Circuit court today a motion to dismiss the Certificated Motor Carriers as a complainant in a pending injunction suit to restrain the state from enforcing the new motor truck law.

The motion declared the group is not "a voluntary association" of motor truck operators, but "a fictional character." Attached to the motion was an affidavit signed by F. Wood Lewis, head of the state motor carriers division, stating that the group had no officers or directors, no constitution, and never held a meeting for organization purposes.

Judge L. E. Stone several weeks ago granted a temporary injunction restraining enforcement of the truck act against Lon E. Martin, Sidney J. Williams, and Harry Miller, and other truck line operators. The suit, to be heard later this month, challenges constitutionality of the motor carriers' law.

FEDERAL DESTRUCTION OF SUGAR CANE TO CUT OFF JOBS OF 20,000

New Orleans, La., April 1 [Special].—Destruction of 50,000 acres of Louisiana sugar cane this spring in compliance with a ruling of the sugar division of the United States department of agriculture will cut employment of approximately 20,000 full time and seasonal workers employed in the sugar farms and plantations of the state, Charles A. Farwell, chairman of the educational committee of the American Sugar Cane league, said today.

Farwell said 6,757 regular farm workers, 3,268 part-time workers employed during cultivation of the crop, and 10,000 more employed during the harvesting season will be made jobless.

"This all adds up to 20,025 workers who will be thrown out of part-time and full-time jobs, and, using the United States census' estimate of five persons to the farm family, approximately 100,000 persons will be affected by the plow up, creating additional relief problems in Louisiana," Farwell asserted.

ETHYL GAS FIGHT BRINGS CHARGES OF 'TERRORISM'

Trenton, N. J., April 1 (AP).—Plaintiff's counsel in a $750,000,000 suit charging theft of a secret Ethyl gasoline formula proposed in Chancery court today federal investigation of alleged terroristic activities by defendant companies. The defunct Howard-Vaughan company of Buffalo, N. Y., seeks an accounting and a share in profits from Ethyl sales.

Charles S. Mackenzie, the attorney, said he would ask investigations regardless of the outcome of the Chancery court action. He urged postponement of the trial until September, principally because Dr. William P. Gerlach of Beverly Hills, Cal., was too ill to appear. Vice Chancellor Malcolm G. Buchanan ordered the complainants to proceed with their case on May 23 "or there will be a dismissal of the cause."

Defendants in the litigation include The Standard Oil company of New Jersey, General Motors corporation, Socony Vacuum Oil company, Ethyl Gasoline company, and E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co.

LUNDEEN ASKS SENATE QUIZ ON TELEVISION RULE

Washington, D. C., April 1 (AP).—Investigation of the federal communications recision because of its decision of an order permitting commercial sponsorship of television programs was asked in a resolution introduced in the senate today by Senator Ernest Lundeen [F. L., Minn.].

The resolution said that as a result of a commission order of Feb. 29 permitting limited sponsorship of such programs after Sept. 1, "television interests immediately launched a manufacturing, advertising, and sales promotion campaign." He added that the commission on March 22 rescinded the order "with resultant confusion" in the public mind and abandonment of the manufacturing, advertising, and sales campaigns.

Lundeen requested the senate interstate commerce committee to determine whether the commission had exceeded its authority and whether it had interfered with the freedom of public and private enterprise.

OUTPUT OF STEEL MAKES 1ST GAIN IN THREE WEEKS

Production Rate Is Placed at 61.7 Per Cent.

Steel ingot production, which has declined fairly steadily during the last three months, will rise a full point to 61.7 per cent of theoretical capacity this week, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated yesterday. The upturn, amounting to a 1.6 per cent increase, is the first in three weeks and the largest for a seven day period since the start of the year.

Operations stood at the 60.7 per cent level last week, 64.6 a month ago, and 54.7 per cent a year ago. For the corresponding 1938 week the rate was 32.6 per cent.

Weir Predicts Steady Rate.

Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the National Steel corporation, said that in his opinion the slump in operations has reached the bottom, or is near it, for the present.

"Export business is helping the industry," Weir said. "I still adhere to my earlier predicitions that steel operations will remain between 60 and 70 per cent until the end of the second quarter."

The short month of February and the decline in output were reflected in the employment figures for the period, the institute said.

February Pay Rolls Slump.

An average of 538,000 workers was employed in the steel mills during February, against 556,000 in January and 453,000 in February, 1939.

Poy rolls amounted to $70,847,000 in February, compared with $82,827,000 in January and $57,044,000 in the 1939 month. The average worker earned 83¾ cents per hour and $34.10 per week during February, against 83½ cents and $37.10 in January and 88.7 cents and $33.50 in February, 1939.

CHICAGO TRANSIT SYSTEMS REPORT UPTURN IN MARCH

Chicago transit systems, including the elevated, street car, and bus lines, reported yesterday that their traffic last month showed small increases over volume for March, 1939. They said their showings would have been more favorable had not March of this year had five Sundays. Their traffic is lighter on Sundays than on other days.

The Chicago Rapid Transit company [elevated] said its March traffic this year was 0.5 per cent larger than last year.

The Chicago Motor Coach company carried 5,184,040 passengers last month, an increase of 1.9 per cent over the 1939 month. Volume for the first three months of 1940 was 14,983,957, a gain of 6.8 per cent as compared with the traffic for the corresponding period last year.

The Chicago Surface Lines carried 60,438,281 passengers in March and 176,849,488 in the three months, representing gains of 0.42 per cent and 3.87 per cent, respectively, over the 1939 periods.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$1.05	$1.04⅝	$ .67¼
Corn	.56⅝	.56⅝	.47
Oats	.40⅛	.40⅜	.29⅜
Rye	..66¼	.65⅞	.40⅜
Soybeans	1.10⅝	1.10¼	.87¼

Extremely unfavorable crop reports from the west and southwest caused an advance of about 1 cent a bushel in wheat prices on the Chicago Board of Trade at one time yesterday. The upturn was helped along by European purchases of nearly 10,000,000 bushels of Canadian cash wheat, the second time in about two weeks that that quantity of grain has been taken for export.

Profit taking, and fears that there would be heavy hedging sales against loan wheat tempered bullish enthusiasm. Closing trades on futures were at gains of ⅜ to ⅝ cents.

Abandon Much Winter Wheat.

About 50 per cent of the 13,000,000 acres seeded to winter wheat in Kansas last fall will be abandoned, the Santa Fe railway estimated in its monthly crop summary. Much land has been abandoned in Oklahoma and the loss is mounting daily due to dry weather and high winds. Texas has a prospect of a normal crop of wheat if favorable weather continues. Probably 50 per cent of the Nebraska wheat acreage did not sprout until after Jan. 1, and it is doubted that this wheat will make much of a crop, the report said.

Reports from 31 counties in Kansas to B. W. Snow of Fuller, Rodney & Co., showed the best areas might harvest about half of a normal crop, but in other areas a near failure is forecast.

FSCC to Unload Again.

Federal Surplus Commodity corporation is offering to exchange 2,000,000 bushels of wheat for flour, to be used for relief distribution. It is understood that this is the wheat taken over last fall by the government agency from farmers who defaulted on their loans on 1938 crop grain.

The corn trading was fairly heavy, but hedging sales appeared around 57 cents for May and the best prices were not maintained. Closing trades were ¼ cent lower.

Chrysler Parts Division to Hold 1940 Sales Meeting

OUT OF SOAP.

Does Hecker Products still make Gold Dust powder? What is the present business of the company? Has its profits increased in the first six months of the fiscal year?—V. S.

Answer: Hecker Products corporation sold its soap and washing powder division to Lever Brothers company at the end of 1938. Gold Dust washing powder was one of the products of this severed division. Since the start of 1939, the firm has confined its operations to the manufacture and distribution of food products, beverages, and shoe polishes.

Flour, cereals, and shoe polishes are the principal output of the company itself. Best Foods, Inc., owned 71 per cent by the parent firm, makes salad dressings, margarine, mustard, horseradish, and bread spreads. Another subsidiary, acquired in 1939, is the Pa-Pi-A corporation, manufacturer of a concentrate for a new beverage made from the pulp and juice of the tropical papaya melon.

Competing with vigorously promoted foods of other large producers, Hecker Products advertises extensively to keep its trade-marked products before the consuming public.

In the six months ended Dec. 31, 1939, net income of the company slumped to $689,940, equal to 43 cents a share on 1,599,802 shares of $1 par common stock [which comprises the entire capitalization of the company]. This compared with $1,070,938 or 61 cents a share in the corresponding period of 1938.

Net income, earnings per share, and dividends per share in recent fiscal years, ending June 30, of the company and its wholly owned subsidiaries, were as follows:

	Net Income.	Per Share.	Earned *Dividends Per Share.
1936	1,510,000	0.71	0.90
1937	1,592,000	0.89	0.90
1938	951,000	0.53	0.60
1939	1,970,000	1.21	1.00

The current quarterly dividend rate on the common stock is 15 cents. The last payment was on Feb. 1. Common dividends have been paid each year since 1926.

Current assets of the company on last June 30 represented $13,128,424 of total assets of $24,276,949. Current liabilities were $1,368,942.

STOCK OUTSTANDING.

Why does the number of outstanding shares of many companies vary from one period to another?—G. L.

Answer: The volume of outstanding shares of a company may be changed by reacquisition into the company treasury, by the exercise of options granted to officers or underwriters, by exercise of warrants, or by conversion of other securities of the company into common stock.

Y-O-U-R O-W-N B-U-S-I-N-E-S-S

Would you be interested in starting a business for yourself without 1 cent of investment on your part?

Well, that is exactly what we have done for many men in this territory.

These men are previous storekeepers, doctors, lawyers, shopworkers, mechanics, etc., and are now earning and receiving in percentage as much as $50 in a single day.

We are an old line, nationally known manufacturer of electrical units that defy competition and for which there is a constantly increasing demand.

Now, here are the arrangements: You must be between 24 and 54, preferably married, honest, reliable, possess a neat appearance, and possess at least a grammar school education.

At this time we will only interview men living on the South Side and southern Cook county.

Every man answering this advertisement will be given a confidential interview and if selected will be trained at our expense in our methods, which are successful.

There are no strings attached to the offer, as we even can pay rent, light, heat, telephone, gird line, consign your merchandise, and finance your account.

Apply Tuesday at 10:30 a. m. sharp. Ask for Mr. Leonard, Suite 400, Maryland building, 841 East 63d-street [1 block east of Cottage Grove].

REMOVE ALL DOUBT FROM 1940.

Changes in our personnel at the close of business of 1939 leave openings for five men. Our requirements are that you are not under 23, have ambition and want to get so that you will never need to change jobs. We want men who expect to be paid enough to live well and at the same time enjoy some luxuries. If you are that type of individual we will offer you a permanent position that will certainly eliminate all doubt about your future. Percentage. Electric unit.

Jerzy Potocki
Ambasador R. P.

[Acme Telephoto: Passed by censor and sent yesterday by radio from Berlin by radio.]

Last sentences of letter purportedly written by Jerzy Potocki, Polish ambassador to United States, and published by Germany in white paper which has caused storm in United States congress because of mention of American diplomats. The translation into English is as follows:

"I did not discuss this action with Bullitt. I only asked if the western powers in such a case would play an active rôle, if they would attack the reich ostensibly for the protection of Russia. Bullitt answered that the democratic states had given up, once and for all, all imaginary armed intervention for the protection of any state that was to become a victim of German attack."
